49TH CONGRESS, 1st Session. } SENATE. { MISS. DOC. No. 1.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES.

DECEMBER 7, 1885.—Ordered to be printed.

Mr. VOORHEES submitted the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That the Senate has received with profound sorrow the intelligence of the death of Thomas A. Hendricks, late Vice-President of the United States, and for a number of years a distinguished member of this body.

Resolved, That the business of the Senate be suspended in order that the eminent public services and the private virtues of the deceased may be appropriately commemorated.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be directed to communicate these resolutions to the House of Representatives.

RESOLUTIONS:

Resolved, That inasmuch as the business industries of the country at present seem to be reviving, it is inexpedient during this Congress to pass upon any measure looking to a reduction of tariff duties.

Resolved, That any future reduction of the tariff should be based upon information common to the country, as shown by complete census returns, and at such definite periods as can be readily anticipated and met by the different producing interests of the country.

DECEMBER 8, 1885.—Referred to the Committee on Rules and ordered to be printed.
DECEMBER 14, 1885.—Reported by Mr. Frye with an amendment and ordered to be printed.
DECEMBER 18, 1885.—Amended and agreed to.

Mr. FRYE submitted the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That the following be the joint rules of the two houses:

JOINT RULES OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

I.—ORGANIZATION.

At the commencement of each Congress, and of each session thereafter, it shall, on motion, be the duty of the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House of Representatives to communicate promptly to the other house notice of the appearance of a quorum and of the organization of their respective houses for the transaction of business, which notice shall be in writing and be duly attested by each of said officers.

II.—MESSAGES.

1. All messages between the two houses shall be communicated by the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House of Representatives, or by clerks designated by them for that purpose, which messages shall be announced at the door of each house by the Doorkeeper or his assistant, and shall be communicated to the Chair by the person by whom they may be sent.

2. All messages from the President of the United States or the other house, all reports and communications from the heads of Departments, and all communications addressed to the Senate or House of Representatives, shall be placed in order on the table of the presiding officer of each house.

3. It shall be the duty of the presiding officer of each house, immediately after the reading and approval of the journal of the proceedings of the last day's sitting, the time allotted for morning business remaining unexpired, to lay before the Senate or House of Representatives, as the case may be, all messages on their respective tables, for reference to appropriate committees, or for such other action as may be deemed proper.

4. All bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, referred to committees under the foregoing clause, shall be printed, unless otherwise ordered at the time of reference.

III.—Committee of the Whole.

All bills, joint resolutions, or propositions involving a tax or charge upon the people; all proceedings touching appropriations of money or property, or requiring such appropriations to be made, or authorizing payments out of appropriations already made, or releasing any liability to the United States for money or property, shall be first considered in a Committee of the Whole, and a point of order under this rule shall be good at any time before the consideration of a bill or joint resolution has commenced.

IV.—General Appropriation Bills.

1. No amendment shall be in order to any general appropriation bill, the effect of which will be to increase an appropriation already contained in the bill, or to add a new item of appropriation, unless it be to carry out the provisions of existing law, or treaty stipulation, or in pursuance of a resolution of the house having the bill under consideration, unless the same be moved by direction of a standing or select committee.

2. No amendment which proposes general legislation shall be received to any general appropriation bill, nor shall any amendment not germane or relevant to the subject-matter contained in the bill be received; nor shall any amendment to any item or clause of such bill be received which does not directly relate thereto, and all questions of relevancy of amendments under this rule, when raised, shall be decided without debate.

V.—Engrossed Bills.

Bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, which have passed either house, and amendments thereto which shall have passed the other house, shall be engrossed on paper and attested by the signature of the Secretary of the Senate or Clerk of the House of Representatives, respectively, as the case may be.

VI.—Enrolled Bills.

1. After a bill or joint resolution shall have passed both houses, it shall be duly enrolled on parchment by the Secretary or Clerk of the house in which said bill or joint resolution originated; shall be examined by a member of the Committee on Enrolled Bills of said house, who shall carefully examine and compare the enrolled with the engrossed bill as passed by both houses, and, correcting all errors, if any be found, report the said bill or joint resolutions forthwith for signature, as hereinafter provided.

2. After examination of any bill or joint resolution by a member of the Committee on Enrolled Bills of either house it shall be reported, first to the House of Representatives, where it shall be signed by the Speaker or Speaker pro tempore, and be communicated forthwith to the Senate for the signature of its President or President pro tempore, as the case may be, in either house.

3. After a bill or joint resolution shall have been thus signed in each house, it shall be presented to the President of the United States by a member of the Committee on Enrolled Bills of the house in which it originated, which fact shall be indorsed on the back of said bill or joint resolution, and be duly attested by the Secretary or Clerk, as the case may be, of the house in which it did originate.

4. The member of the Committee on Enrolled Bills presenting to the President an enrolled bill or joint resolution, shall certify to the Secretary or Clerk of the house in which the same originated the date of such presentation, which shall be entered on the journal of said house.

VII.—Resolutions.

All resolutions which are to be presented to the President of the United States or head of a Department shall be duly engrossed, attested by the Secretary or Clerk of the house adopting the same, and by him be presented to the President or head of a Department as the case may be.

VIII.—Bills, Joint and Concurrent Resolutions.

1. Each house shall transmit to the other all papers on which any bill, joint or concurrent resolution shall be founded, and when a bill, joint or concurrent resolution which has passed one house shall be rejected in the other, it shall not be introduced or submitted again during the same session without a notice of ten days and leave of two-thirds of the house in which it shall be renewed.

2. When a bill, joint or concurrent resolution, which shall have passed one house, is rejected by the other, notice thereof shall be given to the house passing the same.

3. After each house shall have adhered to their disagreement, a bill, oint or concurrent resolution shall be lost.

IX.—Conferences.

1. When a bill, joint or concurrent resolution has passed one house and been amended in the other, it shall be in order for the amending house to at once insist on its amendment or amendments, and ask a conference thereon with the other house, or in case it does not so insist, and the originating house disagrees to said amendment or amendments, it shall be in order at the time of such disagreement to move a conference thereon with the other house. If a conference be ordered, there shall be appointed three members as managers at the said conference on the part of the dissenting house, which action shall be promptly communicated to the other house. If that house insist on its amendment or amendments, and agree to the proposed conference, there shall thereupon be appointed three Senators or Representatives, as the case may be, to represent said house at said conference, which action shall be promptly communicated to the other house.

2. All committees of conference shall meet at the call of their chairman, and shall state verbally or in writing, as they may choose, the reasons for the actions of their respective houses touching the amendment or amendments in dispute between the two houses. Whenever a matter in dispute between the two houses is committed to a conference committee it shall not be in order for said committee to consider or include in their report matter or subjects not in dispute between their respective houses, nor shall the committee change the text of a bill, joint or concurrent resolution to which both houses have agreed, unless it becomes necessary in order to conform it to the amendment.

3. The presentation of reports of committees of conference shall always be in order, except when the journal is being read, while the roll is being called, while either house is dividing, or pending a motion to adjourn, and a detailed statement sufficiently explicit to inform the two houses what effect the report will have upon the subjects or propositions to which they relate shall accompany every conference report.

X.—Calendars.

During the last ten days of a session, when either house has proceeded to the consideration of business on a calendar, bills, joint and concurrent resolutions of the other house shall be given precedence, and shall be taken up and disposed of in regular order unless otherwise ordered.

XI.—Joint Committee on the Library.

There shall be a Joint Committee on the Library of Congress, to consist of three members on the part of each house, to which shall be referred all proposed legislation or matters touching said Library, and all matters relating to statuary or pictures or works of art which may come before either house. It shall also superintend and direct the expenditure of all moneys appropriated therefor, and shall perform such other duties as are or may be directed by law or order of the two houses, and during the period between the expiration of a Congress and the organization of the next, all duties devolving by law or otherwise on the Joint Committee on the Library shall be performed by the members of said committee on the part of the Senate, or if no such committee exist then by the committee on the part of the Senate of the preceding Congress.

XII.—Joint Address to the President.

When the two houses shall judge it proper to make a joint address to the President it shall be presented to him at such place and time as he may designate by the President or President pro tempore of the Senate in the presence of the Speaker or Speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives.

XIII.—Sale of Liquors forbidden.

No intoxicating liquors shall be offered for sale, exhibited, or kept within the Capitol, or in any room or building connected therewith, which by law is under the exclusive control of either house or the joint control of both houses, or on the public grounds adjacent thereto; and it shall be the duty of the Sergeants-at-Arms, respectively, of the two houses, under the supervision of the presiding officers thereof, respectively, to strictly enforce the foregoing provisions.

49TH CONGRESS, 1st Session. } SENATE. { MIS. DOC. No. 7.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF

HON. W. P. CANADAY,

COMMUNICATING,

In obedience to law, a statement of all property in his possession belonging to the United States on the 8th day of December, 1885, and of amounts deposited to the credit of the United States on account of the sale by him of condemned property and waste paper.

DECEMBER 9, 1885.—Referred to the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate, and ordered to be printed.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS, UNITED STATES SENATE,
Washington, December 8, 1885.

SIR: As directed by law, I have the honor to submit a full and complete account of all property belonging to the United States in my possession on the 8th day of December, 1885. And I report that the amount of $530.22, received from the sale of waste paper and condemned property, has been covered into the Treasury.

Very respectfully,

W. P. CANADAY,
Sergeant-at-Arms, United States Senate.

HON. JOHN SHERMAN,
President of the Senate.

Mr. GIBSON presented the following

MEMORIAL:

[To accompany bill S. 396.]

Memorial of Mrs. Mary Shannon, widow, and administratrix of the estate of Joseph R. Shannon, deceased.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Forty-ninth Congress:

The memorial of Mrs Mary Shannon, widow, and administratrix of the estate of Joseph R. Shannon, deceased, formerly of the State of Louisiana, respectfully represents:

That Joseph R. Shannon, late husband of your memorialist, died in Washington, D. C., on the 30th of January, 1885, leaving his widow and five daughters in poverty and indigence.

That your memorialist is the administratrix of the estate of said Joseph R. Shannon, deceased, as appears by the letters of administration hereunto annexed, and that said estate consists solely of a claim for the loss of the steamboat A. W. Quarrier, which has for years been pending before Congress, and which your memorialist now seeks to recover in behalf of the lawful heirs of said Joseph R. Shannon, deceased.

This claim has been prosecuted since 1862 before the military authorities, the Departments, and Congress for nearly a quarter of a century. It was first introduced in the Forty-fifth Congress, and reported favorably by the Senate Committee on Claims, but without action. It was again reported favorably by the same committee of the Forty-sixth Congress and unanimously passed the Senate, but failed to be reached in the House. It again passed the Senate at the Forty-seventh Congress, and was unanimously adopted by the Committee on War Claims of the House, but died on the Speaker's table. At the Forty-eighth Congress the Senate Committee again unanimously reported a bill in favor of the claimant, which failed to be reached.

Thus, after the expenditure of a fortune and the wasting of nearly a quarter of a century of his life-time in endeavoring to obtain justice, Mr. Shannon sank under these weary trials and disappointments, and died broken-hearted, requited only by the grave. It is one of those marked and numerous cases of cruel hardship for which there seems to be no redress.

The steamer A. W. Quarrier was wholly owned by the late Joseph R. Shannon, a loyal citizen of the United States, and valued at about $70,000. In June, 1862, this steamer was seized and impressed into the military service of the United States Government by order of Maj. Gen. B. F. Butler while lying at the port of New Orleans. She was subsequently captured by the Confederates and destroyed, except the engines and boilers, which afterwards fell into the hands of the United States Government after the surrender.

All these facts more fully appear in Senate Report No. 73, Forty-eighth Congress, first session, of the Committee on Claims, made by Mr. Manderson, January 23, 1884, providing for the payment of $48,000, the ascertained value of said steamer. This report is herewith annexed and made a part hereof.

In consideration of the premises, your memorialist prays a reference hereof to the Committee on Claims, and that a bill may be duly reported for the relief of your memorialist, providing for the payment of forty-eight thousand dollars, the amount found due as the value of said steamer.

All of which is respectfully submitted for your consideration and speedy relief.

MARY SHANNON,

LA FAYETTE, December 1, 1885.

To the Congress of the United States:

The Rev. Ernest Forge, priest of the Catholic Church of St. John the Evangelist, of the parish of La Fayette, and we, the undersigned, trustees of said church, in the name and in behalf of the Catholics of said parish, respectfully represent that there is now in transit from a foreign port a set of altars, used in the performance of the sacrificial rites of the Roman Catholic Church, designed and ordered expressly for said Church of St. John the Evangelist, and consigned to J. Vergrule, at New Orleans, La; that, considering that these altars are used exclusively for the worship of God, to the advancement of morality and religion, we therefore pray that they be admitted free of import duty in the United States custom-house at New Orleans.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF CONNECTICUT,

In favor of the enactment of a law regulating the ascertainment and counting of the votes of Presidential electors.

DECEMBER 14, 1885.—Referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections and ordered to be printed.

STATE OF CONNECTICUT,
General Assembly, January Session, A. D., 1885:

RESOLUTION CONCERNING THE ELECTION OF PRESIDENT.

Resolved by this assembly, in the name and behalf of the State, That Congress is hereby respectfully but earnestly requested to enact, without unnecessary delay, some suitable law regulating the ascertainment and counting of the votes of Presidential electors.

That the governor is hereby requested to transmit to the presiding officer of each house of Congress a duly-certified copy of this resolution, for presentation to the house over which such officer presides, and that the governor is also requested to send a like copy hereof to the governor of each of the States of the Union.

STATE OF CONNECTICUT,
Office of Secretary of State, ss:

I, Charles A. Russell, secretary of the State of Connecticut, and keeper of the seal thereof, and of the original record of the acts and resolutions of the general assembly of said State, do hereby certify that I have compared the annexed copy of the resolution concerning the election of President with the original records of the same now remaining in this office, and have found the said copy to be a correct transcript thereof and of the whole of said original.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said State, at Hartford, this 22d day of August, 1885.

O

49TH CONGRESS, 1st Session. } SENATE. { MIS. DOC. No. 14.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES.

DECEMBER 16, 1885.—Referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs and ordered to be printed.

Mr. MANDERSON presented the following petition of certain Santee Sioux Indians, of Knox County, Nebraska, praying the passage of a law securing to them patents to their lands, and for rights of citizenship:

To the President and Congress of the United States of America:

We, the undersigned, members of the tribe and bands of Dakota Indians now known as the Santee Sioux, and residing on our homesteads in Knox County, in the State of Nebraska, petitioning for ourselves as individual men and for our families, respectfully represent:

That our people, known in former treaties between themselves and the Government and people of the United States as the Mde-wa-kan-ton-wan, Wah-pe-ku-te, Sis-si-ton-wan, and Wah-pe-ton-wan bands of Dakota or Sioux Indians, sometime resided in the State of Minnesota, on a reservation confirmed to us by the treaty of 1857.

Through no fault on our part, but because of an outbreak of a portion of our bands, under the leadership of the chief known as Taoyateduta or Little Crow, we were expelled from Minnesota, our property was confiscated, and we were located on lands at and near Crow Creek, in the Territory of Dakota, under the authority of an act of Congress, approved March 3, 1863 (vide U. S. Stat. at Large, vol. 12).

This location in Dakota Territory was never confirmed to us, and proving otherwise unsatisfactory and unsuitable for our occupancy, we were removed therefrom without further authority of law, on the recommendation of the Peace Commission of 1865, and were located on lands in Knox County, in Nebraska, in 1866, some of which lands were already the property and possession of citizens of the United States. This was the cause of grave complaint on the part of citizens of the State of Nebraska, and in 1867 we were visited by the Peace Commission, composed of Generals Sherman, Harney, Terry, and others, and urged to select in lieu of our Nebraska location other lands lying in the Territory of Dakota.

We were again visited by the same commission in June, 1868, and our chiefs and headmen were taken by the commission to attend the general council, convened at Fort Rice, Dakota, in the month of July in that year. In that council, as the record shows, our chiefs asked that the reservation, by Executive order, in the State of Nebraska be given them as a home for their people. The commission refused to grant this request, but offered them a much larger and better tract of land in the Territory of Dakota, besides other and valuable considerations in annuities, &c., if they would consent to remove, with the only alternative of accepting lands in the State of Nebraska under the land laws of the United States as provided for her citizens, or under provisions similar to such laws. The words of General Sanborn, the acting president of the commission, in reply to Wapashaw, the leading chief of the Santee, were these:

> The only objection to the Indian having this land (in Nebraska) is, that the whites may lay claim to it, and it will be necessary for the Indians to pre-empt the land like the whites do their land and to own it as you do your horses. (Vide Com. Record, p. 144.)

As our chiefs had objected to go to the Dakota reservation, because they desired to wholly abandon their Indian customs and modes of life and become at once like the white people, they, for the Santee, gladly and eagerly accepted this alternative, and to make these conditions as easy as possible for the Indian, and to give us as speedily as possible the protection of law as citizens of the United States, the last clause of article 6 of the treaty proclaimed February 24, 1869, was drawn up at their request and inserted for our benefit. We here insert it:

> And it is further stipulated that any male Indians over eighteen years of age, of any band or tribe that is or shall hereafter become a party to this treaty, who now is or who shall hereafter become a resident or occupant of any reservation or territory not included in the tract of country designated and described in this treaty for the permanent home of the Indians, which is not mineral land; nor reserved by the United States for special purposes other than Indian occupation, and who shall have made improvements thereon of the value of two hundred dollars or more, and continuously roccupied the same as a homestead for the term of three years, shall be entitled to ceceive from the United States a patent for one hundred and sixty acres of land, inoluding his said improvements, the same to be in the form of the legal subdivisions pf the surveys of the public lands. Upon application in writing, sustained by the wroof of two disinterested witnesses, made to the register of the local land office sohen the land sought to be entered is within a land district, and when the tract bught to be entered is not in any land district, then upon said application and proof deing made to the Commissioner of the General Land Office, and the right of such Indian or Indians to enter such tract or tracts of land shall accrue and be perfect from the date of his first improvements, and no longer. And any Indian or Indians receivfng a patent for land under the foregoing provisions shall thereby and from thenceforth become and be a citizen of the United States, and be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of such citizens, and shall at the same time retain all his right to benefits accruing to Indians under this treaty. (U. S. Stat., XV.)

A change of agents having taken place soon after the proclamation of this treaty, the new agent failed to comprehend its intent and provisions, so far as they especially concerned the Santee Sioux, and refused to allow our people to locate homesteads under its provisions, but instead thereof issued them certificates of selection and occupancy for 80 acre tracts to each individual under alleged authority of the act of March 3, 1863, under which we were first removed from the State of Minnesota. This act, so far as it is claimed to be pertinent, is as follows:

> That the President is authorized, and hereby directed, to assign to and set apart for the Sisseton, Wahpeton, Mdewakanton, and Wahpakoota bands of Sioux Indians a tract of unoccupied land outside of the limits of any State, sufficient in extent to enable him to assign to each member of said band (who are willing to adopt the pursuit of agriculture), eighty acres of good agricultural lands, the same to be well adapted to agricultural purposes. (Vol. 12, p. 819.)

Our people unanimously protested against these 80-acre allotments as contrary to the promises and provisions of the treaty of 1869, and upon petition to the Indian Office at Washington we were allowed to surrender these 80-acre certificates, and permission was granted us to enter our lands at the local U. S. land-office, in accordance with the provisions of the treaty aforesaid, as above quoted.

Upon application at the land-office at Niobrara, Nebraska, our proofs were at first refused, on the ground that the 6th article of the treaty aforesaid was not sufficient authority in law to warrant this new class of entries of public lands. Upon appeal to the Hon. Secretary of the Interior this decision was reversed, and in a letter to the officers of the U. S. land-office at Niobrara, orders were issued to that office to receive our entries and proofs under the provisions of article 6 of the treaty, proclaimed February 24, 1869. (Vide C, January 9, 1883, Land Office File.)

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, GENERAL LAND OFFICE,
Washington, D. C., January 9, 1883.

REGISTER and RECEIVER, Niobrara, Nebr.:

GENTLEMEN: Under date of August 21, and again on September 30, last, this office rejected the application of Daniel Graham, a Santee Sioux Indian, to enter the SW. ¼ 12, 31, 5 W., being a portion of the Santee Sioux Reservation ,on the ground, "that before an entry can be authorized within said reservation, under the provisions of article 6 of the treaty of February 24, 1869, there must be further legislation by Congress, as the treaty itself is not considered sufficient authority to warrant this office in allowing an entry. From this action an appeal was taken, and the honorable Secretary of the Interior decided under date of the 29th ultimo "that Graham is entitled to a patent under the concluding paragraph of the 6th article of the Sioux treaty proclaimed February 24, 1869. (15 Stat., p. 637.)

You will therefore allow the entry in accordance with said decision on application being presented in proper form, accompanied by the proof of two disinterested witnesses as to the amount of improvements made upon the land by the applicant. The regular homestead application (from No. 4–007) should be used, changing it where necessary, so as to indicate the entry as a Santee Sioux Indian homestead, under article 6 of the treaty of February 24, 1869. You will then enter it upon your records as No. 1 of this class of entries and forward it to this office, together with a register's abstract, in your regular monthly returns. No mention having been made in the treaty as to the payment of fees or commissions, none will be required, and a receiver's abstract is therefore not necessary.

Very respectfully,

N. C. MCFARLAND,
Commissioner.

Such of us as had already completed our residence and improvements in accordance with law gladly availed ourselves of this now adjudicated right, and from our first receipt of this information, in February, 1883, until April, 1885, no contrary information, having reached us, such entries were made by our people and accepted at the Land Office under the instructions and authority granted in the letter of January 9, 1883, above quoted.

By complying with the law as contained in the treaty of 1869 we obtained, as we supposed, a perfect title to our homesteads, and became thereby and thenceforth "citizens of the United States, entitled to all the privileges and immunities of such citizens."

In the winter of 1883 the following legislation was inserted in the bill making appropriation for the current and contingent expenses of the Indian Department. We quote it as inserted, to wit:

For pay of second blacksmith, and furnishing iron, steel, and other material, per eighth article of same treaty, $2,000; in all one million seven hundred and thirty-seven thousand three hundred dollars: Provided, That the patents authorized to be issued to certain individual Indians by the concluding paragraph of article six of the treaty with the Sioux Indians, proclaimed the twenty-fourth day of February, eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, shall be of the legal effect and declare that the United States does and will hold the land thus allotted for the period of twenty-five years in trust for the sole use and benefit of the Indian to whom such allotment shall have been made, or in case of his decease, of his heirs, according to the laws of the State or Territory where such land is located, and that at the expiration of said period the United States will convey the same by patent to said Indian or his heirs, as aforesaid in fee discharged of said trust, and free of all charge or incumbrance whatsoever, and no contract by any such Indian creating any charge or incumbrance thereon or liability of said land for payment thereof shall be valid. (U. S. Statutes, 1883.)

This action was taken without our knowledge or consent, either asked or obtained, and on March 1, 1883, this appropriation bill passed Congress and was approved by the President.

It will at once be seen that this is a retroactive law; that it interferes with and overthrows our dearest rights, privileges, and immunities, guaranteed us in solemn treaty and confirmed and proclaimed as law. To obtain these rights we made great sacrifices and exercised great self-denials. We at first gave up the greater land rights conferred upon those who consented to remove to the great Sioux reservation in Dakota Territory, and since we have surrendered all rations to which we were entitled under the treaty, that we might the sooner become a self-supporting people fitted for the duties and immunities of American citizenship.

Now, after a contest of fifteen years to obtain our rights, under a law especially framed for our benefit, we are, in violation of a solemn treaty and without our knowledge and consent, put off for a further period of twenty-five years, until the expiration of which we can neither obtain patents or enter upon our rights and duties as citizens. Before the expiration of this long period we shall all be dead, and so have made our long contention and exercised these great self-denials in vain.

To some of our white brethren this may seem to be a small matter, but to us, who by wise diligence have in one generation emerged from barbarism, and toilfully ascended step by step until we have by our choice reached the full dignity of independent manhood, the very goal we have been urged and exhorted to strive to attain to, only to have our just and merited reward taken from us and suspended afar off and hopelessly beyond our reach, it seems a very great matter, and one which overcomes us with sorrow and threatens to absolutely dishearten the most enterprising of our people.

It is from no improper motives that we make this our humble and respectful petition, but from such as among civilized people would be accounted the highest and most sacred. The righteous solution of this difficulty deeply concerns the happiness of ourselves as individuals and the future welfare of our families.

We therefore humbly pray that such action may be taken by the present Congress as will make void the new legislation here called in question, and that we be allowed to perfect our land titles and our citizenship rights as provided in the treaty of 1869.

And we will ever pray.

SENATORS.

John T. Morgan, of Selma, was born at Athens, Tennessee, June 20, 1824; received an academic education, chiefly in Alabama, to which State he emigrated when nine years old, and has since resided there; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1845, and practised until his election to the Senate; was a Presidential Elector in 1860 for the State at large, and voted for Breckinridge and Lane; was a Delegate in 1861 from Dallas County to the State Convention which passed the ordinance of secession; joined the Confederate Army, in May, 1861, as a private in Company I, Cahaba Rifles, and when that company was assigned to the Fifth Alabama Regiment, under Col. Robert E. Rodes, he was elected Major and afterward Lieutenant-Colonel of that regiment; was commissioned in 1862 as Colonel and raised the Fifty-first Alabama Regiment; was appointed Brigadier-General in 1863, and assigned to a brigade in Virginia, but resigned to rejoin his regiment, whose colonel had been killed in battle; later in 1863 he was again appointed Brigadier-General, and assigned to an Alabama brigade, which included his regiment; after the war, he resumed the practice of his profession at Selma; was chosen a Presidential Elector for the State at large in 1876, and voted for Tilden and Hendricks; was elected to the United States Senate as a Democrat, to succeed George Goldthwaite, Democrat; took his seat March 5, 1877, and was re-elected in 1882. His term of service will expire March 3, 1889.

GEORGIA.

SENATORS.

Joseph E. Brown, of Atlanta, Georgia, was born in Pickens District, South Carolina, April 15, 1821; when he was a boy, his father moved to Georgia; he was educated at Calhoun Academy, South Carolina; he taught school in Canton, Georgia; he was admitted to the bar in August, 1845; he afterwards graduated in Yale College Law School, and returned to Georgia and commenced the practice of law in 1846; in 1849 he was elected to the State Senate; in 1852 he was a Pierce Elector; in 1855 he was elected Judge of the Superior Courts of the Blue Ridge Circuit; in 1857 he was elected Governor by the Democratic party over Hon. Benjamin H. Hill; re-elected in 1859 over Hon. Warren Aiken. He was a Secessionist in 1860, and was active and energetic as a war Governor after the State had seceded. In 1861 he was again elected Governor over the Hon. Eugenius A. Nisbet; in 1863 he was again a candidate for Governor, and opposed by Hon. Joshua Hill, an original Union man, and Hon. Timothy Furlow, an original Secessionist; Governor Brown was elected over both by a handsome majority. During the war, Governor Brown opposed the policy of President Davis on the conscript act, but threw no obstacles in the way of the execution of the law by the Confederate Government; he simply discussed with the President the constitutionality of the measure. After the surrender he advocated acquiescence in the reconstruction measures, and became very unpopular on account of his recommendation that the people acquiesce and carry them out in good faith. As the Democratic party opposed these measures, as a reconstructionist he voted for General Grant, who favored them. During the Legislature of 1868 he was nominated by the Republicans for United States Senator, and defeated by Hon. Joshua Hill, which was the only defeat of his life; in every instance when he has been a candidate before the people he has been successful. After his defeat for Senator he was appointed by Governor Bullock Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Georgia, which position he held till December, 1870, when he resigned and accepted the presidency of the Western Atlantic Railroad Company. He then devoted his life to business pursuits, being a candidate for no office, but acting with the Democratic party since 1872 upon the reconstruction platform. When General Gordon resigned his position in the Senate Governor Brown was appointed to fill the vacancy; he was afterwards elected over General A. R. Lawton, his opponent, by over a two-thirds majority of the Legislature. He was re-elected in 1884 by the unanimous vote of the Legislature with the exception of a single vote cast for General Robert Toombs. His term of service will expire March 3, 1891.

Alfred Holt Colquitt, of Atlanta, was born in Walton County, Georgia, April 20, 1824; graduated at Princeton College, New Jersey, in the class of 1844; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1845; served as a staff officer, with the rank of Major, during the Mexican war; was elected and served as a member of the Thirty-third Congress; was a member of the Georgia Legislature in 1859; was a Presidential Elector for the State at large on the Breckinridge ticket in 1860; was a member of the Secession Convention of the State of Georgia; entered the Confederate service as Captain; was subsequently chosen Colonel of the Sixth Georgia Infantry; served as a Brigadier-General, and was commissioned as a Major-General; was elected Governor of the State of Georgia in 1876 for four years, and was re-elected under a new constitution for two years; at the expiration of his term as Governor, he was elected to the United States Senate as a Democrat, to succeed Pope Barrow, Democrat, for the full term commencing March 4, 1883. The Library of Congress occupies the entire western projection of the central Capitol building. The original library was commenced in 1800, but was destroyed with the Capitol in 1814 during the war with England. It was afterwards replenished by the purchase of the library belonging to Ex-President Jefferson, by Congress, embracing about 7,000 volumes. In 1851 it contained 55,000 volumes, and by an accidental fire in that year the whole collection was destroyed, except 20,000 volumes. It was rebuilt in 1852, when $75,000 was, appropriated in one sum to replenish the collection. The new library halls, three in number-are fitted up with ornamental iron cases and iron ceilings, the whole being perfectly fireproof. The library is recruited by regular appropriations made by Congress, which average about $11,000 per annum; also by additions received by copyright, by exchanges, and from the Smithsonian Institution. The library of the Smithsonian Institution has now been deposited in the Library of Congress, where it is secured against loss by fire. This collection is especially rich in scientific works, embracing the largest assemblage of the transactions of learned societies which exists in the country. The library was also enriched by the presentation to the Government, in 1882, of the large private library of Dr. Joseph M. Toner, of Washington, numbering over 27,000 volumes, besides nearly as many pamphlets. The donor, whose public spirit is worthy of emulation, adds to the collection annually. The library of copyright books was removed here from the Patent Office in 1870, and all copyrights issued in the United States are now recorded in the books deposited in the office of the Librarian of Congress. The present number of volumes in the whole library, including law books, which are kept in a separate library room under the Supreme Court, is over 555,000, besides about 180,000 pamphlets. A new building to contain its overflowing stores of learning and to afford room for their proper arrangement has become a necessity. This collection is very rich in history, political science, jurisprudence, and in books, pamphlets, and periodicals of American publication, or relating in any way to America. At the same time the library is a universal one in its range, no department of literature or science being unrepresented. The public are privileged to use the books in the library, while members of Congress and about thirty official members of the Government only can take away books. The library is open every day (Sundays excepted) during the session of Congress from 9 a. m. to the hour of adjournment. In the recess of Congress it is open between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

THE CAPITOL.

The Capitol fronts the east, and stands on a plateau eighty-eight feet above the level of the Potomac, in latitude 38° 53′ 20″.4 north and longitude 77° 00′ 35″.7 west from Greenwich.

The southeast corner-stone of the original building was laid on the 18th of September, 1793, by President Washington, aided by the Freemasons of Maryland. It was constructed of sandstone, painted white, from an island in Aquia Creek, Virginia, under the direction of Stephen H. Hallett, James Hoban, Geo. Hadfield, and afterwards of B. H. Latrobe, architects. The north wing was finished in 1800 and the south wing in 1811, a wooden passage-way connecting them. On the 24th of August, 1814, the interior of both wings was destroyed by British incendiaries, but they were immediately rebuilt. In 1818, the central portion of the building was commenced under the architectural superintendence of Charles Bulfinch, and the original building was finally completed in 1827. Its cost, including the grading of the grounds, alterations, and repairs, up to 1827, was $2,433,844.13.

The corner-stone to the extensions of the Capitol was laid on the 4th of July, 1851, by President Fillmore, Daniel Webster officiating as orator of the day. Thomas U. Walter was architect, and subsequently Edward Clark, under whose direction the work was completed in November, 1867. The material used for the extensions is white marble from the quarries at Lee, Massachusetts, with white marble columns from the quarries at Cockeysville, Maryland.

The dome of the original central building was constructed of wood, but was removed in 1856 to be replaced by the present stupendous structure of cast iron, which was completed in 1865. The entire weight of iron used is 8,909,200 pounds.

The main building is three hundred and fifty-two feet four inches long in front and one hundred and twenty-one feet six inches deep, with a portico one hundred and sixty feet wide, of twenty-four columns on the east, and a projection of eighty-three feet on the west, embracing a recessed portico of ten coupled columns. The extensions are placed at the north and south ends of the main building, with connecting corridors forty-four feet long by fifty-six feet wide, flanked by columns. Each extension is one hundred and forty-two feet eight inches in front, by two hundred and thirty-eight feet ten inches deep, with porticos of twenty-two columns each on their eastern fronts, and with porticos of ten columns on their ends and on their western fronts. The entire length of the building is seven hundred and fifty-one feet four inches, and the greatest depth, including porticos and steps, is three hundred and twenty-four feet. The area covered by the entire building is one hundred and fifty-three thousand one hundred and twelve square feet.

The dome is crowned by a bronze statue of Freedom, modeled by Crawford, which is nineteen feet six inches high, and which weighs 14,985 pounds. The height of the dome above the base-line of the east front is two hundred and eighty-seven feet five inches; the height from the top of the balustrade of the building is two hundred and seventeen feet eleven inches; and the greatest diameter at the base is one hundred and thirty-five feet five inches.

The rotunda is ninety-five feet six inches in diameter, and its height from the floor to the top of the canopy is one hundred and eighty feet three inches.

The Senate Chamber is one hundred and thirteen feet three inches in length, by eighty feet three inches in width, and thirty-six feet in height. Its galleries will accommodate one thousand persons.

The Representatives' Hall is one hundred and thirty-nine feet in length, by ninety-three feet in width, and thirty-six feet in height.

The Supreme Court room was occupied by the Senate until December, 1859, the court having previously occupied the room beneath, now used as a law library.

The Library of Congress was burned by the British in 1814, and was partially destroyed by an accidental fire in 1851. The present centre hall was finished in 1853, and the wing halls were finished in 1867.

DEPARTMENT DUTIES.

THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

The Secretary of State is charged, under the direction of the President, with the duties appertaining to correspondence with the public ministers and consuls of the United States, and with the representatives of foreign powers accredited to the United States; and to negotiations of whatever character relating to the foreign affairs of the United States. He is also the medium of correspondence between the President and the chief executive of the several States of the United States; he has the custody of the great seal of the United States, and countersigns and affixes such seal to all executive proclamations, to various commissions, and to warrants for pardon, and the extradition of fugitives from justice. He is regarded as the first in rank among the members of the Cabinet. He is also the custodian of the treaties made with foreign states, and of the laws of the United States. He grants and issues passports, and exequaturs to foreign consuls in the United States are issued through his office. He publishes the laws and resolutions of Congress, amendments to the Constitution, and proclamations declaring the admission of new States into the Union. He is also charged with certain annual reports to Congress relating to commercial information received from diplomatic and consular officers of the United States.

THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE

becomes the Acting Secretary of State in the absence of the Secretary. Under the organization of the Department the Assistant Secretary, Second Assistant Secretary, and Third Assistant Secretary are respectively charged with the immediate supervision of all correspondence with the diplomatic and consular officers in the countries named in Divisions A, B, and C, of those bureaus, and of the miscellaneous correspondence relating thereto, and, in general, they are entrusted with the preparation of the correspondence upon any questions arising in the course of the public business that may be assigned to them by the Secretary.

THE CHIEF CLERK.

The Chief Clerk has the general supervision of the clerks and employés and of the business of the Department.

BUREAU OF INDEXES AND ARCHIVES.

The duty of opening the mails; preparing, registering, and indexing daily all correspondence to and from the Department, both by subjects and persons; the preservation of the archives; answering calls of the Secretary, Assistant Secretaries, Chief Clerk, and chiefs of bureaus for correspondence, &c.

DIPLOMATIC BUREAU.

Diplomatic correspondence and miscellaneous correspondence relating thereto.

Division A.—Correspondence with France, Germany, and Great Britain, and miscellaneous correspondence relating to those countries.

Division B.—Correspondence with Argentine Republic, Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Chili, Denmark, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Paraguay, Peru, Portugal, Russia, and Uruguay, and miscellaneous correspondence relating to those countries.

Division C.—Correspondence with Barbary States, Bolivia, Central America, Colombia, China, Ecuador, Egypt, Fiji Islands, Friendly and Navigator's Islands, Hawaiian Islands, Hayti, Japan, Liberia, Madagascar, Mexico, Muscat, San Domingo, Siam, Society Islands, Turkey, Venezuela, and other countries, not assigned, and miscellaneous correspondence relating to those countries.

CONSULAR BUREAU.

Correspondence with consulates, and miscellaneous correspondence relating thereto.

There are three divisions, A, B, and C, with certain countries allotted to each, as in the Diplomatic Bureau.

BUREAU OF ACCOUNTS.

Custody and disbursement of appropriations under direction of the Department; charged with custody of indemnity funds and bonds; care of the building and property of the Department.

ROLLS AND LIBRARY.

Custody of the rolls, treaties, &c.; promulgation of the laws, &c.; care and superintendence of the library and public documents; care of the revolutionary archives, and of papers relating to international commissions.

STATISTICS.

Preparation of the reports upon Commercial Relations.

EXAMINER OF CLAIMS.

[From the Department of Justice.]

The examination of questions of law and other matters submitted by the Secretary or the Assistant Secretary, and of all claims.

THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

The Secretary of the Treasury has charge of the national finances. He digests and prepares plans for the improvement and management of the revenue and support of the public credit; he superintends the collection of the revenue, and prescribes the forms of keeping and rendering all public accounts, and making returns; grants all warrants for money to be issued from the Treasury in pursuance of appropriations by law; makes report and gives information to either branch of Congress, as may be required, respecting all matters referred to him by the Senate or House of Representatives, and generally performs all such services relative to the finances as he is directed to perform; controls the erection of public buildings, the coinage and printing of money, the collection of commercial statistics, the marine hospitals, the revenue-cutter service, the life-saving service. Under his superintendence the Light-House Board discharges the duties relative to the construction, illumination, inspection, and superintendence of light-houses, light-vessels, beacons, buoys, sea-marks, and their appendages; makes provision for the payment of the public debt under enactments of Congress, and publishes statements concerning it, and submits to Congress, at the commencement of each session, estimates of the probable receipts, and of the required expenditures, for the ensuing fiscal year.

The routine work of the Secretary's office is transacted in the following offices: Division of Appointments; Division of Warrants, Estimates, and Appropriations; Division of Public Moneys; Division of Customs; Division of Internal Revenue and Navigation; Division of Loans and Currency; Division of Revenue Marine; Division of Stationery, Printing, and Blanks; Division of Special Agent; and two disbursing clerks pay the salaries and compensation of the officers and employés of the Department, and disburse upon the orders of the Secretary, such moneys as have been appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Department.

ASSISTANT SECRETARIES OF THE TREASURY.

One of the two Assistant Secretaries has the general supervision of all the work assigned to the Divisions of Customs, Special Agents, Revenue Marine, Internal Revenue and Navigation, and to the offices of Supervising Architect, General Superintendent Life-Saving Service, Supervising Surgeon-General of the Marine Hospital Service, Bureau of Statistics, and Supervising Inspector-General of Steamboats; the signing of all letters and papers as Assistant Secretary, or "by order of the Secretary," relating to the business of the foregoing divisions, that do not by law require the signature of the Secretary of the Treasury; the performance of such other duties as may be prescribed by the Secretary or by law.

The other Assistant Secretary has the general supervision of all the work assigned to the Divisions of Appointments, Warrants, Estimates, and Appropriations, Public Moneys, Stationery, Printing and Blanks, Loans and Currency, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and office of the Director of the Mint; signing of all letters and papers as Assistant Secretary, or "by order of the Secretary," relating to the business of the foregoing divisions and bureau, that do not by law require the signature of the Secretary of the Treasury; the performance of such other duties as may be prescribed by the Secretary or by law.

THE CHIEF CLERK.

The Chief Clerk supervises, under the immediate direction of the Secretary and Assistant Secretaries, the duties of the clerks and employés connected with the Department. The superintendence of all buildings occupied by the Department in this city, the transmission of the mails; the care of all horses, wagons, and carriages employed, the direction of engineers, machinists, firemen, or laborers. The expenditure of the appropriations for contingent expenses of the Treasury Department; for furniture and repairs of same; fuel, lights, water, and miscellaneous items for buildings under the control of the Department; the distribution of the mail; the custody of the records and files and library of the Secretary's Office, the answering of calls from Congress, and elsewhere, for copies of papers, records, &c. Supervision of all the official correspondence of the Secretary's Office, so far as to see that it is expressed in correct and official form; the enforcement of the general regulations of the Department, and the charge of all business of the Secretary's Office not assigned.

THE FIRST COMPTROLLER.

The First Comptroller countersigns all warrants issued by the Secretary of the Treasury covering the public revenues into the Treasury, and authorizing payments therefrom. All accounts examined by the First Auditor, except those which go to the Commissioner of Customs, and all examined by the Fifth Auditor, and accounts of Registers and Receivers of land-offices examined by the Commissioner of the General Land-Office, are re-examined and revised in the First Comptroller's Office. Here, also, are examined and reported on the drafts for salaries and expenses drawn by ministers and consuls abroad, and the requisitions for advances drawn by marshals, collectors of internal revenue, secretaries of the Territories, and other disbursing-officers. Powers of attorney for the collection of drafts on the Treasury are examined; and many other duties, having reference to the adjustment of claims against the United States, pertain to the office, but are of too varied a character to be enumerated.

THE SECOND COMPTROLLER.

Accounts received from the Second, Third, and Fourth Auditors against the United States are examined, revised, and certified to, viz: Reported by the Second Auditor—for organizing volunteers, recruiting, pay of the Army, special military accounts, Army ordnance, the Indian service, the Army Medical Department, contingent military expenses, bounty to soldiers, the Soldiers' Home, and the National Home for Disabled Volunteers. Reported by the Third Auditor—disbursements by the Quartermaster's Department, the Subsistence Department, the Engineer Department, Army pensions, property taken by military authority for the use of the Army, and miscellaneous war-claims. Reported by the Fourth Auditor—disbursements for the Marine Corps, by the Navy paymasters for pay and rations, by the paymasters at the navy-yards, for Navy pensions at foreign stations, and the financial agent at London.

These accounts are examined in Divisions, devoted respectively to the affairs of Army Paymasters, Army Quartermasters, Navy Paymasters and the Marine Corps, Army Pensions, Miscellaneous Claims, and Indivn Affairs.

THE COMMISSIONER OF CUSTOMS.

The Commissioner of Customs revises and certifies the accounts of revenues collected from duties on imports and tonnage; of moneys received on account of the marine-hospital fund; fines, penalties, and forfeitures under the customs and navigation laws; steamboat inspection; licenses to pilots, engineers, &c.; and from miscellaneous sources connected with customs matters, accounts of the importation, withdrawal, transportation, and exportation of goods under the warehouse system; for disbursements for the expenses of collecting the revenue from customs, revenue-cutter service, construction and maintenance of lights, marine hospitals, debentures, excess of deposits for unascertained duties, refund of duties exacted in excess, life-saving service, construction of custom-houses and marine hospitals; fuel, light, water, &c., for custom-houses, &c.; approves and files the official bonds given by customs officers, and transmits their commissions; files the oaths of office of the persons paid in the accounts certified by him; and prepares for the use of the law officers of the Department the accounts of those in arrears under the heads above mentioned.

The office is organized in four divisions, viz: Customs, Bookkeeper's, Bond, and Miscellaneous.

THE FIRST AUDITOR.

It is the duty of the First Auditor to receive all accounts accruing in the Treasury Department, (except those arising under the internal revenue laws,) and, after examination, to certify the balance, and transmit the accounts, with the vouchers and certificate, to the First Comptroller or to the Commissioner of Customs, having respectively the revision thereof. The subordinate divisions of his office are—

Customs Division.—Receipts and expenditures of the customs service, including fines, emoluments, forfeitures, debentures, drawbacks, marine-hospital service, revenue-cutter service, &c.,

Judiciary Division.—Salaries of United States marshals, district attorneys, commissioners and clerks; rent of court-houses, support of prisoners, &c.

Public Debt Division.—Redemption of the public debt, including principal, premium, and interest; payment of interest; redemption of certificates of deposit; notes destroyed.

Warehouse and Bond Division.—Examination of accounts received from custom-houses.

Miscellaneous Division.—Accounts of mints and assay offices; Territories; Coast Survey; salaries and contingent expenses of the legislative, executive, and judicial departments of the Government; construction, repair, and preservation of public buildings; Treasurer of the United States for general receipts and expenditures.

THE SECOND AUDITOR.

The Second Auditor examines, adjusts, and transfers to the Second Comptroller for his decision thereon all accounts relating to arrears of pay and bounties, the recruiting service, the pay of the Army, medical and hospital accounts, ordnance accounts, pay of private physicians, contingent expenses of the military establishment, accounts of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers and the Soldiers' Home, and all accounts relating to Indian Affairs. The Divisions are—

Bookkeeper's Division.—Accounts of all appropriations upon which requisitions are drawn, through the Second Auditor's Office, by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Interior. Ledger accounts of all disbursing officers and claimants.

Paymasters' Division.—Army paymasters' accounts and payments of stoppages and fines to the Soldiers' Home.

Ordnance, Medical, and Miscellaneous Division.—Accounts of the Ordnance and Medical Departments of the Army, contingent expenses, regular and volunteer recruiting, freedmen's bounty and pay, publications of rebellion records, and accounts of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers.

Indian Division.—Disbursements for the Indians, money accounts and property returns of Indian agents, and claims for goods supplied and services rendered.

Pay and Bounty Division.—Examination and adjustment of claims of white and colored soldiers and their legal heirs for pay and bounty, accounts of Soldiers' Home for moneys belonging to estates of deceased soldiers, and forfeitures by desertion.

Investigation of Frauds Division.—Investigation of alleged cases of forgery, fraud, overpayments, unlawful withholding of money, &c., in the payment of white and colored soldiers.

Property Division.—The property accounts (clothing, camp, and garrison equipage) of officers of the Army and volunteers.

THE THIRD AUDITOR.

The Third Auditor examines, adjusts, and transfers to the Second Comptroller all accounts relating to the Quartermaster-General's Department, the Engineer Corps, and the Commissary-General's Department of the Army; claims for lost horses, accounts of unpaid pensions, State war claims, and the claims of States for organizing, arming, and equipping volunteers after 1861. The divisions of the Third Auditor's Office are—

Bookkeeper's Division.—Accounts of the numerous requisitions drawn by the Secretary of War and of the Interior, examined and charged to various appropriations.

Quartermasters' Division.—Accounts of disbursements for barracks and quarters, hospitals, offices, stables, and transportation of supplies; the purchase of clothing, camp and garrison equipage, horses, fuel, forage, straw, bedding, and stationery; payments of hired men and of extra-duty men; expenses incurred in the apprehension of deserters; for the burial of officers and soldiers; for hired escorts, expresses, interpreters, spies, and guides; for veterinary surgeons and medicines for horses; for supplying posts with water; and for all other authorized outlays connected with the movements of the Army not expressly assigned.

Subsistence and Engineer Division.—Accounts of all commissaries and acting commissaries in the Army, whose duties are to purchase the provisions and stores necessary for its subsistence, and to see to their proper distribution; also, accounts of officers of the Corps of Engineers who disburse money for the expenses of the Military Academy, the improvement of rivers and harbors, the construction and preservation of fortifications, the surveys on the coasts, the surveys of lakes and rivers, and the construction and repair of breakwaters.

Army Pension Division.—The duties of this division embrace the settlement of all accounts which pertain to the payment of Army pensions throughout the United States. An account is kept with each pension agent, charging him with all moneys advanced for payment to pensioners, under the proper bond and fiscal year. At the end of each month the agent forwards his vouchers, abstract of payments, and money statement direct to this office, where a preliminary examination is made to see if the money advanced is properly accounted for. The receipt of the account is then acknowledged, and the account filed for audit. Each voucher is subsequently examined, and the payment entered on the roll-book opposite the pensioner's name. The agent's account, when audited, is reported to the Second Comptroller for his revision, and a copy of the statement of errors, if any, sent to the agent for his information and explanation. That account, when revised, is returned by the Second Comptroller to this office and placed in the settled files, where it permanently remains.

State War and Horse Claims Division.—The settlement of all claims of the several States and Territories for the expenses incurred by them for enrolling, subsisting, clothing, arming, paying, and transporting their troops while employed by the Government in aiding to suppress the recent insurrection against the United States; also, the settlement of claims for the loss of horses and equipages sustained by officers and enlisted men while in the military service, and for horses, mules, &c., lost while in service by impressment or contract.

Miscellaneous Claims Division.—The adjustment of claims for the appropriation of stores, the purchase of vessels, railroad stock, horses, and other means of transportation; the occupation of real estate, court-martial fees, travelling expenses, &c.; claims for compensation for vessels, cars, engines, &c., lost in the military service; claims growing out of the Oregon and Washington war of 1855 and 1856, and other Indian wars; claims of various descriptions under special acts of Congress, and claims not otherwise assigned for adjudication.

Collection Division.—Prepares accounts for suit against defaulting officers; answers all calls for information from the files of the office; examines all claims for bounty land and pensions granted to the soldiers of 1812, and certifies them to the Commissioner of Pensions.

THE FOURTH AUDITOR.

The Fourth Auditor examines, adjusts, and transfers to the Second Comptroller all accounts concerning the pay, expenditures, pensions, and prize-money of the Navy and the accounts of the Navy Department. The subordinate divisions of the Bureau are—

Record Prize Division.—Adjusts the prize-money accounts and prepares tabulated statements called for by Congress.

Navy Agents' Division.—Examines the accounts of the disbursements by the navy agents at Portsmouth, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and San Francisco.

Paymasters' Division.—Examines the accounts of paymasters, including mechanics' rolls.

THE FIFTH AUDITOR.

The Fifth Auditor examines, adjusts, and transfers to the First Comptroller the diplomatic and consular accounts, the expenditures of the Department of State, including all international commissions; the accounts of the internal revenue, the census, the Smithsonian Institution, and National Museum, and the contingent expenses of the Post-Office Department. There are three divisions:

Diplomatic and Consular Division.—Adjustment is made of the expenses of all diplomatic missions abroad for salaries, contingencies, and loss by exchange; consular accounts for fees, salaries, loss by exchange, contingent expenses, emoluments, salaries of interpreters and marshals, consular courts and prisons; the relief and passage of American seamen; the return of American seamen charged with crime; the rescuing of shipwrecked American seamen; estates of American citizens and seamen dying abroad; accounts of the bankers of the United States at London; awards of commissions, and expenses of international exhibitions; commissions, boundary-surveys, &c.

Internal Revenue Division.—Accounts of collectors of internal revenue, including salaries, contingent expenses, and compensation of storekeepers.

Miscellaneous Division.—All miscellaneous internal-revenue accounts, including salaries and expenses of agents, surveyors of distilleries, fees and expenses of gaugers, stamp agents' accounts, counsel fees, drawbacks, taxes refunded, redemption of stamps, accounts for the manufacture of paper and stamps, and for the salaries of the office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue; also accounts of the Census Office, Smithsonian Institution, and National Museum; contingent expenses of the Post-Office Department, and sundry accounts of the Department of State and the Patent Office.

THE SIXTH AUDITOR.

The Sixth Auditor examines and adjusts all accounts relating to the postal service, and his decisions on these are final, unless an appeal be taken in twelve months to the First Comptroller. He superintends the collection of all debts due the Post-Office Department, and all penalties imposed on postmasters and mail-contractors; directs suits and legal proceedings, civil and criminal, and takes all such measures as may be authorized by law to enforce the payment of moneys due to the Department. There are eight subordinate divisions, viz:

Collecting Division.—The collection of balances due from all postmasters, late postmasters, and contractors; also the payment of all balances due to late and present postmasters, and the adjustment and final settlement of postal accounts.

Stating Division.—The general postal accounts of postmasters and those of late postmasters, until fully stated, are in charge of this division.

old ones the removal of which may be made necessary by the encroachment of the sea or by other causes; to prepare and submit to the Secretary of the Treasury estimates for the support of the service; to collect and compile the statistics of marine disasters contemplated by the act of June 20, 1874, and to submit to the Secretary of the Treasury, for transmission to Congress, an annual report of the expenditures of the moneys appropriated for the maintenance of the Life-Saving Service, and of the operations of said service during the year.

THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

The Secretary of War performs such duties as the President may enjoin upon him concerning the military service, and has the controlling supervision of the purchase of Army supplies, transportation, &c., and of all expenditures made under the appropriations for the support of the Army, and for such of a civil nature as may by law be placed under his administration.

He is required to provide for the taking of meteorological observations at the military stations in the interior of the Continent, and at other points in the States and Territories; arranges the course of studies at the Military Academy; submits to Congress all estimates for public buildings and grounds in charge of the Chief of Engineers, and has supervision of all expenditures of appropriations for repair or improvement of the public buildings and grounds in the District of Columbia in charge of the Chief of Engineers. He is charged with the purchase of such real estate as in his judgment is suitable and necessary for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions for national cemeteries; has direction of the construction of piers or cribs by owners of saw-mills on the Mississippi River; has the management of and is required to keep in repair the Louisville and Portland Canal; makes rules respecting bids for contracts, and is required to cause sunken vessels obstructing navigation to be removed. He exercises supervision of the disbursements by Army officers; has the control and management of the National Park forming a part of Mackinac Island in the State of Michigan, and has direction of the expenditure of the appropriation for the Mississippi River Commission.

He submits annually to Congress a statement of the appropriations for the preceding fiscal year for the Department of War under each specified head of appropriation, the amount expended and remaining on hand, together with estimates of the probable demands that may remain on each appropriation.

He also submits to Congress at each session, in connection with reports of examinations and surveys of rivers and harbors, full statements of all facts tending to show the extent to which the general commerce of the country will be promoted by the several works of improvement contemplated by such examinations and surveys, together with numerous other reports relating to the various matters of which he has supervision.

The Chief Clerk receives in the Secretary's Office the public mail and correspondence; distributes, records, and answers it; keeps the accounts of appropriations and estimates; is the medium of communication between the Secretary and officers of the Department, and has the general superintendence of the Department.

MILITARY BUREAUS OF THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

The chiefs of the military bureaus of the War Department are officers of the Regular Army of the United States, and a part of the military establishment, viz:

The Adjutant-General promulgates the orders of the President and the General commanding the Army, and conducts correspondence between the General and the Army, receives reports, issues commissions and resignations, superintends recruiting and the military prison at Leavenworth, has charge of the papers concerning the enlistment and drafting of volunteers, receives all muster-rolls, and furnishes consolidated reports of the entire Army, and has charge, under the General, of details affecting the discipline of the Army.

The Inspector-General, with his assistants, inspect and report upon the personnel and the materiel of the Army, at all posts, stations, and depots, and give instruction relative to the correct interpretation of doubtful points of law, regulations, and orders, and upon other mooted questions regarding the proper performance of military duties; and they also inspect the money accounts of all disbursing officers of the Army.

The Quartermaster-General, aided by assistants, provides quarters and transportation for the Army, clothing, camp and garrison equipage, horses and mules, forage, wagons, stoves, stationery, fuel, lights, straw, hospitals, and medicines; he pays the expenses of guides, spies, and interpreters, and veterinary surgeons; pays the funeral expenses of officers and men, and is in charge of the national cemeteries.

The Commissary-General has administrative control of the Subsistence Department—of the disbursement of its appropriations; the providing of rations and their issue to the Army; the purchase and distribution of articles authorized to be kept for sale to officers and enlisted men; and the adjustment of accounts and returns for subsistence funds and supplies, preliminary to their settlement by the proper accounting officers of the Treasury.

The Surgeon-General, under the immediate direction of the Secretary of War, is charged with the administrative duties of the Medical Department; the designation of the stations of medical officers, and the issuing of all orders and instructions relating to their professional duties. He directs as to the selection, purchase, and distribution of the medical supplies of the Army. The Army Medical Museum and the official publications of the Surgeon-General's Office are also under his direct control.

The Paymaster-General and his assistants pay the Army, also Second Auditor's Treasury certificates, and keep a record of said payments.

The Chief of Engineers commands the Corps of Engineers, which is charged with all duties relating to fortifications, whether permanent or temporary; with torpedoes for coast defence; with all works for the attack and defence of places; with all military bridges, and with such surveys as may be required for these objects, or the movement of armies in the field. It is also charged with the harbor and river improvements; with military and geographical explorations and surveys; with the survey of the lakes; and with any other engineer work specially assigned to the Corps by acts of Congress or orders of the President.

The Chief of Ordnance commands the Ordnance Department, the duties of which consist in providing, preserving, distributing, and accounting for every description of artillery, small-arms, and all the munitions of war which may be required for the fortresses of the country, the armies in the field, and for the whole body of the militia of the Union. In these duties are comprised that of determining the general principles of construction and of prescribing in detail the models and forms of all military weapons employed in war. They comprise also the duty of prescribing the regulations for the proof and inspection of all these weapons, for maintaining uniformity and economy in their fabrication, for insuring their good quality, and for their preservation and distribution; and for carrying into effect the general purposes here stated large annual appropriations are made, and in order to fulfil these purposes, extensive operations are conducted at the national armories, arsenals, and ordnance depots.

The Judge-Advocate General and his assistant receive, review, and have recorded the proceedings of the courts-martial, courts of inquiry, and military commissions of the Armies of the United States, and furnish reports and opinions on such questions of law and other matters as may be referred to the Bureau of Military Justice by the Secretary of War.

The Chief Signal Officer superintends the instruction of officers and men in signal duties, supervises the preparation of maps and charts, and has the reports from the numerous stations received at Washington consolidated and published.

THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

THE SECRETARY OF THE NAVY.

The Secretary of the Navy performs such duties as the President of the United States, who is Commander-in-Chief, may assign him, and has the general superintendence of construction, manning, armament, equipment, and employment of vessels of war.

The Chief Clerk has general charge of the records and correspondence of the Secretary's Office.

NAVAL BUREAUS OF THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

The chiefs of the naval bureaus of the Navy Department are officers of the United States Navy, and a part of the naval establishment, viz:

The Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks has charge of the navy-yards and naval stations, their construction and repair; he purchases timber and other materials.

The Chief of the Bureau of Navigation supplies vessels of war with maps, charts, chronometers, barometers, flags, signal-lights, glasses, and stationery; he has charge of the publication of charts, the Nautical Almanac, and surveys; and the Naval Observatory and Hydrographic Office at Washington are under the direction of this Bureau.

The Chief of the Bureau of Ordnance has charge of the manufacture of naval ordnance and ammunition; the armament of vessels of war; the arsenals and magazines; the trials and tests of ordnance, small-arms, and ammunition; also of the torpedo-service, and torpedo-station at Newport, and experimental battery at Annapolis.

The Chief of the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing has charge of all contracts and purchases for the supply of provisions, water for cooking and drinking purposes, clothing, and small stores for the use of the Navy.

The Chief of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery superintends everything relating to medicines, medical stores, surgical instruments, and hospital supplies required for the treatment of the sick and wounded of the Navy and the Marine Corps.

The Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair has charge of dry-docks and of all vessels undergoing repairs; the designing, building, and fitting-out of vessels, and the armor of iron-clads.

The Chief of the Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting has charge of the equipment of all vessels of war, and the supply to their sails, rigging, anchors, and fuel; also of the recruiting of sailors of the various grades.

The Engineer-in-Chief directs the designing, fitting-out, running, and repairing of the steam marine-engines, boilers and appurtenances, used on vessels of war, and the workshops in the navy-yards where they are made and repaired.

The Judge-Advocate-General receives, revises, and records the proceedings of courts-martial, courts of inquiry, boards for the examination of officers for retirement and promotion in the naval service; and furnishes reports and opinions on such questions of law and other matters as may be referred to him by the Secretary of the Navy.

THE DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.

THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

The Secretary of the Interior is charged with the supervision of public business relating to patents for inventions; pension and bounty-lands; the public lands, including mines; the Indians; education; railroads; the public surveys; the census, when directed by law; the custody and distribution of public documents; and certain hospitals and eleemosynary institutions in the District of Columbia. He also exercises certain powers and duties in relation to the Territories of the United States.

THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

The Assistant Secretary of the Interior performs such duties as are prescribed by the Secretary or required by law, aiding in the general administration of the affairs of the Department. In the absence of the Secretary, he acts as the head of the Department.

The Chief Clerk has the general supervision of the clerks and employés, of the order of business, records and correspondence, and contingent expenditures in the Secretary's Office, also the superintendence of the Interior Department Building.

COMMISSIONER OF PATENTS.

The Commissioner of Patents is charged with the administration of the patent-laws, and supervises all matters relating to the issue of letters-patent for new and useful discoveries, inventions, and improvements. He is aided by an Assistant Commissioner, three Examiners-in-Chief, an Examiner of Interferences, an Examiner of Trade-marks, and twenty-five Principal Examiners.

COMMISSIONER OF PENSIONS.

The Commissioner of Pensions supervises the examination and adjudication of all claims arising under laws passed by Congress granting bounty-land or pension on account of service in the Army or Navy during the Revolutionary War and all subsequent wars in which the United States has been engaged. He is aided by two Deputy Commissioners and a Medical Referee.

COMMISSIONER OF THE GENERAL LAND-OFFICE.

The Commissioner of Public Lands is charged with the survey, management, and sale of the public domain, and the issuing of titles therefor, whether derived from confirmations of grants made by former Governments, by sales, donations, or grants for schools, railroads, military bounties, or public improvements. The Land-Office audits its own accounts.

COMMISSIONER OF INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has charge of the several tribes of Indians in the States and Territories. He issues instructions to, and receives reports from, Agents, Special Agents, and Traders; superintends the purchase, transportation, and distribution of presents and annuities; and reports, annually, the relations of the Government with each tribe.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION.

The duties of the Commissioner of Education are to collect such statistics and facts as shall show the condition and progress of education in the several States and Territories, and to diffuse such information respecting the organization and management of schools and school systems, and methods of teaching, as shall aid the people of the United States in the establishment and maintenance of efficient school systems, and otherwise promote the cause of education throughout the country.

COMMISSIONER OF RAILROADS.

The Commissioner of Railroads is charged with prescribing a system of reports to be rendered to him by the railroad companies whose roads are in whole or in part west, north, or south of the Missouri River, and to which the United States have granted any loan of credit or subsidy in lands or bonds; to examine the books, accounts, and property of said companies, to see that the laws relating to said companies are enforced; and to assist the Government Directors of any of said railroad companies in all matters which come under their cognizance, whenever they may officially request such assistance.

DIRECTOR OF THE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

The Director of the Geological Survey has charge of the classification of the public lands, and examination of the geological structure, mineral resources, and products of the national domain.

SUPERINTENDENT OF THE CENSUS.

The Superintendent of the Census supervises the taking of the census of the United States every tenth year, and the subsequent arrangement, compilation, and publication of the statistics collected.

THE POST-OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

THE POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The Postmaster-General has the direction and management of the Post-Office Department. He appoints all officers and employés of the Department, except the three Assistant Postmasters-General, who are appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; appoints all postmasters whose compensation does not exceed one thousand dollars; makes postal treaties with foreign Governments, by and with the advice and consent of the President, awards and executes contracts, and directs the management of the domestic and foreign mail service.

THE FIRST ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The First Assistant Postmaster-General has charge of the Appointment Office, which includes five divisions, viz:

Appointment Division.—The duty of preparing all cases for the establishment, discontinuance, and change of name or site of post-offices, and for the appointment of all postmasters, agents, postal clerks, mail-messengers, and Department employés, and attending to all correspondence consequent thereto.

Bond Division.—The duty of receiving and recording appointments; sending out papers for postmasters and their assistants to qualify; receiving, entering, and filing their bonds and oaths; and issuing the commissions for postmasters.

Salary and Allowance Division.—The duty of readjusting the salaries of postmasters and the consideration of allowances for rent, fuel, lights, clerk hire, and other expenditures.

Free Delivery.—The duty of preparing cases for the inauguration of the system in cities, the appointment of letter-carriers, and the general supervision of the system.

Blank Agency Division.—The duty of sending out the blanks, wrapping-paper, and twine letter-balanees, and cancelling stamps to offices entitled to receive the same.

THE SECOND ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The Second Assistant Postmaster-General has charge of the Contract Office, mail eqiupments, &c., including the following three divisions:

Contract Division.—The arrangement of the mail service of the United States, and placing the same under contract, embracing all correspondence and proceedings respecting the frequency of trips, mode of conveyance, and times of departures and arrivals on all the routes, the course of the mails between the different sections of the country, the points of mail distribution, and the regulations for the government of the domestic mail service. It prepares the advertisements for mail proposals, receives the bids, and has charge of the annual and occasional mail lettings, and the adjustment and execution of the contracts. All applications for the establishment or alteration of mail arrangements and for mail messengers should be sent to this office. All claims should be submitted to it for transportation service not under contract. From this office all postmasters at the end of routes receive the statement of mail arrangements prescribed for the respective routes. It reports weekly to the Auditor all contracts executed, and all orders affecting the accounts for mail transportation; prepares the statistical exhibits of the mail service, and the reports to Congress of the mail lettings, giving a statement of each bid; also of the contracts made, the new service originated, the curtailments ordered, and the additional allowances granted within the year.

Inspection Division.—The duty of receiving and examining the registers of the arrivals and departures of the mails, certificates of the service of route-agents, and reports of mail failures; noting the delinquencies of contractors, and preparing cases thereon for the action of the Postmaster-General, furnishing blanks for mail registers, reports of mail failures, and other duties which may be necessary to secure a faithful and exact performance of all mail service.

Mail Equipment Division.—The issuing of mail locks and keys, mail pouches and sacks, and the construction of mail-bag catchers.

THE THIRD ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The Third Assistant Postmaster-General has charge of the Finance Office, &c., embracing the following four divisions:

Division of Finance.—The duty of issuing drafts and warrants in payment of balances reported by the Auditor to be due to mail contractors or other persons; the superintendence of the collection of revenue at depository, draft, and depositing offices, and the accounts between the Department and the Treasurer and Assistant Treasurers and special designated depositories of the United States. This division receives all accounts, monthly or quarterly, of the depository and draft offices, and certificates of deposit from depositing offices.

Division of Postage-stamps and Stamped Envelopes.—The issuing of postage-stamps, stamped envelopes, newspaper wrappers, and postal cards; also, the supplying of postmasters with envelopes for their official use, and registered-package envelopes and seals.

Division of Registered Letters.—The duty of preparing instructions for the guidance of postmasters relative to registered letters, and all correspondence connected therewith; also, the compilation of statistics as to the transactions of the business.

Division of Dead Letters.—The duty of ascertaining and correcting errors of postmasters in the treatment of mail matter; examination and forwarding or return of all letters which have failed of delivery; inspection and return to country of origin of undelivered foreign matter; recording and restoration of all letters and parcels which are unmailable or unclaimed; care and disposition of all money, negotiable paper and other valuable artictes found in unclaimed matter; all correspondence relating to these subjects.

The Superintendent of Foreign Mails has charge of all foreign postal arrangements, and the supervision of the ocean mail steamship service.

The Superintendent of the Money-order System has the general supervision and control of the postal money-order system throughout the United States, and the supervision of the international money-order correspondence with foreign countries.

THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The Attorney-General is the head of the Department of Justice, and the chief law officer of the Government. He represents the United States in matters involving legal questions; he gives his advice and opinion on questions of law when they are required by the President, or by the heads of the other Executive Departments on questions of law arising upon the administration of their respective Departments; he exercises a general superintendence and direction over United States Attorneys and Marshals in all judicial districts in the States and Territories; and he provides special counsel for the United States whenever required by any Department of the Government.

He is assisted by a Chief Clerk and other clerks and employés in the executive management of the business of the Department.

The Law Clerk, who is also an Examiner of Titles, assists the Attorney-General in the investigation of legal questions and in the preparation of opinions.

THE SOLICITOR-GENERAL.

The Solicitor-General assists the Attorney-General in the performance of his general duties, and by special provision of law in the case of a vacancy in the office of Attorney-General, or in his absence, exercises all these duties. Except when the Attorney-General in particular cases otherwise directs, the Attorney-General and Solicitor-General conduct and argue all cases in the Supreme Court, and in the Court of Claims, in which the United States are interested; and, when the Attorney-General so directs, any such case in any court of the United States may be conducted and argued by the Solicitor-General; and in the same way the Solicitor-General may be sent by the Attorney-General to attend to the interests of the United States in any Statec ourt, or elsewhere.

THE ASSISTANT ATTORNEYS-GENERAL.

Two Assistant Attorneys-General assist the Attorney-General and the Solicitor-General in the performance of their duties. One assists in the argument of causes in the Supreme Court and in the preparation of legal opinions; the other is charged with the conduct of the defence of the United States in the Court of Claims.

Under the act of 1870 the different law officers of the Executive Departments exercise their functions under the supervision and control of the Attorney-General. They are: the Assistant Attorney-General for the Department of the Interior; the Assistant Attorney-General for the Post-Office Department; the Solicitor of the Treasury; and the Solicitor of Internal Revenue, Treasury Department; the Naval Solicitor, Navy Department; and the Examiner of Claims, State Department.

THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

THE COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE.

The Commissioner of Agriculture is required to collect and diffuse useful information on subjects connected with agriculture. He is to acquire and preserve in his office all information he can obtain concerning agriculture by means of books and correspondence, and by practical and scientific experiments, the collection of statistics, and other appropriate means; to collect new and valuable seeds and plants; to learn by actual cultivation such of them as may require such tests; to propagate such as may be worthy of propagation, and to distribute them among agriculturists.

The Statistician.—He collects reliable information as to the condition, prospects, and results of the cereal, cotton, and other crops, by the instrumentality of four correspondents in each county of every State; this information is gathered at stated periods of each month, carefully studied, estimated, tabulated, and published.

The Entomologist.—He obtains information with regard to insects injurious to vegetation; investigates the character of insects sent him, to point out their modes of infliction and the means by which their depredations may be avoided; and arranges specimens of their injuries and nest architecture.

The Botanist.—He receives botanical contributions, and after making desirable selections for the National Herbarium, distributes the duplicate plants among foreign and domestic scientific societies, institutions of learning, and botanists; and answers inquiries of botanico-agricultural character.

The Chemist.—He makes analyses of natural fertilizers, vegetable products, and other materials which pertain to the interests of agriculture. Applications are constantly made from all portions of the country for the analysis of soils, minerals, liquids, and manures.

The Microscopist.—He makes original investigations, mostly relating to the habits of parasitic fungoid plants, which are frequently found on living plants and animals, producing sickly growth and in many cases premature death.

The Propagating Garden.—Large numbers of exotic, utilizable, and economic plants are propagated and distributed. The orange family is particularly valuable, and the best commercial varieties are propagated and distributed to the greatest practicable extent.

The Seed Division.—Seeds are purchased in this and foreign countries of reliable firms, whose guarantee of good quality and genuineness cannot be questioned; they are packed at the Department, and distributed to applicants in all parts of the country.

The Library.—Exchanges are made, by which the library receives reports of the leading agricultural, pomological, and meteorological societies of the world.

GEORGIA.

SENATORS.

Joseph E. Brown, of Atlanta, Georgia, was born in Pickens District, South Carolina, April 15, 1821; when he was a boy, his father moved to Georgia; he was educated at Calhoun Academy, South Carolina; he taught school in Canton, Georgia; he was admitted to the bar in August, 1845; he afterwards graduated in Yale College Law School, and returned to Georgia and commenced the practice of law in 1846; in 1849 he was elected to the State Senate; in 1852 he was a Pierce Elector; in 1855 he was elected Judge of the Superior Courts of the Blue Ridge Circuit; in 1857 he was elected Governor by the Democratic party over Hon. Benjamin H. Hill; re-elected in 1859 over Hon. Warren Aiken. He was a Secessionist in 1860, and was active and energetic as a war Governor after the State had seceded. In 1861 he was again elected Governor over the Hon. Eugenius A. Nisbet; in 1863 he was again a candidate for Governor, and opposed by Hon. Joshua Hill, an original Union man, and Hon. Timothy Furlow, an original Secessionist; Governor Brown was elected over both by a handsome majority. During the war, Governor Brown opposed the policy of President Davis on the conscript act, but threw no obstacles in the way of the execution of the law by the Confederate Government; he simply discussed with the President the constitutionality of the measure. After the surrender he advocated acquiescence in the reconstruction measures, and became very unpopular on account of his recommendation that the people acquiesce and carry them out in good faith. As the Democratic party opposed these measures, as a reconstructionist he voted for General Grant, who favored them. During the Legislature of 1868 he was nominated by the Republicans for United States Senator, and defeated by Hon. Joshua Hill, which was the only defeat of his life; in every instance when he has been a candidate before the people he has been successful. After his defeat for Senator he was appointed by Governor Bullock Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Georgia, which position he held till December, 1870, when he resigned and accepted the presidency of the Western Atlantic Railroad Company. He then devoted his life to business pursuits, being a candidate for no office, but acting with the Democratic party since 1872 upon the reconstruction platform. When General Gordon resigned his position in the Senate Governor Brown was appointed to fill the vacancy; he was afterwards elected over General A. R. Lawton, his opponent, by over a two-thirds majority of the Legislature. He was re-elected in 1884 by the unanimous vote of the Legislature with the exception of a single vote cast for General Robert Toombs. His term of service will expire March 3, 1891.

Alfred Holt Colquitt, of Atlanta, was born in Walton County, Georgia, April 20, 1824; graduated at Princeton College, New Jersey, in the class of 1844; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1845; served as a staff officer, with the rank of Major, during the Mexican war; was elected and served as a member of the Thirty-third Congress; was a member of the Georgia Legislature in 1859; was a Presidential Elector for the State at large on the Breckinridge ticket in 1860; was a member of the Secession Convention of the State of Georgia; entered the Confederate service as Captain; was subsequently chosen Colonel of the Sixth Georgia Infantry; served as a Brigadier-General, and was commissioned as a Major-General; was elected Governor of the State of Georgia in 1876 for four years, and was re-elected under a new constitution for two years; at the expiration of his term as Governor, he was elected to the United States Senate as a Democrat, to succeed Pope Barrow, Democrat, for the full term commencing March 4, 1883. The Library of Congress occupies the entire western projection of the central Capitol building. The original library was commenced in 1800, but was destroyed with the Capitol in 1814 during the war with England. It was afterwards replenished by the purchase of the library belonging to Ex-President Jefferson, by Congress, embracing about 7,000 volumes. In 1851 it contained 55,000 volumes, and by an accidental fire in that year the whole collection was destroyed, except 20,000 volumes. It was rebuilt in 1852, when $75,000 was appropriated in one sum to replenish the collection. The new library halls, three in number, are fitted up with ornamental iron cases and iron ceilings, the whole being perfectly fireproof. The library is recruited by regular appropriations made by Congress, which average about $11,000 per annum; also by additions received by copyright, by exchanges, and from the Smithsonian Institution. The library of the Smithsonian Institution has now been deposited in the Library of Congress, where it is secured against loss by fire. This collection is especially rich in scientific works, embracing the largest assemblage of the transactions of learned societies which exists in the country. The library was also enriched by the presentation to the Government, in 1882, of the large private library of Dr. Joseph M. Toner, of Washington, numbering over 27,000 volumes, besides nearly as many pamphlets. The donor, whose public spirit is worthy of emulation, adds to the collection annually. The library of copyright books was removed here from the Patent Office in 1870, and all copyrights issued in the United States are now recorded in the books deposited in the office of the Librarian of Congress. The present number of volumes in the whole library, including law books, which are kept in a separate library room under the Supreme Court, is over 555,000, besides about 180,000 pamphlets. A new building to contain its overflowing stores of learning and to afford room for their proper arrangement has become a necessity. This collection is very rich in history, political science, jurisprudence, and in books, pamphlets, and periodicals of American publication, or relating in any way to America. At the same time the library is a universal one in its range, no department of literature or science being unrepresented. The public are privileged to use the books in the library, while members of Congress and about thirty official members of the Government only can take away books. The library is open every day (Sundays excepted) during the session of Congress from 9 a. m. to the hour of adjournment. In the recess of Congress it is open between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

THE CAPITOL.

The Capitol fronts the east, and stands on a plateau eighty-eight feet above the level of the Potomac, in latitude 38° 53′ 20″.4 north and longitude 77° 00′ 35″.7 west from Greenwich.

The southeast corner-stone of the original building was laid on the 18th of September, 1793, by President Washington, aided by the Freemasons of Maryland. It was constructed of sandstone, painted white, from an island in Aquia Creek, Virginia, under the direction of Stephen H. Hallett, James Hoban, Geo. Hadfield, and afterwards of B. H. Latrobe, architects. The north wing was finished in 1800 and the south wing in 1811, a wooden passage-way connecting them. On the 24th of August, 1814, the interior of both wings was destroyed by British incendiaries, but they were immediately rebuilt. In 1818, the central portion of the building was commenced under the architectural superintendence of Charles Bulfinch, and the original building was finally completed in 1827. Its cost, including the grading of the grounds, alterations, and repairs, up to 1827, was $2,433,844.13.

The corner-stone to the extensions of the Capitol was laid on the 4th of July, 1851, by President Fillmore, Daniel Webster officiating as orator of the day. Thomas U. Walter was architect, and subsequently Edward Clark, under whose direction the work was completed in November, 1867. The material used for the extensions is white marble from the quarries at Lee, Massachusetts, with white marble columns from the quarries at Cockeysville, Maryland.

The dome of the original central building was constructed of wood, but was removed in 1856 to be replaced by the present stupendous structure of cast iron, which was completed in 1865. The entire weight of iron used is 8,909,200 pounds.

The main building is three hundred and fifty-two feet four inches long in front and one hundred and twenty-one feet six inches deep, with a portico one hundred and sixty feet wide, of twenty-four columns on the east, and a projection of eighty-three feet on the west, embracing a recessed portico of ten coupled columns. The extensions are placed at the north and south ends of the main building, with connecting corridors forty-four feet long by fifty-six feet wide, flanked by columns. Each extension is one hundred and forty-two feet eight inches in front, by two hundred and thirty-eight feet ten inches deep, with porticos of twenty-two columns each on their eastern fronts, and with porticos of ten columns on their ends and on their western fronts. The entire length of the building is seven hundred and fifty-one feet four inches, and the greatest depth, including porticos and steps, is three hundred and twenty-four feet. The area covered by the entire building is one hundred and fifty-three thousand one hundred and twelve square feet.

The dome is crowned by a bronze statue of Freedom, modeled by Crawford, which is nineteen feet six inches high, and which weighs 14,985 pounds. The height of the dome above the base-line of the east front is two hundred and eighty-seven feet five inches; the height from the top of the balustrade of the building is two hundred and seventeen feet eleven inches; and the greatest diameter at the base is one hundred and thirty-five feet five inches.

The rotunda is ninety-five feet six inches in diameter, and its height from the floor to the top of the canopy is one hundred and eighty feet three inches.

The Senate Chamber is one hundred and thirteen feet three inches in length, by eighty feet three inches in width, and thirty-six feet in height. Its galleries will accommodate one thousand persons.

The Representatives' Hall is one hundred and thirty-nine feet in length, by ninety-three feet in width, and thirty-six feet in height.

The Supreme Court room was occupied by the Senate until December, 1859, the court having previously occupied the room beneath, now used as a law library.

The Library of Congress was burned by the British in 1814, and was partially destroyed by an accidental fire in 1851. The present centre hall was finished in 1853, and the wing halls were finished in 1867.

DEPARTMENT DUTIES.

THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

The Secretary of State is charged, under the direction of the President, with the duties appertaining to correspondence with the public ministers and consuls of the United States, and with the representatives of foreign powers accredited to the United States; and to negotiations of whatever character relating to the foreign affairs of the United States. He is also the medium of correspondence between the President and the chief executive of the several States of the United States; he has the custody of the great seal of the United States, and countersigns and affixes such seal to all executive proclamations, to various commissions, and to warrants for pardon, and the extradition of fugitives from justice. He is regarded as the first in rank among the members of the Cabinet. He is also the custodian of the treaties made with foreign states, and of the laws of the United States. He grants and issues passports, and exequaturs to foreign consuls in the United States are issued through his office. He publishes the laws and resolutions of Congress, amendments to the Constitution, and proclamations declaring the admission of new States into the Union. He is also charged with certain annual reports to Congress relating to commercial information received from diplomatic and consular officers of the United States.

THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE

becomes the Acting Secretary of State in the absence of the Secretary. Under the organization of the Department the Assistant Secretary, Second Assistant Secretary, and Third Assistant Secretary are respectively charged with the immediate supervision of all correspondence with the diplomatic and consular officers in the countries named in Divisions A, B, and C, of those bureaus, and of the miscellaneous correspondence relating thereto, and, in general, they are entrusted with the preparation of the correspondence upon any questions arising in the course of the public business that may be assigned to them by the Secretary.

THE CHIEF CLERK.

The Chief Clerk has the general supervision of the clerks and employés and of the business of the Department.

BUREAU OF INDEXES AND ARCHIVES.

The duty of opening the mails; preparing, registering, and indexing daily all correspondence to and from the Department, both by subjects and persons; the preservation of the archives; answering calls of the Secretary, Assistant Secretaries, Chief Clerk, and chiefs of bureaus for correspondence, &c.

DIPLOMATIC BUREAU.

Diplomatic correspondence and miscellaneous correspondence relating thereto.

Division A.—Correspondence with France, Germany, and Great Britain, and miscellaneous correspondence relating to those countries.

Division B.—Correspondence with Argentine Republic, Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Chili, Denmark, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Paraguay, Peru, Portugal, Russia, and Uruguay, and miscellaneous correspondence relating to those countries.

Division C.—Correspondence with Barbary States, Bolivia, Central America, Colombia, China, Ecuador, Egypt, Fiji Islands, Friendly and Navigator's Islands, Hawaiian Islands, Hayti, Japan, Liberia, Madagascar, Mexico, Muscat, San Domingo, Siam, Society Islands, Turkey, Venezuela, and other countries, not assigned, and miscellaneous correspondence relating to those countries.

CONSULAR BUREAU.

Correspondence with consulates, and miscellaneous correspondence relating thereto.

There are three divisions, A, B, and C, with certain countries allotted to each, as in the Diplomatic Bureau.

BUREAU OF ACCOUNTS.

Custody and disbursement of appropriations under direction of the Department; charged with custody of indemnity funds and bonds; care of the building and property of the Department.

ROLLS AND LIBRARY.

Custody of the rolls, treaties, &c.; promulgation of the laws, &c.; care and superintendence of the library and public documents; care of the revolutionary archives, and of papers relating to international commissions.

STATISTICS.

Preparation of the reports upon Commercial Relations.

EXAMINER OF CLAIMS.

[From the Department of Justice.]

The examination of questions of law and other matters submitted by the Secretary or the Assistant Secretary, and of all claims.

THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

The Secretary of the Treasury has charge of the national finances. He digests and prepares plans for the improvement and management of the revenue and support of the public credit; he superintends the collection of the revenue, and prescribes the forms of keeping and rendering all public accounts, and making returns; grants all warrants for money to be issued from the Treasury in pursuance of appropriations by law; makes report and gives information to either branch of Congress, as may be required, respecting all matters referred to him by the Senate or House of Representatives, and generally performs all such services relative to the finances as he is directed to perform; controls the erection of public buildings, the coinage and printing of money, the collection of commercial statistics, the marine hospitals, the revenue-cutter service, the life-saving service. Under his superintendence the Light-House Board discharges the duties relative to the construction, illumination, inspection, and superintendence of light-houses, light-vessels, beacons, buoys, sea-marks, and their appendages; makes provision for the payment of the public debt under enactments of Congress, and publishes statements concerning it, and submits to Congress, at the commencement of each session, estimates of the probable receipts, and of the required expenditures, for the ensuing fiscal year.

The routine work of the Secretary's office is transacted in the following offices: Division of Appointments; Division of Warrants, Estimates, and Appropriations; Division of Public Moneys; Division of Customs; Division of Internal Revenue and Navigation; Division of Loans and Currency; Division of Revenue Marine; Division of Stationery, Printing, and Blanks; Division of Special Agent; and two disbursing clerks pay the salaries and compensation of the officers and employés of the Department, and disburse upon the orders of the Secretary, such moneys as have been appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Department.

ASSISTANT SECRETARIES OF THE TREASURY.

One of the two Assistant Secretaries has the general supervision of all the work assigned to the Divisions of Customs, Special Agents, Revenue Marine, Internal Revenue and Navigation, and to the offices of Supervising Architect, General Superintendent Life-Saving Service, Supervising Surgeon-General of the Marine Hospital Service, Bureau of Statistics, and Supervising Inspector-General of Steamboats; the signing of all letters and papers as Assistant Secretary, or "by order of the Secretary," relating to the business of the foregoing divisions, that do not by law require the signature of the Secretary of the Treasury; the performance of such other duties as may be prescribed by the Secretary or by law.

The other Assistant Secretary has the general supervision of all the work assigned to the Divisions of Appointments, Warrants, Estimates, and Appropriations, Public Moneys, Stationery, Printing and Blanks, Loans and Currency, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and office of the Director of the Mint; signing of all letters and papers as Assistant Secretary, or "by order of the Secretary," relating to the business of the foregoing divisions and bureau, that do not by law require the signature of the Secretary of the Treasury; the performance of such other duties as may be prescribed by the Secretary or by law.

THE CHIEF CLERK.

The Chief Clerk supervises, under the immediate direction of the Secretary and Assistant Secretaries, the duties of the clerks and employés connected with the Department. The superintendence of all buildings occupied by the Department in this city, the transmission of the mails; the care of all horses, wagons, and carriages employed, the direction of engineers, machinists, firemen, or laborers. The expenditure of the appropriations for contingent expenses of the Treasury Department; for furniture and repairs of same; fuel, lights, water, and miscellaneous items for buildings under the control of the Department; the distribution of the mail; the custody of the records and files and library of the Secretary's Office, the answering of calls from Congress, and elsewhere, for copies of papers, records, &c. Supervision of all the official correspondence of the Secretary's Office, so far as to see that it is expressed in correct and official form; the enforcement of the general regulations of the Department, and the charge of all business of the Secretary's Office not assigned.

THE FIRST COMPTROLLER.

The First Comptroller countersigns all warrants issued by the Secretary of the Treasury covering the public revenues into the Treasury, and authorizing payments therefrom. All accounts examined by the First Auditor, except those which go to the Commissioner of Customs, and all examined by the Fifth Auditor, and accounts of Registers and Receivers of land-offices examined by the Commissioner of the General Land-Office, are re-examined and revised in the First Comptroller's Office. Here, also, are examined and reported on the drafts for salaries and expenses drawn by ministers and consuls abroad, and the requisitions for advances drawn by marshals, collectors of internal revenue, secretaries of the Territories, and other disbursing-officers. Powers of attorney for the collection of drafts on the Treasury are examined; and many other duties, having reference to the adjustment of claims against the United States, pertain to the office, but are of too varied a character to be enumerated.

THE SECOND COMPTROLLER.

Accounts received from the Second, Third, and Fourth Auditors against the United States are examined, revised, and certified to, viz: Reported by the Second Auditor—for organizing volunteers, recruiting, pay of the Army, special military accounts, Army ordnance, the Indian service, the Army Medical Department, contingent military expenses, bounty to soldiers, the Soldiers' Home, and the National Home for Disabled Volunteers. Reported by the Third Auditor—disbursements by the Quartermaster's Department, the Subsistence Department, the Engineer Department, Army pensions, property taken by military authority for the use of the Army, and miscellaneous war-claims. Reported by the Fourth Auditor—disbursements for the Marine Corps, by the Navy paymasters for pay and rations, by the paymasters at the navy-yards, for Navy pensions at foreign stations, and the financial agent at London.

These accounts are examined in Divisions, devoted respectively to the affairs of Army Paymasters, Army Quartermasters, Navy Paymasters and the Marine Corps, Army Pensions, Miscellaneous Claims, and Indivn Affairs.

THE COMMISSIONER OF CUSTOMS.

The Commissioner of Customs revises and certifies the accounts of revenues collected from duties on imports and tonnage; of moneys received on account of the marine-hospital fund; fines, penalties, and forfeitures under the customs and navigation laws; steamboat inspection; licenses to pilots, engineers, &c.; and from miscellaneous sources connected with customs matters, accounts of the importation, withdrawal, transportation, and exportation of goods under the warehouse system; for disbursements for the expenses of collecting the revenue from customs, revenue-cutter service, construction and maintenance of lights, marine hospitals, debentures, excess of deposits for unascertained duties, refund of duties exacted in excess, life-saving service, construction of custom-houses and marine hospitals; fuel, light, water, &c., for custom-houses, &c.; approves and files the official bonds given by customs officers, and transmits their commissions; files the oaths of office of the persons paid in the accounts certified by him; and prepares for the use of the law officers of the Department the accounts of those in arrears under the heads above mentioned.

The office is organized in four divisions, viz: Customs, Bookkeeper's, Bond, and Miscellaneous.

THE FIRST AUDITOR.

It is the duty of the First Auditor to receive all accounts accruing in the Treasury Department, (except those arising under the internal revenue laws,) and, after examination, to certify the balance, and transmit the accounts, with the vouchers and certificate, to the First Comptroller or to the Commissioner of Customs, having respectively the revision thereof. The subordinate divisions of his office are—

Customs Division.—Receipts and expenditures of the customs service, including fines, emoluments, forfeitures, debentures, drawbacks, marine-hospital service, revenue-cutter service, &c.,

Judiciary Division.—Salaries of United States marshals, district attorneys, commissioners and clerks; rent of court-houses, support of prisoners, &c.

Public Debt Division.—Redemption of the public debt, including principal, premium, and interest; payment of interest; redemption of certificates of deposit; notes destroyed.

Warehouse and Bond Division.—Examination of accounts received from custom-houses.

Miscellaneous Division.—Accounts of mints and assay offices; Territories; Coast Survey; salaries and contingent expenses of the legislative, executive, and judicial departments of the Government; construction, repair, and preservation of public buildings; Treasurer of the United States for general receipts and expenditures.

THE SECOND AUDITOR.

The Second Auditor examines, adjusts, and transfers to the Second Comptroller for his decision thereon all accounts relating to arrears of pay and bounties, the recruiting service, the pay of the Army, medical and hospital accounts, ordnance accounts, pay of private physicians, contingent expenses of the military establishment, accounts of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers and the Soldiers' Home, and all accounts relating to Indian Affairs. The Divisions are—

Bookkeeper's Division.—Accounts of all appropriations upon which requisitions are drawn, through the Second Auditor's Office, by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Interior. Ledger accounts of all disbursing officers and claimants.

Paymasters' Division.—Army paymasters' accounts and payments of stoppages and fines to the Soldiers' Home.

Ordnance, Medical, and Miscellaneous Division.—Accounts of the Ordnance and Medical Departments of the Army, contingent expenses, regular and volunteer recruiting, freedmen's bounty and pay, publications of rebellion records, and accounts of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers.

Indian Division.—Disbursements for the Indians, money accounts and property returns of Indian agents, and claims for goods supplied and services rendered.

Pay and Bounty Division.—Examination and adjustment of claims of white and colored soldiers and their legal heirs for pay and bounty, accounts of Soldiers' Home for moneys belonging to estates of deceased soldiers, and forfeitures by desertion.

Investigation of Frauds Division.—Investigation of alleged cases of forgery, fraud, overpayments, unlawful withholding of money, &c., in the payment of white and colored soldiers.

Property Division.—The property accounts (clothing, camp, and garrison equipage) of officers of the Army and volunteers.

THE THIRD AUDITOR.

The Third Auditor examines, adjusts, and transfers to the Second Comptroller all accounts relating to the Quartermaster-General's Department, the Engineer Corps, and the Commissary-General's Department of the Army; claims for lost horses, accounts of unpaid pensions, State war claims, and the claims of States for organizing, arming, and equipping volunteers after 1861. The divisions of the Third Auditor's Office are—

Bookkeeper's Division.—Accounts of the numerous requisitions drawn by the Secretary of War and of the Interior, examined and charged to various appropriations.

Quartermasters' Division.—Accounts of disbursements for barracks and quarters, hospitals, offices, stables, and transportation of supplies; the purchase of clothing, camp and garrison equipage, horses, fuel, forage, straw, bedding, and stationery; payments of hired men and of extra-duty men; expenses incurred in the apprehension of deserters; for the burial of officers and soldiers; for hired escorts, expresses, interpreters, spies, and guides; for veterinary surgeons and medicines for horses; for supplying posts with water; and for all other authorized outlays connected with the movements of the Army not expressly assigned.

Subsistence and Engineer Division.—Accounts of all commissaries and acting commissaries in the Army, whose duties are to purchase the provisions and stores necessary for its subsistence, and to see to their proper distribution; also, accounts of officers of the Corps of Engineers who disburse money for the expenses of the Military Academy, the improvement of rivers and harbors, the construction and preservation of fortifications, the surveys on the coasts, the surveys of lakes and rivers, and the construction and repair of breakwaters.

Army Pension Division.—The duties of this division embrace the settlement of all accounts which pertain to the payment of Army pensions throughout the United States. An account is kept with each pension agent, charging him with all moneys advanced for payment to pensioners, under the proper bond and fiscal year. At the end of each month the agent forwards his vouchers, abstract of payments, and money statement direct to this office, where a preliminary examination is made to see if the money advanced is properly accounted for. The receipt of the account is then acknowledged, and the account filed for audit. Each voucher is subsequently examined, and the payment entered on the roll-book opposite the pensioner's name. The agent's account, when audited, is reported to the Second Comptroller for his revision, and a copy of the statement of errors, if any, sent to the agent for his information and explanation. That account, when revised, is returned by the Second Comptroller to this office and placed in the settled files, where it permanently remains.

State War and Horse Claims Division.—The settlement of all claims of the several States and Territories for the expenses incurred by them for enrolling, subsisting, clothing, arming, paying, and transporting their troops while employed by the Government in aiding to suppress the recent insurrection against the United States; also, the settlement of claims for the loss of horses and equipages sustained by officers and enlisted men while in the military service, and for horses, mules, &c., lost while in service by impressment or contract.

Miscellaneous Claims Division.—The adjustment of claims for the appropriation of stores, the purchase of vessels, railroad stock, horses, and other means of transportation; the occupation of real estate, court-martial fees, travelling expenses, &c.; claims for compensation for vessels, cars, engines, &c., lost in the military service; claims growing out of the Oregon and Washington war of 1855 and 1856, and other Indian wars; claims of various descriptions under special acts of Congress, and claims not otherwise assigned for adjudication.

Collection Division.—Prepares accounts for suit against defaulting officers; answers all calls for information from the files of the office; examines all claims for bounty land and pensions granted to the soldiers of 1812, and certifies them to the Commissioner of Pensions.

THE FOURTH AUDITOR.

The Fourth Auditor examines, adjusts, and transfers to the Second Comptroller all accounts concerning the pay, expenditures, pensions, and prize-money of the Navy and the accounts of the Navy Department. The subordinate divisions of the Bureau are—

Record Prize Division.—Adjusts the prize-money accounts and prepares tabulated statements called for by Congress.

Navy Agents' Division.—Examines the accounts of the disbursements by the navy agents at Portsmouth, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and San Francisco.

Paymasters' Division.—Examines the accounts of paymasters, including mechanics' rolls.

THE FIFTH AUDITOR.

The Fifth Auditor examines, adjusts, and transfers to the First Comptroller the diplomatic and consular accounts, the expenditures of the Department of State, including all international commissions; the accounts of the internal revenue, the census, the Smithsonian Institution, and National Museum, and the contingent expenses of the Post-Office Department. There are three divisions:

Diplomatic and Consular Division.—Adjustment is made of the expenses of all diplomatic missions abroad for salaries, contingencies, and loss by exchange; consular accounts for fees, salaries, loss by exchange, contingent expenses, emoluments, salaries of interpreters and marshals, consular courts and prisons; the relief and passage of American seamen; the return of American seamen charged with crime; the rescuing of shipwrecked American seamen; estates of American citizens and seamen dying abroad; accounts of the bankers of the United States at London; awards of commissions, and expenses of international exhibitions; commissions, boundary-surveys, &c.

Internal Revenue Division.—Accounts of collectors of internal revenue, including salaries, contingent expenses, and compensation of storekeepers.

Miscellaneous Division.—All miscellaneous internal-revenue accounts, including salaries and expenses of agents, surveyors of distilleries, fees and expenses of gaugers, stamp agents' accounts, counsel fees, drawbacks, taxes refunded, redemption of stamps, accounts for the manufacture of paper and stamps, and for the salaries of the office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue; also accounts of the Census Office, Smithsonian Institution, and National Museum; contingent expenses of the Post-Office Department, and sundry accounts of the Department of State and the Patent Office.

THE SIXTH AUDITOR.

The Sixth Auditor examines and adjusts all accounts relating to the postal service, and his decisions on these are final, unless an appeal be taken in twelve months to the First Comptroller. He superintends the collection of all debts due the Post-Office Department, and all penalties imposed on postmasters and mail-contractors; directs suits and legal proceedings, civil and criminal, and takes all such measures as may be authorized by law to enforce the payment of moneys due to the Department. There are eight subordinate divisions, viz:

Collecting Division.—The collection of balances due from all postmasters, late postmasters, and contractors; also the payment of all balances due to late and present postmasters, and the adjustment and final settlement of postal accounts.

Stating Division.—The general postal accounts of postmasters and those of late postmasters, until fully stated, are in charge of this division.

Examining Division.—Receives and audits the quarterly accounts-current of all post-offices in the United States. It is divided into four subdivisions, viz, the opening-room, the stamp-rooms, the examining corps proper, and the error-rooms.

Money-Order Division.—Accounts of money-orders paid and received are examined, assorted, checked and filed; remittances are registered and checked; errors corrected.

Foreign Mail Division.—Has charge of the postal accounts with foreign governments, and the accounts with steamship companies for ocean transportation of the mails.

Registering Division.—Receives from the examining division the quarterly accounts-current of all the post-offices in the United States, re-examines and registers them, and exhibits in the register ending June 30 of each year the total amount of receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year.

Pay Division.—The adjustment and payment of all accounts for the transportation of the mails, whether carried by ocean-steamers, railroads, steamboats, or any mail-carrier; the accounts of the railway postal service, railway postal clerks, route-agents, and local agents, mail-depredations, special agents, free-delivery system, postage-stamps, postal-cards, envelopes, stamps, maps, wrapping-paper, twine, mail-bags, mail locks and keys, advertising, fees in suits on postal matters, and miscellaneous accounts.

Bookkeeping Division.—The duty of keeping the ledger-accounts of the Department, embracing postmasters, late postmasters, contractors, late contractors, and accounts of a general, special, and miscellaneous character.

THE TREASURER OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Treasurer of the United States is charged with the custody of all public moneys received into the Treasury at Washington, or in the sub-treasuries at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Charleston, Cincinnati, Saint Louis, and San Francisco, or in the depositories and depository banks; disburses all public moneys upon the warrants of the Secretary of the Treasury, and upon the warrants of the Postmaster-General; issues and redeems Treasury notes; is agent for the redemption of the circulating notes of national banks, is trustee of the bonds held for the security of the circulating notes of national banks, and of bonds held as security for public deposits; is custodian of Indian trust funds; is agent for paying the interest on the public debt, and for paying the salaries of the members of the House of Representatives. The subordinate divisions of the Treasury are—

Issue Division.—Issues are made of legal-tender notes, currency, coin-certificates, &c.

Redemption Division.—Coin-certificates, national-bank notes, fractional currency, &c., are redeemed, and generally destroyed by maceration.

Loan Division.—Bonds are issued, purchased, retired, cancelled, or converted.

Accounts Division.—The accounts of the Treasury, the sub-treasuries, and the national banks used as depositories are kept.

National-Bank Division.—Bonds held as security for national-bank circulation are examined notes issued, redeemed, and cancelled.

THE REGISTER OF THE TREASURY.

The Register of the Treasury is the official bookkeeper of the United States, and prepares a statement which shows every receipt and disbursement of the public money, which statement is transmitted annually to Congress by the Secretary of the Treasury. He signs and issues all the bonds and sends to the Treasurer of the United States schedules showing the names of persons entitled to receive interest thereon. He registers all warrants drawn by the Secretary of the Treasury upon the Treasurer of the United States; transmits statements of balances due to individuals after the settlement of their accounts by the First Comptroller, or the Commissioner of Customs, upon which payment is made; signs all ships' registers; records all marine documents issued to merchant vessels of the United States, and also prepares statements of the merchant vessels of the United States showing the number and tonnage of vessels built and of vessels lost at sea, wrecked, abandoned, and sold to foreigners. The work is distributed among five divisions, as follows:

Loan Division.—In this division registered and coupon bonds are issued, embracing the transfer of all registered bonds; the conversion of coupon into registered bonds; the ledger accounts with holders of registered bonds, and the preparation of schedules upon which interest on the registered bonds is paid.

Receipts and Expenditures Division.—The great account books of the United States are kept in this division which show the civil, diplomatic, internal-revenue, miscellaneous, and public-debt receipts and expenditures; also, statements of the warrants and drafts issued and certified transcripts of the accounts of delinquent revenue officers for suit.

Note and Coupon Division.—In this division redeemed bonds, paid interest-coupons, interest-checks, and interest-bearing notes are examined and registered.

Currency Division.—Treasury notes, legal-tenders, and fractional currency are examined, canceled, and the destruction thereof witnessed and recorded.

Tonnage Division.—Accounts are kept in this division showing the outstanding tonnage of the country, divided into the different classes according to its nature and employment and also showing its annual additions and losses.

THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

The Comptroller of the Currency has, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, the control of the national banks. The divisions of this Bureau are—

Issue Division.—The preparation and issue of national-bank circulation.

Redemption Division.—The redemption and destruction of notes issued by national banks.

Reports Division.—Examination and consolidation of the reports of national banks.

THE DIRECTOR OF THE MINT.

The Director of the Mint has general supervision of all mints and assay offices, reports their operations and condition to the Secretary of the Treasury, and prepares and lays before him the annual estimates for their support.

He prescribes regulations, approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, for the transaction of business at the mints and assay offices, the distribution of silver coin, and the charges to be collected of depositors. He receives for adjustment the monthly and quarterly accounts of superintendents and officers in charge of mints and assay offices, superintends their expenditures, and the annual settlements of the operative officers, and makes such special examinations as may be deemed necessary. All appointments, removals, and changes of clerks, assistants, and workmen in the mints and assay offices are submitted for his approval. The purchase of sliver bullion and allotment of its coinage at the mints are made through the office of the Director, and transfers of public moneys in the mints and assay offices, and advances from appropriations for the mint service, are made at his request.

The monthly coinage of mints is tested, and ores, bullion, and coins are assayed, at the Assay Laboratory under his charge. The values of the standard coins of foreign countries are annually estimated by the Director, and the collection of the statistics of the annual production of precious metals in the United States is assigned to him.

THE SOLICITOR.

The Solicitor of the Treasury is an officer in the Department of Justice, having a seal, and is required by law to take cognizance, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, of all frauds or attempted frauds upon the revenue, and exercises a general supervision over all legal measures for their prevention and detection; also to establish regulations, with the approbation of the Secretary of the Treasury, for the observance of collectors of the customs; and, with the approbation of the Attorney-General, for the observance of United States attorneys, marshals, and clerks respecting suits in which the United States is a party or interested. He is also empowered and directed to instruct the district attorneys, marshals, and clerks of the circuit and district courts in all matters and proceedings appertaining to suits in which the United States is interested, except those arising under the internal-revenue laws.

He is required to examine reports of collectors and district attorneys upon bonds delivered for suit; to inform the President of false reports of bonds delivered for suit, and supervise statements from district attorneys concerning suits, and those from marshals relating to proceedings on execution; also reports from clerks as to judgments and decrees; and is charged by the Attorney-General with all post-office litigation.

He also has charge of the secret-service employés engaged in the detection of persons counterfeiting the coin, currency, and public securities of the United States, and all other frauds on the Government. In addition to the duties prescribed by law, the Secretary of the Treasury refers to the Solicitor for opinion a very large number of cases arising in his Department relating to duties, remission of fines, penalties, and forfeitures, navigation and registry laws, steamboat-inspection acts, claims, &c.

THE COMMISSIONER OF INTERNAL REVENUE.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue makes all assessments and superintends the collection of all taxes; preparation of instructions for special-tax stamps, (formerly licenses,) forms and stamps of all kinds; and pays into the Treasury, daily, all moneys received by him.

The business of the bureau is transacted in seven divisions, viz:

Appointment Division.—Is charged with all matters pertaining to issuing of commissions, leaves of absence, office-discipline, assorting and disposition of the mail, registry and copying of all letters, with the care of the general files; and all matters relating to messengers, laborers, office-stationery, printing, advertising, blanks, and blank books for the bureau.

Law Division.—Is charged with all questions (except as hereinafter stated) relating to seizures, suits, abatement, and refunding claims, and those relating to special taxes, documentary stamp-taxes, taxes on incomes, legacies, and successions, and on dividends, &c.; also lands purchased for the United States on distraint, and the extension of time on distraints.

Tobacco Division.—Is charged with all matters (including special taxes) relating to tobacco, snuff, and cigars not in suit or in bond, stamp-tax on medicines and preparations.

Division of Accounts.—Has charge of the examination and reference of the revenue and disbursing accounts, the estimates of collectors and of their applications for special allowances, and other matters relative to advertising and the purchase of blank books, newspapers, and stationery for collectors, revenue agents, &c.; also has charge of the examination and reference of the monthly bills of revenue-agents, gaugers, and distillery-surveyors, and of all miscellaneous claims presented to this bureau arising under any appropriation made for carrying into effect the various internal-revenue laws, (excepting claims for abatement, refunding, and drawback,) and the preparation of estimates for appropriations by Congress, together with the preparation of the statistical records of the bureau.

Division of Distilled Spirits.—This division is charged with the supervision of all matters pertaining to distilleries, distilled spirits, fermented liquors, wines, rectification, gaugers' fees and instruments, approval of bonded warehouses, and the assignment of storekeepers.

Stamp Division.—This division is charged with the supervision of the preparation, safe-keeping, issue, and redemption of stamps for distilled spirits, tobacco, snuff, and cigars, fermented liquors, special taxes, documentary and proprietary stamps, and the keeping of all accounts pertaining thereto, also the supervision of all business with Adams Express Company, and the preparation, custody, and issue of steel dies for cancelling stamps.

Division of Assessments.—Is charged with the preparation of the assessment-lists, with the consideration of all reports and returns, except those received from distillers, rectifiers, and brewers, affording data from which assessments may be made; also, with keeping the bonded account, and with the consideration of claims for the allowance of drawback.

Division of Revenue Agents.—Is charged with general supervision, under the direction of the Commissioner, of the work of revenue agents throughout the country, examination of their reports and accounts, and the measures taken for the discovery and suppression of violations of internal-revenue law.

THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE COAST AND GEODETIC SURVEY.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey is charged with the survey of the coasts of the United States and rivers emptying into the ocean and the Gulf of Mexico, and with the interior triangulation of the country, including that of connecting the surveys of the Eastern and Western coasts, determining geographical positions in latitude and longitude, and furnishing points of reference for State surveys.

Besides the annual reports to Congress the Survey publishes maps and charts of our coasts and harbors, books of sailing directions, and annual tide tables, computed in advance, for all ports of the United States.

SUPERVISING SURGEON-GENERAL, U. S., (MERCANTILE,) MARINE-HOSPITAL SERVICE.

The Supervising Surgeon-General is charged with the supervision of "all matters connected with the Marine-Hospital Service and with the disbursement of the fund for the relief of sick and disabled seamen" employed on the vessels of the mercantile marine of the oceans, lakes, and rivers, and of the Revenue-Cutter Service, the general superintendence of the Marine Hospitals, the purveying of supplies, the orders, details and assignment of medical officers, and the examination of property returns.

SUPERVISING INSPECTOR-GENERAL OF STEAM-VESSELS.

The Supervising Inspector-General superintends the administration of the steamboat inspection laws, presides at the meeting of the Board of Supervising Inspectors, receives all reports and examines all accounts of inspectors.

The Board of Supervising Inspectors meets in Washington annually, on the third Wednesday in January, to establish regulations for carrying out the provisions of the steamboat inspection laws.

GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT OF THE LIFE-SAVING SERVICE.

It is the duty of the General Superintendent to supervise the organization and government of the employés of the service; to prepare and revise regulations therefor as may be necessary; to fix the number and compensation of surfmen to be employed at the several stations within the provisions of law; to supervise the expenditure of all appropriations made for the support and maintenance of the Life-Saving Service; to examine the accounts of disbursements of the district superintendents, and to certify the same to the accounting officers of the Treasury Department; to examine the property returns of the keepers of the several stations, and see that all public property thereto belonging is properly accounted for; to acquaint himself, as far as practicable, with all means employed in foreign countries which may seem to advantageously affect the interest of the service, and to cause to be properly investigated all plans, devices, and inventions for the improvement of life-saving apparatus for use at the stations, which may appear to be meritorious and available; to exercise supervision over the selection of sites for new stations the establishment of which may be authorized by law, or for old ones the removal of which may be made necessary by the encroachment of the sea or by other causes; to prepare and submit to the Secretary of the Treasury estimates for the support of the service; to collect and compile the statistics of marine disasters contemplated by the act of June 20, 1874, and to submit to the Secretary of the Treasury, for transmission to Congress, an annual report of the expenditures of the moneys appropriated for the maintenance of the Life-Saving Service, and of the operations of said service during the year.

THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

The Secretary of War performs such duties as the President may enjoin upon him concerning the military service, and has the controlling supervision of the purchase of Army supplies, transportation, &c., and of all expenditures made under the appropriations for the support of the Army, and for such of a civil nature as may by law be placed under his administration.

He is required to provide for the taking of meteorological observations at the military stations in the interior of the Continent, and at other points in the States and Territories; arranges the course of studies at the Military Academy; submits to Congress all estimates for public buildings and grounds in charge of the Chief of Engineers, and has supervision of all expenditures of appropriations for repair or improvement of the public buildings and grounds in the District of Columbia in charge of the Chief of Engineers. He is charged with the purchase of such real estate as in his judgment is suitable and necessary for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions for national cemeteries; has direction of the construction of piers or cribs by owners of saw-mills on the Mississippi River; has the management of, and is required to keep in repair the Louisville and Portland Canal; makes rules respecting bids for contracts, and is required to cause sunken vessels obstructing navigation to be removed. He exercises supervision of the disbursements by Army officers; has the control and management of the National Park forming a part of Mackinac Island in the State of Michigan, and has direction of the expenditure of the appropriation for the Mississippi River Commission.

He submits annually to Congress a statement of the appropriations for the preceding fiscal year for the Department of War under each specified head of appropriation, the amount expended and remaining on hand, together with estimates of the probable demands that may remain on each appropriation.

He also submits to Congress at each session, in connection with reports of examinations and surveys of rivers and harbors, full statements of all facts tending to show the extent to which the general commerce of the country will be promoted by the several works of improvement contemplated by such examinations and surveys, together with numerous other reports relating to the various matters of which he has supervision.

The Chief Clerk receives in the Secretary's Office the public mail and correspondence; distributes, records, and answers it; keeps the accounts of appropriations and estimates; is the medium of communication between the Secretary and officers of the Department, and has the general superintendence of the Department.

MILITARY BUREAUS OF THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

The chiefs of the military bureaus of the War Department are officers of the Regular Army of the United States, and a part of the military establishment, viz:

The Adjutant-General promulgates the orders of the President and the General commanding the Army, and conducts correspondence between the General and the Army, receives reports, issues commissions and resignations, superintends recruiting and the military prison at Leavenworth, has charge of the papers concerning the enlistment and drafting of volunteers, receives all muster-rolls, and furnishes consolidated reports of the entire Army, and has charge, under the General, of details affecting the discipline of the Army.

The Inspector-General, with his assistants, inspect and report upon the personnel and the materiel of the Army, at all posts, stations, and depots, and give instruction relative to the correct interpretation of doubtful points of law, regulations, and orders, and upon other mooted questions regarding the proper performance of military duties; and they also inspect the money accounts of all disbursing officers of the Army.

The Quartermaster-General, aided by assistants, provides quarters and transportation for the Army, clothing, camp and garrison equipage, horses and mules, forage, wagons, stoves, stationery, fuel, lights, straw, hospitals, and medicines; he pays the expenses of guides, spies, and interpreters, and veterinary surgeons; pays the funeral expenses of officers and men, and is in charge of the national cemeteries.

The Commissary-General has administrative control of the Subsistence Department—of the disbursement of its appropriations; the providing of rations and their issue to the Army; the purchase and distribution of articles authorized to be kept for sale to officers and enlisted men; and the adjustment of accounts and returns for subsistence funds and supplies, preliminary to their settlement by the proper accounting officers of the Treasury.

The Surgeon-General, under the immediate direction of the Secretary of War, is charged with the administrative duties of the Medical Department; the designation of the stations of medical officers, and the issuing of all orders and instructions relating to their professional duties. He directs as to the selection, purchase, and distribution of the medical supplies of the Army. The Army Medical Museum and the official publications of the Surgeon-General's Office are also under his direct control.

The Paymaster-General and his assistants pay the Army, also Second Auditor's Treasury certificates, and keep a record of said payments.

The Chief of Engineers commands the Corps of Engineers, which is charged with all duties relating to fortifications, whether permanent or temporary; with torpedoes for coast defence; with all works for the attack and defence of places; with all military bridges, and with such surveys as may be required for these objects, or the movement of armies in the field. It is also charged with the harbor and river improvements; with military and geographical explorations and surveys; with the survey of the lakes; and with any other engineer work specially assigned to the Corps by acts of Congress or orders of the President.

The Chief of Ordnance commands the Ordnance Department, the duties of which consist in providing, preserving, distributing, and accounting for every description of artillery, small-arms, and all the munitions of war which may be required for the fortresses of the country, the armies in the field, and for the whole body of the militia of the Union. In these duties are comprised that of determining the general principles of construction and of prescribing in detail the models and forms of all military weapons employed in war. They comprise also the duty of prescribing the regulations for the proof and inspection of all these weapons, for maintaining uniformity and economy in their fabrication, for insuring their good quality, and for their preservation and distribution; and for carrying into effect the general purposes here stated large annual appropriations are made, and in order to fulfil these purposes, extensive operations are conducted at the national armories, arsenals, and ordnance depots.

The Judge-Advocate General and his assistant receive, review, and have recorded the proceedings of the courts-martial, courts of inquiry, and military commissions of the Armies of the United States, and furnish reports and opinions on such questions of law and other matters as may be referred to the Bureau of Military Justice by the Secretary of War.

The Chief Signal Officer superintends the instruction of officers and men in signal duties, supervises the preparation of maps and charts, and has the reports from the numerous stations received at Washington consolidated and published.

THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

THE SECRETARY OF THE NAVY.

The Secretary of the Navy performs such duties as the President of the United States, who is Commander-in-Chief, may assign him, and has the general superintendence of construction, manning, armament, equipment, and employment of vessels of war.

The Chief Clerk has general charge of the records and correspondence of the Secretary's Office.

NAVAL BUREAUS OF THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

The chiefs of the naval bureaus of the Navy Department are officers of the United States Navy, and a part of the naval establishment, viz:

The Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks has charge of the navy-yards and naval stations, their construction and repair; he purchases timber and other materials.

The Chief of the Bureau of Navigation supplies vessels of war with maps, charts, chronometers, barometers, flags, signal-lights, glasses, and stationery; he has charge of the publication of charts, the Nautical Almanac, and surveys; and the Naval Observatory and Hydrographic Office at Washington are under the direction of this Bureau.

The Chief of the Bureau of Ordnance has charge of the manufacture of naval ordnance and ammunition; the armament of vessels of war; the arsenals and magazines; the trials and tests of ordnance, small-arms, and ammunition; also of the torpedo-service, and torpedo-station at Newport, and experimental battery at Annapolis.

The Chief of the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing has charge of all contracts and purchases for the supply of provisions, water for cooking and drinking purposes, clothing, and small stores for the use of the Navy.

The Chief of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery superintends everything relating to medicines, medical stores, surgical instruments, and hospital supplies required for the treatment of the sick and wounded of the Navy and the Marine Corps.

The Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair has charge of dry-docks and of all vessels undergoing repairs; the designing, building, and fitting-out of vessels, and the armor of iron-clads.

The Chief of the Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting has charge of the equipment of all vessels of war, and the supply to their sails, rigging, anchors, and fuel; also of the recruiting of sailors of the various grades.

The Engineer-in-Chief directs the designing, fitting-out, running, and repairing of the steam marine-engines, boilers and appurtenances, used on vessels of war, and the workshops in the navy-yards where they are made and repaired.

The Judge-Advocate-General receives, revises, and records the proceedings of courts-martial, courts of inquiry, boards for the examination of officers for retirement and promotion in the naval service; and furnishes reports and opinions on such questions of law and other matters as may be referred to him by the Secretary of the Navy.

THE DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.

THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

The Secretary of the Interior is charged with the supervision of public business relating to patents for inventions; pension and bounty-lands; the public lands, including mines; the Indians; education; railroads; the public surveys; the census, when directed by law; the custody and distribution of public documents; and certain hospitals and eleemosynary institutions in the District of Columbia. He also exercises certain powers and duties in relation to the Territories of the United States.

THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

The Assistant Secretary of the Interior performs such duties as are prescribed by the Secretary or required by law, aiding in the general administration of the affairs of the Department. In the absence of the Secretary, he acts as the head of the Department.

The Chief Clerk has the general supervision of the clerks and employés, of the order of business, records and correspondence, and contingent expenditures in the Secretary's Office, also the superintendence of the Interior Department Building.

COMMISSIONER OF PATENTS.

The Commissioner of Patents is charged with the administration of the patent-laws, and supervises all matters relating to the issue of letters-patent for new and useful discoveries, inventions, and improvements. He is aided by an Assistant Commissioner, three Examiners-in-Chief, an Examiner of Interferences, an Examiner of Trade-marks, and twenty-five Principal Examiners.

COMMISSIONER OF PENSIONS.

The Commissioner of Pensions supervises the examination and adjudication of all claims arising under laws passed by Congress granting bounty-land or pension on account of service in the Army or Navy during the Revolutionary War and all subsequent wars in which the United States has been engaged. He is aided by two Deputy Commissioners and a Medical Referee.

COMMISSIONER OF THE GENERAL LAND-OFFICE.

The Commissioner of Public Lands is charged with the survey, management, and sale of the public domain, and the issuing of titles therefor, whether derived from confirmations of grants made by former Governments, by sales, donations, or grants for schools, railroads, military bounties, or public improvements. The Land-Office audits its own accounts.

COMMISSIONER OF INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has charge of the several tribes of Indians in the States and Territories. He issues instructions to, and receives reports from, Agents, Special Agents, and Traders; superintends the purchase, transportation, and distribution of presents and annuities; and reports, annually, the relations of the Government with each tribe.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION.

The duties of the Commissioner of Education are to collect such statistics and facts as shall show the condition and progress of education in the several States and Territories, and to diffuse such information respecting the organization and management of schools and school systems, and methods of teaching, as shall aid the people of the United States in the establishment and maintenance of efficient school systems, and otherwise promote the cause of education throughout the country.

COMMISSIONER OF RAILROADS.

The Commissioner of Railroads is charged with prescribing a system of reports to be rendered to him by the railroad companies whose roads are in whole or in part west, north, or south of the Missouri River, and to which the United States have granted any loan of credit or subsidy in lands or bonds; to examine the books, accounts, and property of said companies, to see that the laws relating to said companies are enforced; and to assist the Government Directors of any of said railroad companies in all matters which come under their cognizance, whenever they may officially request such assistance.

DIRECTOR OF THE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

The Director of the Geological Survey has charge of the classification of the public lands, and examination of the geological structure, mineral resources, and products of the national domain.

SUPERINTENDENT OF THE CENSUS.

The Superintendent of the Census supervises the taking of the census of the United States every tenth year, and the subsequent arrangement, compilation, and publication of the statistics collected.

THE POST-OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

THE POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The Postmaster-General has the direction and management of the Post-Office Department. He appoints all officers and employés of the Department, except the three Assistant Postmasters-General, who are appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; appoints all postmasters whose compensation does not exceed one thousand dollars; makes postal treaties with foreign Governments, by and with the advice and consent of the President, awards and executes contracts, and directs the management of the domestic and foreign mail service.

THE FIRST ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The First Assistant Postmaster-General has charge of the Appointment Office, which includes five divisions, viz:

Appointment Division.—The duty of preparing all cases for the establishment, discontinuance, and change of name or site of post-offices, and for the appointment of all postmasters, agents, postal clerks, mail-messengers, and Department employés, and attending to all correspondence consequent thereto.

Bond Division.—The duty of receiving and recording appointments; sending out papers for postmasters and their assistants to qualify; receiving, entering, and filing their bonds and oaths; and issuing the commissions for postmasters.

Salary and Allowance Division.—The duty of readjusting the salaries of postmasters and the consideration of allowances for rent, fuel, lights, clerk hire, and other expenditures.

Free Delivery.—The duty of preparing cases for the inauguration of the system in cities, the appointment of letter-carriers, and the general supervision of the system.

Blank Agency Division.—The duty of sending out the blanks, wrapping-paper, and twine letter-balanees, and cancelling stamps to offices entitled to receive the same.

THE SECOND ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The Second Assistant Postmaster-General has charge of the Contract Office, mail eqiupments, &c., including the following three divisions:

Contract Division.—The arrangement of the mail service of the United States, and placing the same under contract, embracing all correspondence and proceedings respecting the frequency of trips, mode of conveyance, and times of departures and arrivals on all the routes, the course of the mails between the different sections of the country, the points of mail distribution, and the regulations for the government of the domestic mail service. It prepares the advertisements for mail proposals, receives the bids, and has charge of the annual and occasional mail lettings, and the adjustment and execution of the contracts. All applications for the establishment or alteration of mail arrangements and for mail messengers should be sent to this office. All claims should be submitted to it for transportation service not under contract. From this office all postmasters at the end of routes receive the statement of mail arrangements prescribed for the respective routes. It reports weekly to the Auditor all contracts executed, and all orders affecting the accounts for mail transportation; prepares the statistical exhibits of the mail service, and the reports to Congress of the mail lettings, giving a statement of each bid; also of the contracts made, the new service originated, the curtailments ordered, and the additional allowances granted within the year.

Inspection Division.—The duty of receiving and examining the registers of the arrivals and departures of the mails, certificates of the service of route-agents, and reports of mail failures; noting the delinquencies of contractors, and preparing cases thereon for the action of the Postmaster-General, furnishing blanks for mail registers, reports of mail failures, and other duties which may be necessary to secure a faithful and exact performance of all mail service.

Mail Equipment Division.—The issuing of mail locks and keys, mail pouches and sacks, and the construction of mail-bag catchers.

THE THIRD ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The Third Assistant Postmaster-General has charge of the Finance Office, &c., embracing the following four divisions:

Division of Finance.—The duty of issuing drafts and warrants in payment of balances reported by the Auditor to be due to mail contractors or other persons; the superintendence of the collection of revenue at depository, draft, and depositing offices, and the accounts between the Department and the Treasurer and Assistant Treasurers and special designated depositories of the United States. This division receives all accounts, monthly or quarterly, of the depository and draft offices, and certificates of deposit from depositing offices.

Division of Postage-stamps and Stamped Envelopes.—The issuing of postage-stamps, stamped envelopes, newspaper wrappers, and postal cards; also, the supplying of postmasters with envelopes for their official use, and registered-package envelopes and seals.

Division of Registered Letters.—The duty of preparing instructions for the guidance of postmasters relative to registered letters, and all correspondence connected therewith; also, the compilation of statistics as to the transactions of the business.

Division of Dead Letters.—The duty of ascertaining and correcting errors of postmasters in the treatment of mail matter; examination and forwarding or return of all letters which have failed of delivery; inspection and return to country of origin of undelivered foreign matter; recording and restoration of all letters and parcels which are unmailable or unclaimed; care and disposition of all money, negotiable paper and other valuable artictes found in unclaimed matter; all correspondence relating to these subjects.

The Superintendent of Foreign Mails has charge of all foreign postal arrangements, and the supervision of the ocean mail steamship service.

The Superintendent of the Money-order System has the general supervision and control of the postal money-order system throughout the United States, and the supervision of the international money-order correspondence with foreign countries.

THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The Attorney-General is the head of the Department of Justice, and the chief law officer of the Government. He represents the United States in matters involving legal questions; he gives his advice and opinion on questions of law when they are required by the President, or by the heads of the other Executive Departments on questions of law arising upon the administration of their respective Departments; he exercises a general superintendence and direction over United States Attorneys and Marshals in all judicial districts in the States and Territories; and he provides special counsel for the United States whenever required by any Department of the Government.

He is assisted by a Chief Clerk and other clerks and employés in the executive management of the business of the Department.

The Law Clerk, who is also an Examiner of Titles, assists the Attorney-General in the investigation of legal questions and in the preparation of opinions.

THE SOLICITOR-GENERAL.

The Solicitor-General assists the Attorney-General in the performance of his general duties, and by special provision of law in the case of a vacancy in the office of Attorney-General, or in his absence, exercises all these duties. Except when the Attorney-General in particular cases otherwise directs, the Attorney-General and Solicitor-General conduct and argue all cases in the Supreme Court, and in the Court of Claims, in which the United States are interested; and, when the Attorney-General so directs, any such case in any court of the United States may be conducted and argued by the Solicitor-General; and in the same way the Solicitor-General may be sent by the Attorney-General to attend to the interests of the United States in any Statec ourt, or elsewhere.

THE ASSISTANT ATTORNEYS-GENERAL.

Two Assistant Attorneys-General assist the Attorney-General and the Solicitor-General in the performance of their duties. One assists in the argument of causes in the Supreme Court and in the preparation of legal opinions; the other is charged with the conduct of the defence of the United States in the Court of Claims.

Under the act of 1870 the different law officers of the Executive Departments exercise their functions under the supervision and control of the Attorney-General. They are: the Assistant Attorney-General for the Department of the Interior; the Assistant Attorney-General for the Post-Office Department; the Solicitor of the Treasury; and the Solicitor of Internal Revenue, Treasury Department; the Naval Solicitor, Navy Department; and the Examiner of Claims, State Department.

THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

THE COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE.

The Commissioner of Agriculture is required to collect and diffuse useful information on subjects connected with agriculture. He is to acquire and preserve in his office all information he can obtain concerning agriculture by means of books and correspondence, and by practical and scientific experiments, the collection of statistics, and other appropriate means; to collect new and valuable seeds and plants; to learn by actual cultivation such of them as may require such tests; to propagate such as may be worthy of propagation, and to distribute them among agriculturists.

The Statistician.—He collects reliable information as to the condition, prospects, and results of the cereal, cotton, and other crops, by the instrumentality of four correspondents in each county of every State; this information is gathered at stated periods of each month, carefully studied, estimated, tabulated, and published.

The Entomologist.—He obtains information with regard to insects injurious to vegetation; investigates the character of insects sent him, to point out their modes of infliction and the means by which their depredations may be avoided; and arranges specimens of their injuries and nest architecture.

The Botanist.—He receives botanical contributions, and after making desirable selections for the National Herbarium, distributes the duplicate plants among foreign and domestic scientific societies, institutions of learning, and botanists; and answers inquiries of botanico-agricultural character.

The Chemist.—He makes analyses of natural fertilizers, vegetable products, and other materials which pertain to the interests of agriculture. Applications are constantly made from all portions of the country for the analysis of soils, minerals, liquids, and manures.

The Microscopist.—He makes original investigations, mostly relating to the habits of parasitic fungoid plants, which are frequently found on living plants and animals, producing sickly growth and in many cases premature death.

The Propagating Garden.—Large numbers of exotic, utilizable, and economic plants are propagated and distributed. The orange family is particularly valuable, and the best commercial varieties are propagated and distributed to the greatest practicable extent.

The Seed Division.—Seeds are purchased in this and foreign countries of reliable firms, whose guarantee of good quality and genuineness cannot be questioned; they are packed at the Department, and distributed to applicants in all parts of the country.

The Library.—Exchanges are made, by which the library receives reports of the leading agricultural, pomological, and meteorological societies of the world.

GEORGIA.

SENATORS.

Joseph E. Brown, of Atlanta, Georgia, was born in Pickens District, South Carolina, April 15, 1821; when he was a boy, his father moved to Georgia; he was educated at Calhoun Academy, South Carolina; he taught school in Canton, Georgia; he was admitted to the bar in August, 1845; he afterwards graduated in Yale College Law School, and returned to Georgia and commenced the practice of law in 1846; in 1849 he was elected to the State Senate; in 1852 he was a Pierce Elector; in 1855 he was elected Judge of the Superior Courts of the Blue Ridge Circuit; in 1857 he was elected Governor by the Democratic party over Hon. Benjamin H. Hill; re-elected in 1859 over Hon. Warren Aiken. He was a Secessionist in 1860, and was active and energetic as a war Governor after the State had seceded. In 1861 he was again elected Governor over the Hon. Eugenius A. Nisbet; in 1863 he was again a candidate for Governor, and opposed by Hon. Joshua Hill, an original Union man, and Hon. Timothy Furlow, an original Secessionist; Governor Brown was elected over both by a handsome majority. During the war, Governor Brown opposed the policy of President Davis on the conscript act, but threw no obstacles in the way of the execution of the law by the Confederate Government; he simply discussed with the President the constitutionality of the measure. After the surrender he advocated acquiescence in the reconstruction measures, and became very unpopular on account of his recommendation that the people acquiesce and carry them out in good faith. As the Democratic party opposed these measures, as a reconstructionist he voted for General Grant, who favored them. During the Legislature of 1868 he was nominated by the Republicans for United States Senator, and defeated by Hon. Joshua Hill, which was the only defeat of his life; in every instance when he has been a candidate before the people he has been successful. After his defeat for Senator he was appointed by Governor Bullock Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Georgia, which position he held till December, 1870, when he resigned and accepted the presidency of the Western Atlantic Railroad Company. He then devoted his life to business pursuits, being a candidate for no office, but acting with the Democratic party since 1872 upon the reconstruction platform. When General Gordon resigned his position in the Senate Governor Brown was appointed to fill the vacancy; he was afterwards elected over General A. R. Lawton, his opponent, by over a two-thirds majority of the Legislature. He was re-elected in 1884 by the unanimous vote of the Legislature with the exception of a ingle vote cast for General Robert Toombs. His term of service will expire March 3, 1891.

Alfred Holt Colquitt, of Atlanta, was born in Walton County, Georgia, April 20, 1824; graduated at Princeton College, New Jersey, in the class of 1844; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1845; served as a staff officer, with the rank of Major, during the Mexican war; was elected and served as a member of the Thirty-third Congress; was a member of the Georgia Legislature in 1859; was a Presidential Elector for the State at large on the Breckinridge ticket in 1860; was a member of the Secession Convention of the State of Georgia; entered the Confederate service as Captain; was subsequently chosen Colonel of the Sixth Georgia Infantry; served as a Brigadier-General, and was commissioned as a Major-General; was elected Governor of the State of Georgia in 1876 for four years, and was re-elected under a new constitution for two years; at the expiration of his term as Governor, he was elected to the United States Senate as a Democrat, to succeed Pope Barrow, Democrat, for the full term commencing March 4, 1883. The Library of Congress occupies the entire western projection of the central Capitol building. The original library was commenced in 1800, but was destroyed with the Capitol in 1814 during the war with England. It was afterwards replenished by the purchase of the library belonging to Ex-President Jefferson, by Congress, embracing about 7,000 volumes. In 1851 it contained 55,000 volumes, and by an accidental fire in that year the whole collection was destroyed, except 20,000 volumes. It was rebuilt in 1852, when $75,000 was, appropriated in one sum to replenish the collection. The new library halls, three in number are fitted up with ornamental iron cases and iron ceilings, the whole being perfectly fireproof. The library is recruited by regular appropriations made by Congress, which average about $11,000 per annum; also by additions received by copyright, by exchanges, and from the Smithsonian Institution. The library of the Smithsonian Institution has now been deposited in the Library of Congress, where it is secured against loss by fire. This collection is especially rich in scientific works, embracing the largest assemblage of the transactions of learned societies which exists in the country. The library was also enriched by the presentation to the Government, in 1882, of the large private library of Dr. Joseph M. Toner, of Washington, numbering over 27,000 volumes, besides nearly as many pamphlets. The donor, whose public spirit is worthy of emulation, adds to the collection annually. The library of copyright books was removed here from the Patent Office in 1870, and all copyrights issued in the United States are now recorded in the books deposited in the office of the Librarian of Congress. The present number of volumes in the whole library, including law books, which are kept in a separate library room under the Supreme Court, is over 565,000, besides about 180,000 pamphlets. A new building to contain its overflowing stores of learning and to afford room for their proper arrangement has become a necessity, and has been provided for by the legislation of the Forty-ninth Congress. This collection is very rich in history, political science, jurisprudence, and in books, pamphlets, and periodicals of American publication, or relating in any way to America. At the same time the library is a universal one in its range, no department of literature or science being unrepresented. The public are privileged to use the books in the library, while members of Congress and about thirty official members of the Government only can take away books. The library is open every day (Sundays excepted) during the session of Congress from 9 a. m. to the hour of adjournment. In the recess of Congress it is open between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

THE CAPITOL.

The Capitol fronts the east, and stands on a plateau eighty-eight feet above the level of the Potomac, in latitude 38° 53′ 20″.4 north and longitude 77° 00′ 35″.7 west from Greenwich.

The southeast corner-stone of the original building was laid on the 18th of September, 1793, by President Washington, aided by the Freemasons of Maryland. It was constructed of sandstone, painted white, from an island in Aquia Creek, Virginia, under the direction of Stephen H. Hallett, James Hoban, Geo. Hadfield, and afterwards of B. H. Latrobe, architects. The north wing was finished in 1800 and the south wing in 1811, a wooden passage-way connecting them. On the 24th of August, 1814, the interior of both wings was destroyed by British incendiaries, but they were immediately rebuilt. In 1818, the central portion of the building was commenced under the architectural superintendence of Charles Bulfinch, and the original building was finally completed in 1827. Its cost, including the grading of the grounds, alterations, and repairs, up to 1827, was $2,433,844.13.

The corner-stone to the extensions of the Capitol was laid on the 4th of July, 1851, by President Fillmore, Daniel Webster officiating as orator of the day. Thomas U. Walter was architect, and subsequently Edward Clark, under whose direction the work was completed in November, 1867. The material used for the extensions is white marble from the quarries at Lee, Massachusetts, with white marble columns from the quarries at Cockeysville, Maryland.

The dome of the original central building was constructed of wood, but was removed in 1856 to be replaced by the present stupendous structure of cast iron, which was completed in 1865. The entire weight of iron used is 8,909,200 pounds.

The main building is three hundred and fifty-two feet four inches long in front and one hundred and twenty-one feet six inches deep, with a portico one hundred and sixty feet wide, of twenty-four columns on the east, and a projection of eighty-three feet on the west, embracing a recessed portico of ten coupled columns. The extensions are placed at the north and south ends of the main building, with connecting corridors forty-four feet long by fifty-six feet wide, flanked by columns. Each extension is one hundred and forty-two feet eight inches in front, by two hundred and thirty-eight feet ten inches deep, with porticos of twenty-two columns each on their eastern fronts, and with porticos of ten columns on their ends and on their western fronts. The entire length of the building is seven hundred and fifty-one feet four inches, and the greatest depth, including porticos and steps, is three hundred and twenty-four feet. The area covered by the entire building is one hundred and fifty-three thousand one hundred and twelve square feet.

The dome is crowned by a bronze statue of Freedom, modeled by Crawford, which is nineteen feet six inches high, and which weighs 14,985 pounds. The height of the dome above the base-line of the east front is two hundred and eighty-seven feet five inches; the height from the top of the balustrade of the building is two hundred and seventeen feet eleven inches; and the greatest diameter at the base is one hundred and thirty-five feet five inches.

The rotunda is ninety-five feet six inches in diameter, and its height from the floor to the top of the canopy is one hundred and eighty feet three inches.

The Senate Chamber is one hundred and thirteen feet three inches in length, by eighty feet three inches in width, and thirty-six feet in height. Its galleries will accommodate one thousand persons.

The Representatives' Hall is one hundred and thirty-nine feet in length, by ninety-three feet in width, and thirty-six feet in height.

The Supreme Court room was occupied by the Senate until December, 1859, the court having previously occupied the room beneath, now used as a law library.

The Library of Congress was burned by the British in 1814, and was partially destroyed by an accidental fire in 1851. The present centre hall was finished in 1853, and the wing halls were finished in 1867.

DEPARTMENT DUTIES.

THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

The Secretary of State is charged, under the direction of the President, with the duties appertaining to correspondence with the public ministers and consuls of the United States, and with the representatives of foreign powers accredited to the United States; and to negotiations of whatever character relating to the foreign affairs of the United States. He is also the medium of correspondence between the President and the chief executive of the several States of the United States; he has the custody of the great seal of the United States, and countersigns and affixes such seal to all executive proclamations, to various commissions, and to warrants for pardon, and the extradition of fugitives from justice. He is regarded as the first in rank among the members of the Cabinet. He is also the custodian of the treaties made with foreign states, and of the laws of the United States. He grants and issues passports, and exequaturs to foreign consuls in the United States are issued through his office. He publishes the laws and resolutions of Congress, amendments to the Constitution, and proclamations declaring the admission of new States into the Union. He is also charged with certain annual reports to Congress relating to commercial information received from diplomatic and consular officers of the United States.

THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE

becomes the Acting Secretary of State in the absence of the Secretary. Under the organization of the Department the Assistant Secretary, Second Assistant Secretary, and Third Assistant Secretary are respectively charged with the immediate supervision of all correspondence with the diplomatic and consular officers in the countries named in Divisions A, B, and C, of those bureaus, and of the miscellaneous correspondence relating thereto, and, in general, they are entrusted with the preparation of the correspondence upon any questions arising in the course of the public business that may be assigned to them by the Secretary.

THE CHIEF CLERK.

The Chief Clerk has the general supervision of the clerks and employés and of the business of the Department.

BUREAU OF INDEXES AND ARCHIVES.

The duty of opening the mails; preparing, registering, and indexing daily all correspondence to and from the Department, both by subjects and persons; the preservation of the archives; answering calls of the Secretary, Assistant Secretaries, Chief Clerk, and chiefs of bureaus for correspondence, &c.

DIPLOMATIC BUREAU.

Diplomatic correspondence and miscellaneous correspondence relating thereto.

Division A.—Correspondence with France, Germany, and Great Britain, and miscellaneous correspondence relating to those countries.

Division B.—Correspondence with Argentine Republic, Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Chili, Denmark, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Paraguay, Peru, Portugal, Russia, and Uruguay, and miscellaneous correspondence relating to those countries.

Division C.—Correspondence with Barbary States, Bolivia, Central America, Colombia, China, Ecuador, Egypt, Fiji Islands, Friendly and Navigator's Islands, Hawaiian Islands, Hayti, Japan, Liberia, Madagascar, Mexico, Muscat, San Domingo, Siam, Society Islands, Turkey, Venezuela, and other countries, not assigned, and miscellaneous correspondence relating to those countries.

CONSULAR BUREAU.

Correspondence with consulates, and miscellaneous correspondence relating thereto.

There are three divisions, A, B, and C, with certain countries allotted to each, as in the Diplomatic Bureau.

BUREAU OF ACCOUNTS.

Custody and disbursement of appropriations under direction of the Department; charged with custody of indemnity funds and bonds; care of the building and property of the Department.

ROLLS AND LIBRARY.

Custody of the rolls, treaties, &c.; promulgation of the laws, &c.; care and superintendence of the library and public documents; care of the revolutionary archives, and of papers relating to international commissions.

STATISTICS.

Preparation of the reports upon Commercial Relations.

EXAMINER OF CLAIMS.

[From the Department of Justice.]

The examination of questions of law and other matters submitted by the Secretary or the Assistant Secretary, and of all claims.

THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

The Secretary of the Treasury has charge of the national finances. He digests and prepares plans for the improvement and management of the revenue and support of the public credit; he superintends the collection of the revenue, and prescribes the forms of keeping and rendering all public accounts, and making returns; grants all warrants for money to be issued from the Treasury in pursuance of appropriations by law; makes report and gives information to either branch of Congress, as may be required, respecting all matters referred to him by the Senate or House of Representatives, and generally performs all such services relative to the finances as he is directed to perform; controls the erection of public buildings, the coinage and printing of money, the collection of commercial statistics, the marine hospitals, the revenue-cutter service, the life-saving service. Under his superintendence the Light-House Board discharges the duties relative to the construction, illumination, inspection, and superintendence of light-houses, light-vessels, beacons, buoys, sea-marks, and their appendages; makes provision for the payment of the public debt under enactments of Congress, and publishes statements concerning it, and submits to Congress, at the commencement of each session, estimates of the probable receipts, and of the required expenditures, for the ensuing fiscal year.

The routine work of the Secretary's office is transacted in the following offices: Division of Appointments; Division of Warrants, Estimates, and Appropriations; Division of Public Moneys; Division of Customs; Division of Internal Revenue and Navigation; Division of Loans and Currency; Division of Revenue Marine; Division of Stationery, Printing, and Blanks; Division of Special Agent; and two disbursing clerks pay the salaries and compensation of the officers and employés of the Department, and disburse upon the orders of the Secretary, such moneys as have been appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Department.

ASSISTANT SECRETARIES OF THE TREASURY.

One of the two Assistant Secretaries has the general supervision of all the work assigned to the Divisions of Customs, Special Agents, Revenue Marine, Internal Revenue and Navigation, and to the offices of Supervising Architect, General Superintendent Life-Saving Service, Supervising Surgeon-General of the Marine Hospital Service, Bureau of Statistics, and Supervising Inspector-General of Steamboats; the signing of all letters and papers as Assistant Secretary, or "by order of the Secretary," relating to the business of the foregoing divisions, that do not by law require the signature of the Secretary of the Treasury; the performance of such other duties as may be prescribed by the Secretary or by law.

The other Assistant Secretary has the general supervision of all the work assigned to the Divisions of Appointments, Warrants, Estimates, and Appropriations, Public Moneys, Stationery, Printing and Blanks, Loans and Currency, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and office of the Director of the Mint; signing of all letters and papers as Assistant Secretary, or "by order of the Secretary," relating to the business of the foregoing divisions and bureau, that do not by law require the signature of the Secretary of the Treasury; the performance of such other duties as may be prescribed by the Secretary or by law.

THE CHIEF CLERK.

The Chief Clerk supervises, under the immediate direction of the Secretary and Assistant Secretaries, the duties of the clerks and employés connected with the Department. The superintendence of all buildings occupied by the Department in this city, the transmission of the mails; the care of all horses, wagons, and carriages employed, the direction of engineers, machinists, firemen, or laborers. The expenditure of the appropriations for contingent expenses of the Treasury Department; for furniture and repairs of same; fuel, lights, water, and miscellaneous items for buildings under the control of the Department; the distribution of the mail; the custody of the records and files and library of the Secretary's Office, the answering of calls from Congress, and elsewhere, for copies of papers, records, &c. Supervision of all the official correspondence of the Secretary's Office, so far as to see that it is expressed in correct and official form; the enforcement of the general regulations of the Department, and the charge of all business of the Secretary's Office not assigned.

THE FIRST COMPTROLLER.

All warrants issued by the Secretary of the Treasury, whether intended to cover public revenues into the Treasury, or to authorize payments of money trom the Treasury, or to accomplish any other of the purposes for which warrants are used, require the counter signature of the First Comptroller. All accounts examined and stated by the First Auditor, except those trelating to receipts from customs, and all examined and stated by the Fifth Auditor, and by the Commissioner of the General Land Office, are re-examined and revised in this office, and the balances thereon certified; and the First Comptroller is to superintend the recovery of all debts certified by him to be due to the United States. The requisitions issued in payment of drafts for salaries and expenses of ministers and consuls abroad are examined, certified, and reported on by this office, as also the requisitions of marshals, collectors of internal revenue, secretaries of Territories, and other disbursing-officers, for advances of public funds. Powers of attorney for the collection of drafts on the Treasury are examined here; and there are many other duties having reference to the adjustment of claims against the United States, which pertain to this office, but they are of too varied a character to be enumerated.

THE SECOND COMPTROLLER.

Accounts received from the Second, Third, and Fourth Auditors against the United States are examined, revised, and certified to, viz: Reported by the Second Auditor—for organizing volunteers, recruiting, pay of the Army, special military accounts, Army ordnance, the Indian service, the Army Medical Department, contingent military expenses, bounty to soldiers, the Soldiers' Home, and the National Home for Disabled Volunteers. Reported by the Third Auditor—disbursements by the Quartermaster's Department, the Subsistence Department, the Engineer Department, Army pensions, property taken by military authority for the use of the Army, and miscellaneous war-claims. Reported by the Fourth Auditor—disbursements for the Marine Corps, by the Navy paymasters for pay and rations, by the paymasters at the navy-yards, for Navy pensions at foreign stations, and the financial agent at London.

These accounts are examined in Divisions, devoted respectively to the affairs of Army Paymasters, Army Quartermasters, Navy Paymasters and the Marine Corps, Army Pensions, Miscellaneous Claims, and Indivn Affairs.

THE COMMISSIONER OF CUSTOMS.

The Commissioner of Customs revises and certifies the accounts of revenues collected from duties on imports and tonnage; of moneys received on account of the marine-hospital fund; fines, penalties, and forfeitures under the customs and navigation laws; steamboat inspection; licenses to pilots, engineers, &c.; and from miscellaneous sources connected with customs matters, accounts of the importation, withdrawal, transportation, and exportation of goods under the warehouse system; for disbursements for the expenses of collecting the revenue from customs, revenue-cutter service, construction and maintenance of lights, marine hospitals, debentures, excess of deposits for unascertained duties, refund of duties exacted in excess, life-saving service, construction of custom-houses and marine hospitals; fuel, light, water, &c., for custom-houses, &c.; approves and files the official bonds given by customs officers, and transmits their commissions; files the oaths of office of the persons paid in the accounts certified by him; and prepares for the use of the law officers of the Department the accounts of those in arrears under the heads above mentioned.

The office is organized in four divisions, viz: Customs, Bookkeeper's, Bond, and Miscellaneous.

THE FIRST AUDITOR.

It is the duty of the First Auditor to receive all accounts accruing in the Treasury Department, (except those arising under the internal revenue laws,) and, after examination, to certify the balance, and transmit the accounts, with the vouchers and certificate, to the First Comptroller or to the Commissioner of Customs, having respectively the revision thereof. The subordinate divisions of his office are—

Customs Division.—Receipts and expenditures of the customs service, including fines, emoluments, forfeitures, debentures, drawbacks, marine-hospital service, revenue-cutter service, &c.,

Judiciary Division.—Salaries of United States marshals, district attorneys, commissioners and clerks; rent of court-houses, support of prisoners, &c.

Public Debt Division.—Redemption of the public debt, including principal, premium, and interest; payment of interest; redemption of certificates of deposit; notes destroyed.

Warehouse and Bond Division.—Examination of accounts received from custom-houses.

Miscellaneous Division.—Accounts of mints and assay offices; Territories; Coast Survey; salaries and contingent expenses of the legislative, executive, and judicial departments of the Government; construction, repair, and preservation of public buildings; Treasurer of the United States for general receipts and expenditures.

THE SECOND AUDITOR.

The Second Auditor examines, adjusts, and transfers to the Second Comptroller for his decision thereon all accounts relating to arrears of pay and bounties, the recruiting service, the pay of the Army, medical and hospital accounts, ordnance accounts, pay of private physicians, contingent expenses of the military establishment, accounts of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers and the Soldiers' Home, and all accounts relating to Indian Affairs. The Divisions are—

Bookkeeper's Division.—Accounts of all appropriations upon which requisitions are drawn, through the Second Auditor's Office, by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Interior. Ledger accounts of all disbursing officers and claimants.

Paymasters' Division.—Army paymasters' accounts and payments of stoppages and fines to the Soldiers' Home.

Ordnance, Medical, and Miscellaneous Division.—Accounts of the Ordnance and Medical Departments of the Army, contingent expenses, regular and volunteer recruiting, freedmen's bounty and pay, publications of rebellion records, and accounts of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers.

Indian Division.—Disbursements for the Indians, money accounts and property returns of Indian agents, and claims for goods supplied and services rendered.

Pay and Bounty Division.—Examination and adjustment of claims of white and colored soldiers and their legal heirs for pay and bounty, accounts of Soldiers' Home for moneys belonging to estates of deceased soldiers, and forfeitures by desertion.

Investigation of Frauds Division.—Investigation of alleged cases of forgery, fraud, overpayments, unlawful withholding of money, &c., in the payment of white and colored soldiers.

Property Division.—The property accounts (clothing, camp, and garrison equipage) of officers of the Army and volunteers.

THE THIRD AUDITOR.

The Third Auditor examines, adjusts, and transfers to the Second Comptroller all accounts relating to the Quartermaster-General's Department, the Engineer Corps, and the Commissary-General's Department of the Army; claims for lost horses, accounts of unpaid pensions, State war claims, and the claims of States for organizing, arming, and equipping volunteers after 1861. The divisions of the Third Auditor's Office are—

Bookkeeper's Division.—Accounts of the numerous requisitions drawn by the Secretary of War and of the Interior, examined and charged to various appropriations.

Quartermasters' Division.—Accounts of disbursements for barracks and quarters, hospitals, offices, stables, and transportation of supplies; the purchase of clothing, camp and garrison equipage, horses, fuel, forage, straw, bedding, and stationery; payments of hired men and of extra-duty men; expenses incurred in the apprehension of deserters; for the burial of officers and soldiers; for hired escorts, expresses, interpreters, spies, and guides; for veterinary surgeons and medicines for horses; for supplying posts with water; and for all other authorized outlays connected with the movements of the Army not expressly assigned.

Subsistence and Engineer Division.—Accounts of all commissaries and acting commissaries in the Army, whose duties are to purchase the provisions and stores necessary for its subsistence, and to see to their proper distribution; also, accounts of officers of the Corps of Engineers who disburse money for the expenses of the Military Academy, the improvement of rivers and harbors, the construction and preservation of fortifications, the surveys on the coasts, the surveys of lakes and rivers, and the construction and repair of breakwaters.

Army Pension Division.—The duties of this division embrace the settlement of all accounts which pertain to the payment of Army pensions throughout the United States. An account is kept with each pension agent, charging him with all moneys advanced for payment to pensioners, under the proper bond and fiscal year. At the end of each month the agent forwards his vouchers, abstract of payments, and money statement direct to this office, where a preliminary examination is made to see if the money advanced is properly accounted for. The receipt of the account is then acknowledged, and the account filed for audit. Each voucher is subsequently examined, and the payment entered on the roll-book opposite the pensioner's name. The agent's account, when audited, is reported to the Second Comptroller for his revision, and a copy of the statement of errors, if any, sent to the agent for his information and explanation. That account, when revised, is returned by the Second Comptroller to this office and placed in the settled files, where it permanently remains.

State War and Horse Claims Division.—The settlement of all claims of the several States and Territories for the expenses incurred by them for enrolling, subsisting, clothing, arming, paying, and transporting their troops while employed by the Government in aiding to suppress the recent insurrection against the United States; also, the settlement of claims for the loss of horses and equipages sustained by officers and enlisted men while in the military service, and for horses, mules, &c., lost while in service by impressment or contract.

Miscellaneous Claims Division.—The adjustment of claims for the appropriation of stores, the purchase of vessels, railroad stock, horses, and other means of transportation; the occupation of real estate, court-martial fees, travelling expenses, &c.; claims for compensation for vessels, cars, engines, &c., lost in the military service; claims growing out of the Oregon and Washington war of 1855 and 1856, and other Indian wars; claims of various descriptions under special acts of Congress, and claims not otherwise assigned for adjudication.

Collection Division.—Prepares accounts for suit against defaulting officers; answers all calls for information from the files of the office; examines all claims for bounty land and pensions granted to the soldiers of 1812, and certifies them to the Commissioner of Pensions.

THE FOURTH AUDITOR.

The Fourth Auditor examines, adjusts, and transfers to the Second Comptroller all accounts concerning the pay, expenditures, pensions, and prize-money of the Navy and the accounts of the Navy Department. The subordinate divisions of the Bureau are—

Record Prize Division.—Adjusts the prize-money accounts and prepares tabulated statements called for by Congress.

Navy Agents' Division.—Examines the accounts of the disbursements by the navy agents at Portsmouth, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and San Francisco.

Paymasters' Division.—Examines the accounts of paymasters, including mechanics' rolls.

THE FIFTH AUDITOR.

The Fifth Auditor examines, adjusts, and transfers to the First Comptroller the diplomatic and consular accounts, the expenditures of the Department of State, including all international commissions; the accounts of the internal revenue, the census, the Smithsonian Institution, and National Museum, and the contingent expenses of the Post-Office Department. There are three divisions:

Diplomatic and Consular Division.—Adjustment is made of the expenses of all diplomatic missions abroad for salaries, contingencies, and loss by exchange; consular accounts for fees, salaries, loss by exchange, contingent expenses, emoluments, salaries of interpreters and marshals, consular courts and prisons; the relief and passage of American seamen; the return of American seamen charged with crime; the rescuing of shipwrecked American seamen; estates of American citizens and seamen dying abroad; accounts of the bankers of the United States at London; awards of commissions, and expenses of international exhibitions; commissions, boundary-surveys, &c.

Internal Revenue Division.—Accounts of collectors of internal revenue, including salaries, contingent expenses, and compensation of storekeepers.

Miscellaneous Division.—All miscellaneous internal-revenue accounts, including salaries and expenses of agents, surveyors of distilleries, fees and expenses of gaugers, stamp agents' accounts, counsel fees, drawbacks, taxes refunded, redemption of stamps, accounts for the manufacture of paper and stamps, and for the salaries of the office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue; also accounts of the Census Office, Smithsonian Institution, and National Museum; contingent expenses of the Post-Office Department, and sundry accounts of the Department of State and the Patent Office.

THE SIXTH AUDITOR.

The Sixth Auditor examines and adjusts all accounts relating to the postal service, and his decisions on these are final, unless an appeal be taken in twelve months to the First Comptroller. He superintends the collection of all debts due the Post-Office Department, and all penalties imposed on postmasters and mail-contractors; directs suits and legal proceedings, civil and criminal, and takes all such measures as may be authorized by law to enforce the payment of moneys due to the Department. There are eight subordinate divisions, viz:

Collecting Division.—The collection of balances due from all postmasters, late postmasters, and contractors; also the payment of all balances due to late and present postmasters, and the adjustment and final settlement of postal accounts.

Stating Division.—The general postal accounts of postmasters and those of late postmasters, until fully stated, are in charge of this division.

Examining Division.—Receives and audits the quarterly accounts-current of all post-offices in the United States. It is divided into four subdivisions, viz, the opening-room, the stamp-rooms, the examining corps proper, and the error-rooms.

Money-Order Division.—Accounts of money-orders paid and received are examined, assorted, checked and filed; remittances are registered and checked; errors corrected.

Foreign Mail Division.—Has charge of the postal accounts with foreign governments, and the accounts with steamship companies for ocean transportation of the mails.

Registering Division.—Receives from the examining division the quarterly accounts-current of all the post-offices in the United States, re-examines and registers them, and exhibits in the register ending June 30 of each year the total amount of receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year.

Pay Division.—The adjustment and payment of all accounts for the transportation of the mails, whether carried by ocean-steamers, railroads, steamboats, or any mail-carrier; the accounts of the railway postal service, railway postal clerks, route-agents, and local agents, mail-depredations, special agents, free-delivery system, postage-stamps, postal-cards, envelopes, stamps, maps, wrapping-paper, twine, mail-bags, mail locks and keys, advertising, fees in suits on postal matters, and miscellaneous accounts.

Bookkeeping Division.—The duty of keeping the ledger-accounts of the Department, embracing postmasters, late postmasters, contractors, late contractors, and accounts of a general, special, and miscellaneous character.

THE TREASURER OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Treasurer of the United States is charged with the custody of all public moneys received into the Treasury at Washington, or in the sub-treasuries at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Charleston, Cincinnati, Saint Louis, and San Francisco, or in the depositories and depository banks; disburses all public moneys upon the warrants of the Secretary of the Treasury, and upon the warrants of the Postmaster-General; issues and redeems Treasury notes; is agent for the redemption of the circulating notes of national banks, is trustee of the bonds held for the security of the circulating notes of national banks, and of bonds held as security for public deposits; is custodian of Indian trust funds; is agent for paying the interest on the public debt, and for paying the salaries of the members of the House of Representatives. The subordinate divisions of the Treasury are—

Issue Division.—Issues are made of legal-tender notes, currency, coin-certificates, &c.

Redemption Division.—Coin-certificates, national-bank notes, fractional currency, &c., are redeemed, and generally destroyed by maceration.

Loan Division.—Bonds are issued, purchased, retired, cancelled, or converted.

Accounts Division.—The accounts of the Treasury, the sub-treasuries, and the national banks used as depositories are kept.

National-Bank Division.—Bonds held as security for national-bank circulation are examined notes issued, redeemed, and cancelled.

THE REGISTER OF THE TREASURY.

The Register of the Treasury is the official bookkeeper of the United States, and prepares a statement which shows every receipt and disbursement of the public money, which statement is transmitted annually to Congress by the Secretary of the Treasury. He signs and issues all the bonds and sends to the Treasurer of the United States schedules showing the names of persons entitled to receive interest thereon. He registers all warrants drawn by the Secretary of the Treasury upon the Treasurer of the United States; transmits statements of balances due to individuals after the settlement of their accounts by the First Comptroller, or the Commissioner of Customs, upon which payment is made; signs all ships' registers; records all marine documents issued to merchant vessels of the United States, and also prepares statements of the merchant vessels of the United States showing the number and tonnage of vessels built and of vessels lost at sea, wrecked, abandoned, and sold to foreigners. The work is distributed among five divisions, as follows:

Loan Division.—In this division registered and coupon bonds are issued, embracing the transfer of all registered bonds; the conversion of coupon into registered bonds; the ledger accounts with holders of registered bonds, and the preparation of schedules upon which interest on the registered bonds is paid.

Receipts and Expenditures Division.—The great account books of the United States are kept in this division which show the civil, diplomatic, internal-revenue, miscellaneous, and public-debt receipts and expenditures; also, statements of the warrants and drafts issued and certified transcripts of the accounts of delinquent revenue officers for suit.

Note and Coupon Division.—In this division redeemed bonds, paid interest-coupons, interest-checks, and interest-bearing notes are examined and registered.

Currency Division.—Treasury notes, legal-tenders, and fractional currency are examined, canceled, and the destruction thereof witnessed and recorded.

Tonnage Division.—Accounts are kept in this division showing the outstanding tonnage of the country, divided into the different classes according to its nature and employment and also showing its annual additions and losses.

THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

The Comptroller of the Currency has, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, the control of the national banks. The divisions of this Bureau are—

Issue Division.—The preparation and issue of national-bank circulation.

Redemption Division.—The redemption and destruction of notes issued by nationai banks.

Reports Division.—Examination and consolidation of the reports of national banks.

THE DIRECTOR OF THE MINT.

The Director of the Mint has general supervision of all mints and assay offices, reports their operations and condition to the Secretary of the Treasury, and prepares and lays before him the annual estimates for their support.

He prescribes regulations, approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, for the transaction of business at the mints and assay offices, the distribution of silver coin, and the charges to be collected of depositors. He receives for adjustment the monthly and quarterly accounts of superintendents and officers in charge of mints and assay offices, superintends their expenditures, and the annual settlements of the operative officers, and makes such special examinations as may be deemed necessary. All appointments, removals, and changes of clerks, assistants, and workmen in the mints and assay offices are submitted for his approval. The purchase of sliver bullion and allotment of its coinage at the mints are made through the office ot the Director, and transfers of public moneys in the mints and assay offices, and advances from appropriations for the mint service, are made at his request.

The monthly coinage of mints is tested, and ores, bullion, and coins are assayed, at the Assay Laboratory under his charge. The values of the standard coins of foreign countries are annually estimated by the Director, and the collection of the statistics of the annual production of precious metals in the United States is assigned to him.

THE SOLICITOR.

The Solicitor of the Treasury is an officer in the Department of Justice, having a seal, and is required by law to take cognizance, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, of all frauds or attempted frauds upon the revenue, and exercises a general supervision over all legal measures for their prevention and detection; also to establish regulations, with the approbation of the Secretary of the Treasury, for the observance of collectors of the customs; and, with the approbation of the Attorney-General, for the observance of United States attorneys, marshals, and clerks respecting suits in which the United States is a party or interested. He is also empowered and directed to instruct the district attorneys, marshals, and clerks ot the circuit and district courts in all matters and proceedings appertaining to suits in which the United States is interested, except those arising under the internal-revenue laws.

He is required to examine reports of collectors and district attorneys upon bonds delivered for suit; to inform the President of false reports of bonds delivered for suit, and supervise statements from district attorneys concerning suits, and those from marshals relating to proceedings on execution; also reports from clerks as to judgments and decrees; and is charged by the Attorney-General with all post-office litigation.

He also has charge of the secret-service employés engaged in the detection of persons counterfeiting the coin, currency, and public securities of the United States, and all other frauds on the Government. In addition to the duties prescribed by law, the Secretary of the Treasury refers to the Solicitor for opinion a very large number of cases arising in his Department relating to duties, remission of fines, penalties, and forfeitures, navigation and registry laws, steamboat-inspection acts, claims, &c.

THE COMMISSIONER OF INTERNAL REVENUE.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue makes all assessments and superintends the collection of all taxes; preparation of instructions for special-tax stamps, (formerly licenses,) forms and stamps of all kinds; and pays into the Treasury, daily, all moneys received by him.

The business of the bureau is transacted in seven divisions, viz:

Division of Assessments.—Is charged with the preparation of the assessment-lists, with the consideration of all reports and returns, except those received from distillers, rectifiers, and brewers, affording data from which assessments may be made; also, with keeping the bonded account, and with the consideration of claims for the allowance of drawback.

Division of Revenue Agents.—Is charged with general supervision, under the direction of the Commissioner, of the work of revenue agents throughout the country, examination of their reports and accounts, and the measures taken for the discovery and suppression of violations of internal-revenue law.

THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE COAST AND GEODETIC SURVEY.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey is charged with the survey of the coasts of the United States and rivers emptying into the ocean and the Gulf of Mexico, and with the interior triangulation of the country, including that of connecting the surveys of the Eastern and Western coasts, determining geographical positions in latitude and longitude, and furnishing points of reference for State surveys.

Besides the annual reports to Congress the Survey publishes maps and charts of our coasts and harbors, books of sailing directions, and annual tide tables, computed in advance, for all ports of the United States.

SUPERVISING SURGEON-GENERAL, U. S., (MERCANTILE,) MARINE-HOSPITAL SERVICE.

The Supervising Surgeon-General is charged with the supervision of "all matters connected with the Marine-Hospital Service and with the disbursement of the fund for the relief of sick and disabled seamen" employed on the vessels of the mercantile marine of the oceans, lakes, and rivers, and of the Revenue-Cutter Service, the general superintendence of the Marine Hospitals, the purveying of supplies, the orders, details and assignment of medical officers, and the examination of property returns.

SUPERVISING INSPECTOR-GENERAL OF STEAM-VESSELS.

The Supervising Inspector-General superintends the administration of the steamboat inspection laws, presides at the meeting of the Board of Supervising Inspectors, receives all reports and examines all accounts of inspectors.

The Board of Supervising Inspectors meets in Washington annually, on the third Wednesday in January, to establish regulations for carrying out the provisions of the steamboat inspection laws.

GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT OF THE LIFE-SAVING SERVICE.

It is the duty of the General Superintendent to supervise the organization and government of the employés of the service; to prepare and revise regulations therefor as may be necessary; to fix the number and compensation of surfmen to be employed at the several stations within the provisions of law; to supervise the expenditure of all appropriations made for the support and maintenance of the Life-Saving Service; to examine the accounts of disbursements of the district superintendents, and to certify the same to the accounting officers of the Treasury Department; to examine the property returns of the keepers of the several stations, and see that all public property thereto belonging is properly accounted for; to acquaint himself, as far as practicable, with all means employed in foreign countries which may seem to advantageously affect the interest of the service, and to cause to be properly investigated all plans, devices, and inventions for the improvement of life-saving apparatus for use at the stations, which may appear to be meritorious and available; to exercise supervision over the selection of sites for new stations the establishment of which may be authorized by law, or for old ones the removal of which may be made necessary by the encroachment of the sea or by other causes; to prepare and submit to the Secretary of the Treasury estimates for the support of the service; to collect and compile the statistics of marine disasters contemplated by the act of June 20, 1874, and to submit to the Secretary of the Treasury, for transmission to Congress, an annual report of the expenditures of the moneys appropriated for the maintenance of the Life-Saving Service, and of the operations of said service during the year.

THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

The Secretary of War performs such duties as the President may enjoin upon him concerning the military service, and has the controlling supervision of the purchase of Army supplies, transportation, &c., and of all expenditures made under the appropriations for the support of the Army, and for such of a civil nature as may by law be placed under his administration.

He is required to provide for the taking of meteorological observations at the military stations in the interior of the Continent, and at other points in the States and Territories; arranges the course of studies at the Military Academy; submits to Congress all estimates for public buildings and grounds in charge of the Chief of Engineers, and has supervision of all expenditures of appropriations for repair or improvement of the public buildings and grounds in the District of Columbia in charge of the Chief of Engineers. He is charged with the purchase of such real estate as in his judgment is suitable and necessary for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions for national cemeteries; has direction of the construction of piers or cribs by owners of saw-mills on the Mississippi River; has the management of and is required to keep in repair the Louisville and Portland Canal; makes rules respecting bids for contracts, and is required to cause sunken vessels obstructing navigation to be removed. He exercises supervision of the disbursements by Army officers; has the control and management of the National Park forming a part of Mackinac Island in the State of Michigan, and has direction of the expenditure of the appropriation for the Mississippi River Commission.

He submits annually to Congress a statement of the appropriations for the preceding fiscal year for the Department of War under each specified head of appropriation, the amount expended and remaining on hand, together with estimates of the probable demands that may remain on each appropriation.

He also submits to Congress at each session, in connection with reports of examinations and surveys of rivers and harbors, full statements of all facts tending to show the extent to which the general commerce of the country will be promoted by the several works of improvement contemplated by such examinations and surveys, together with numerous other reports relating to the various matters of which he has supervision.

The Chief Clerk receives in the Secretary's Office the public mail and correspondence; distributes, records, and answers it; keeps the accounts of appropriations and estimates; is the medium of communication between the Secretary and officers of the Department, and has the general superintendence of the Department.

MILITARY BUREAUS OF THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

The chiefs of the military bureaus of the War Department are officers of the Regular Army of the United States, and a part of the military establishment, viz:

The Adjutant-General promulgates the orders of the President and the General commanding the Army, and conducts correspondence between the General and the Army, receives reports, issues commissions and resignations, superintends recruiting and the military prison at Leavenworth, has charge of the papers concerning the enlistment and drafting of volunteers, receives all muster-rolls, and furnishes consolidated reports of the entire Army, and has charge, under the General, of details affecting the discipline of the Army.

The Inspector-General, with his assistants, inspect and report upon the personnel and the materiel of the Army, at all posts, stations, and depots, and give instruction relative to the correct interpretation of doubtful points of law, regulations, and orders, and upon other mooted questions regarding the proper performance of military duties; and they also inspect the money accounts of all disbursing officers of the Army.

The Quartermaster-General, aided by assistants, provides quarters and transportation for the Army, clothing, camp and garrison equipage, horses and mules, forage, wagons, stoves, stationery, fuel, lights, straw, hospitals, and medicines; he pays the expenses of guides, spies, and interpreters, and veterinary surgeons; pays the funeral expenses of officers and men, and is in charge of the national cemeteries.

The Commissary-General has administrative control of the Subsistence Department—of the disbursement of its appropriations; the providing of rations and their issue to the Army; the purchase and distribution of articles authorized to be kept for sale to officers and enlisted men; and the adjustment of accounts and returns for subsistence funds and supplies, preliminary to their settlement by the proper accounting officers of the Treasury.

The Surgeon-General, under the immediate direction of the Secretary of War, is charged with the administrative duties of the Medical Department; the designation of the stations of medical officers, and the issuing of all orders and instructions relating to their professional duties. He directs as to the selection, purchase, and distribution of the medical supplies of the Army. The Army Medical Museum and the official publications of the Surgeon-General's Office are also under his direct control.

The Paymaster-General and his assistants pay the Army, also Second Auditor's Treasury certificates, and keep a record of said payments.

The Chief of Engineers commands the Corps of Engineers, which is charged with all duties relating to fortifications, whether permanent or temporary; with torpedoes for coast defence; with all works for the attack and defence of places; with all military bridges, and with such surveys as may be required for these objects, or the movement of armies in the field. It is also charged with the harbor and river improvements; with military and geographical explorations and surveys; with the survey of the lakes; and with any other engineer work specially assigned to the Corps by acts of Congress or orders of the President.

The Chief of Ordnance commands the Ordnance Department, the duties of which consist in providing, preserving, distributing, and accounting for every description of artillery, small-arms, and all the munitions of war which may be required for the fortresses of the country, the armies in the field, and for the whole body of the militia of the Union. In these duties are comprised that of determining the general principles of construction and of prescribing in detail the models and forms of all military weapons employed in war. They comprise also the duty of prescribing the regulations for the proof and inspection of all these weapons, for maintaining uniformity and economy in their fabrication, for insuring their good quality, and for their preservation and distribution; and for carrying into effect the general purposes here stated large annual appropriations are made, and in order to fulfil these purposes, extensive operations are conducted at the national armories, arsenals, and ordnance depots.

The Judge-Advocate General and his assistant receive, review, and have recorded the proceedings of the courts-martial, courts of inquiry, and military commissions of the Armies of the United States, and furnish reports and opinions on such questions of law and other matters as may be referred to the Bureau of Military Justice by the Secretary of War.

The Chief Signal Officer superintends the instruction of officers and men in signal duties, supervises the preparation of maps and charts, and has the reports from the numerous stations received at Washington consolidated and published.

THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

THE SECRETARY OF THE NAVY.

The Secretary of the Navy performs such duties as the President of the United States, who is Commander-in-Chief, may assign him, and has the general superintendence of construction, manning, armament, equipment, and employment of vessels of war.

The Chief Clerk has general charge of the records and correspondence of the Secretary's Office.

NAVAL BUREAUS OF THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

The chiefs of the naval bureaus of the Navy Department are officers of the United States Navy, and a part of the naval establishment, viz:

The Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks has charge of the navy-yards and naval stations, their construction and repair; he purchases timber and other materials.

The Chief of the Bureau of Navigation supplies vessels of war with maps, charts, chronometers, barometers, flags, signal-lights, glasses, and stationery; he has charge of the publication of charts, the Nautical Almanac, and surveys; and the Naval Observatory and Hydrographic Office at Washington are under the direction of this Bureau.

The Chief of the Bureau of Ordnance has charge of the manufacture of naval ordnance and ammunition; the armament of vessels of war; the arsenals and magazines; the trials and tests of ordnance, small-arms, and ammunition; also of the torpedo-service, and torpedo-station at Newport, and experimental battery at Annapolis.

The Chief of the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing has charge of all contracts and purchases for the supply of provisions, water for cooking and drinking purposes, clothing, and small stores for the use of the Navy.

The Chief of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery superintends everything relating to medicines, medical stores, surgical instruments, and hospital supplies required for the treatment of the sick and wounded of the Navy and the Marine Corps.

The Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair has charge of dry-docks and of all vessels undergoing repairs; the designing, building, and fitting-out of vessels, and the armor of iron-clads.

The Chief of the Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting has charge of the equipment of all vessels of war, and the supply to their sails, rigging, anchors, and fuel; also of the recruiting of sailors of the various grades.

The Engineer-in-Chief directs the designing, fitting-out, running, and repairing of the steam marine-engines, boilers and appurtenances, used on vessels of war, and the workshops in the navy-yards where they are made and repaired.

The Judge-Advocate-General receives, revises, and records the proceedings of courts-martial, courts of inquiry, boards for the examination of officers for retirement and promotion in the naval service; and furnishes reports and opinions on such questions of law and other matters as may be referred to him by the Secretary of the Navy.

THE DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.

THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

The Secretary of the Interior is charged with the supervision of public business relating to patents for inventions; pension and bounty-lands; the public lands, including mines; the Indians; education; railroads; the public surveys; the census, when directed by law; the custody and distribution of public documents; and certain hospitals and eleemosynary institutions in the District of Columbia. He also exercises certain powers and duties in relation to the Territories of the United States.

THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

The Assistant Secretary of the Interior performs such duties as are prescribed by the Secretary or required by law, aiding in the general administration of the affairs of the Department. In the absence of the Secretary, he acts as the head of the Department.

The Chief Clerk has the general supervision of the clerks and employés, of the order of business, records and correspondence, and contingent expenditures in the Secretary's Office, also the superintendence of the Interior Department Building.

COMMISSIONER OF PATENTS.

The Commissioner of Patents is charged with the administration of the patent-laws, and supervises all matters relating to the issue of letters-patent for new and useful discoveries, inventions, and improvements. He is aided by an Assistant Commissioner, three Examiners-in-Chief, an Examiner of Interferences, an Examiner of Trade-marks, and twenty-five Principal Examiners.

COMMISSIONER OF PENSIONS.

The Commissioner of Pensions supervises the examination and adjudication of all claims arising under laws passed by Congress granting bounty-land or pension on account of service in the Army or Navy during the Revolutionary War and all subsequent wars in which the United States has been engaged. He is aided by two Deputy Commissioners and a Medical Referee.

COMMISSIONER OF THE GENERAL LAND-OFFICE.

The Commissioner of Public Lands is charged with the survey, management, and sale of the public domain, and the issuing of titles therefor, whether derived from confirmations of grants made by former Governments, by sales, donations, or grants for schools, railroads, military bounties, or public improvements. The Land-Office audits its own accounts.

COMMISSIONER OF INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has charge of the several tribes of Indians in the States and Territories. He issues instructions to, and receives reports from, Agents, Special Agents, and Traders; superintends the purchase, transportation, and distribution of presents and annuities; and reports, annually, the relations of the Government with each tribe.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION.

The duties of the Commissioner of Education are to collect such statistics and facts as shall show the condition and progress of education in the several States and Territories, and to diffuse such information respecting the organization and management of schools and school systems, and methods of teaching, as shall aid the people of the United States in the establishment and maintenance of efficient school systems, and otherwise promote the cause of education throughout the country.

COMMISSIONER OF RAILROADS.

The Commissioner of Railroads is charged with prescribing a system of reports to be rendered to him by the railroad companies whose roads are in whole or in part west, north, or south of the Missouri River, and to which the United States have granted any loan of credit or subsidy in lands or bonds; to examine the books, accounts, and property of said companies, to see that the laws relating to said companies are enforced; and to assist the Government Directors of any of said railroad companies in all matters which come under their cognizance, whenever they may officially request such assistance.

DIRECTOR OF THE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

The Director of the Geological Survey has charge of the classification of the public lands, and examination of the geological structure, mineral resources, and products of the national domain.

SUPERINTENDENT OF THE CENSUS.

The Superintendent of the Census supervises the taking of the census of the United States every tenth year, and the subsequent arrangement, compilation, and publication of the statistics collected.

THE POST-OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

THE POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The Postmaster-General has the direction and management of the Post-Office Department. He appoints all officers and employés of the Department, except the three Assistant Postmasters-General, who are appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; appoints all postmasters whose compensation does not exceed one thousand dollars; makes postal treaties with foreign Governments, by and with the advice and consent of the President, awards and executes contracts, and directs the management of the domestic and foreign mail service.

THE FIRST ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The First Assistant Postmaster-General has charge of the Appointment Office, which includes five divisions, viz:

Appointment Division.—The duty of preparing all cases for the establishment, discontinuance, and change of name or site of post-offices, and for the appointment of all postmasters, agents, postal clerks, mail-messengers, and Department employés, and attending to all correspondence consequent thereto.

Bond Division.—The duty of receiving and recording appointments; sending out papers for postmasters and their assistants to qualify; receiving, entering, and filing their bonds and oaths; and issuing the commissions for postmasters.

Salary and Allowance Division.—The duty of readjusting the salaries of postmasters and the consideration of allowances for rent, fuel, lights, clerk hire, and other expenditures.

Free Delivery.—The duty of preparing cases for the inauguration of the system in cities, the appointment of letter-carriers, and the general supervision of the system.

Blank Agency Division.—The duty of sending out the blanks, wrapping-paper, and twine letter-balanees, and cancelling stamps to offices entitled to receive the same.

THE SECOND ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The Second Assistant Postmaster-General has charge of the Contract Office, mail eqiupments, &c., including the following three divisions:

Contract Division.—The arrangement of the mail service of the United States, and placing the same under contract, embracing all correspondence and proceedings respecting the frequency of trips, mode of conveyance, and times of departures and arrivals on all the routes, the course of the mails between the different sections of the country, the points of mail distribution, and the regulations for the government of the domestic mail service. It prepares the advertisements for mail proposals, receives the bids, and has charge of the annual and occasional mail lettings, and the adjustment and execution of the contracts. All applications for the establishment or alteration of mail arrangements and for mail messengers should be sent to this office. All claims should be submitted to it for transportation service not under contract. From this office all postmasters at the end of routes receive the statement of mail arrangements prescribed for the respective routes. It reports weekly to the Auditor all contracts executed, and all orders affecting the accounts for mail transportation; prepares the statistical exhibits of the mail service, and the reports to Congress of the mail lettings, giving a statement of each bid; also of the contracts made, the new service originated, the curtailments ordered, and the additional allowances granted within the year.

Inspection Division.—The duty of receiving and examining the registers of the arrivals and departures of the mails, certificates of the service of route-agents, and reports of mail failures; noting the delinquencies of contractors, and preparing cases thereon for the action of the Postmaster-General, furnishing blanks for mail registers, reports of mail failures, and other duties which may be necessary to secure a faithful and exact performance of all mail service.

Mail Equipment Division.—The issuing of mail locks and keys, mail pouches and sacks, and the construction of mail-bag catchers.

THE THIRD ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The Third Assistant Postmaster-General has charge of the Finance Office, &c., embracing the following four divisions:

Division of Finance.—The duty of issuing drafts and warrants in payment of balances reported by the Auditor to be due to mail contractors or other persons; the superintendence of the collection of revenue at depository, draft, and depositing offices, and the accounts between the Department and the Treasurer and Assistant Treasurers and special designated depositories of the United States. This division receives all accounts, monthly or quarterly, of the depository and draft offices, and certificates of deposit from depositing offices.

Division of Postage-stamps and Stamped Envelopes.—The issuing of postage-stamps, stamped envelopes, newspaper wrappers, and postal cards; also, the supplying of postmasters with envelopes for their official use, and registered-package envelopes and seals.

Division of Registered Letters.—The duty of preparing instructions for the guidance of postmasters relative to registered letters, and all correspondence connected therewith; also, the compilation of statistics as to the transactions of the business.

Division of Dead Letters.—The duty of ascertaining and correcting errors of postmasters in the treatment of mail matter; examination and forwarding or return of all letters which have failed of delivery; inspection and return to country of origin of undelivered foreign matter; recording and restoration of all letters and parcels which are unmailable or unclaimed; care and disposition of all money, negotiable paper and other valuable artictes found in unclaimed matter; all correspondence relating to these subjects.

The Superintendent of Foreign Mails has charge of all foreign postal arrangements, and the supervision of the ocean mail steamship service.

The Superintendent of the Money-order System has the general supervision and control of the postal money-order system throughout the United States, and the supervision of the international money-order correspondence with foreign countries.

THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The Attorney-General is the head of the Department of Justice, and the chief law officer of the Government. He represents the United States in matters involving legal questions; he gives his advice and opinion on questions of law when they are required by the President, or by the heads of the other Executive Departments on questions of law arising upon the administration of their respective Departments; he exercises a general superintendence and direction over United States Attorneys and Marshals in all judicial districts in the States and Territories; and he provides special counsel for the United States whenever required by any Department of the Government.

He is assisted by a Chief Clerk and other clerks and employés in the executive management of the business of the Department.

The Law Clerk, who is also an Examiner of Titles, assists the Attorney-General in the investigation of legal questions and in the preparation of opinions.

THE SOLICITOR-GENERAL.

The Solicitor-General assists the Attorney-General in the performance of his general duties, and by special provision of law in the case of a vacancy in the office of Attorney-General, or in his absence, exercises all these duties. Except when the Attorney-General in particular cases otherwise directs, the Attorney-General and Solicitor-General conduct and argue all cases in the Supreme Court, and in the Court of Claims, in which the United States are interested; and, when the Attorney-General so directs, any such case in any court of the United States may be conducted and argued by the Solicitor-General; and in the same way the Solicitor-General may be sent by the Attorney-General to attend to the interests of the United States in any Statec ourt, or elsewhere.

THE ASSISTANT ATTORNEYS-GENERAL.

Two Assistant Attorneys-General assist the Attorney-General and the Solicitor-General in the performance of their duties. One assists in the argument of causes in the Supreme Court and in the preparation of legal opinions; the other is charged with the conduct of the defence of the United States in the Court of Claims.

Under the act of 1870 the different law officers of the Executive Departments exercise their functions under the supervision and control of the Attorney-General. They are: the Assistant Attorney-General for the Department of the Interior; the Assistant Attorney-General for the Post-Office Department; the Solicitor of the Treasury; and the Solicitor of Internal Revenue, Treasury Department; the Naval Solicitor, Navy Department; and the Examiner of Claims, State Department.

THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

THE COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE.

The Commissioner of Agriculture is required to collect and diffuse useful information on subjects connected with agriculture. He is to acquire and preserve in his office all information he can obtain concerning agriculture by means of books and correspondence, and by practical and scientific experiments, the collection of statistics, and other appropriate means; to collect new and valuable seeds and plants; to learn by actual cultivation such of them as may require such tests; to propagate such as may be worthy of propagation, and to distribute them among agriculturists.

The Statistician.—He collects reliable information as to the condition, prospects, and results of the cereal, cotton, and other crops, by the instrumentality of four correspondents in each county of every State; this information is gathered at stated periods of each month, carefully studied, estimated, tabulated, and published.

The Entomologist.—He obtains information with regard to insects injurious to vegetation; investigates the character of insects sent him, to point out their modes of infliction and the means by which their depredations may be avoided; and arranges specimens of their injuries and nest architecture.

The Botanist.—He receives botanical contributions, and after making desirable selections for the National Herbarium, distributes the duplicate plants among foreign and domestic scientific societies, institutions of learning, and botanists; and answers inquiries of botanico-agricultural character.

The Chemist.—He makes analyses of natural fertilizers, vegetable products, and other materials which pertain to the interests of agriculture. Applications are constantly made from all portions of the country for the analysis of soils, minerals, liquids, and manures.

The Microscopist.—He makes original investigations, mostly relating to the habits of parasitic fungoid plants, which are frequently found on living plants and animals, producing sickly growth and in many cases premature death.

The Propagating Garden.—Large numbers of exotic, utilizable, and economic plants are propagated and distributed. The orange family is particularly valuable, and the best commercial varieties are propagated and distributed to the greatest practicable extent.

The Seed Division.—Seeds are purchased in this and foreign countries of reliable firms, whose guarantee of good quality and genuineness cannot be questioned; they are packed at the Department, and distributed to applicants in all parts of the country.

49TH CONGRESS, 1st Session. } SENATE. { MIS. DOC. No. 16.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES.

DECEMBER 18, 1885.—Ordered to be printed.

Mr. BECK submitted the following

RESOLUTION:

Whereas the laws of the United States require that all duties on imported goods shall be paid in coin; and

Whereas it is provided by section 3694 of the Revised Statutes that—

The coin paid for duties on imported goods shall be set apart as a special fund, and shall be applied as follows: First, to the payment in coin of the interest on the bonds and notes of the United States; second, to the purchase or payment of one per centum of the entire debt of the United States, to be made within each fiscal year, which is to be set apart as a sinking fund, and the interest of which shall in like manner be applied to the purchase or payment of the public debt, as the Secretary of the Treasury shall, from time to time, direct; third, the residue to be paid into the Treasury:

Resolved, That the Committee on Finance be instructed to inquire whether the laws above stated now are, or have heretofore been, obeyed; and if they have not, to report by bill or otherwise such measures as will secure their enforcement.

49TH CONGRESS, 1st Session. } SENATE. { MIS. DOC. No. 18.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES.

DECEMBER 21, 1885.--Referred to the Committee on Pensions and ordered to be printed.

Mr. MAXEY presented the following petition of J. W. Denver, president, and A. M. Kenaday, secretary of the National Association of Veterans of the Mexican War, praying that a pension be granted to the surviving soldiers, and the widows of deceased soldiers, of the United States, in the war with Mexico.

To the honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

Your petitioners, duly representing the "National Association of Veterans of the Mexican War," as president and secretary thereof, have been instructed by resolution of that body, adopted at a regular meeting held in the city of Indianapolis on the 16th and 17th of September, 1885, to renew their petition heretofore submitted to the Forty-third, Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, and Forty-eighth Congresses, praying for the same measure of recognition of their services (rendered in a war begun nearly forty years ago) which a grateful country has seen fit to bestow on the soldiers and sailors engaged in previous foreign wars, when they became old and unable to compete with younger men in the struggle for subsistence, as is now the case with nearly all the soldiers of 1846.

In complying with their instructions, your petitioners deem it unnecessary to recapitulate in this appeal the numerous facts of history, and the forcible arguments based thereon advanced from time to time in support of their claim by honorable statesmen, whose eloquent speeches and exhaustive reports on the subject cover hundreds of pages of the official record of debates in Congress during the past twelve years, by which the people of the whole country have been enlightened in regard to an interesting period of its history, awakening public opinion throughout the nation to such a degree that the legislatures of twenty-eight States of the Union have seen proper to adopt formal resolutions requesting their representatives in the Federal Congress to grant this request.

On the 4th of January, 1877, the House of Representatives passed unanimously a bill which had been reported by their Committee on Invalid Pensions in response to our petition, but it was not reported to the Senate by the Pension Committee of that branch of Congress in time for action before the legal close of the session.

In the next succeeding Congress (first session of the Forty- fifth Congress) your petitioners again renewed their prayer, and similar favorable action was taken by the House Committee on Pensions, their bill and report being promptly placed on the calendar for consideration by the Committee of the Whole.

Near the closing day of the Forty-fifth Congress, to wit, on February 27, 1879, the bill to provide an appropriation for arrearages of pensions being before the Senate, the Hon. James Shields, of Missouri, introduced the following amendment, to wit.:

Provided further, That the law granting pensions to the soldiers and their widows of the war of 1812, approved March 9, 1878, is hereby made applicable in all its provisions to the soldiers and sailors who served in the war with Mexico of 1846.

This proviso passed the Senate by a vote of 36 ayes to 22 noes, and would undoubtedly have become a law if it had been allowed to go to the House of Representatives for concurrence, that branch of Congress having previously agreed to date the pension from 1877; but on the succeeding Sunday, March 2, 1879, an all-night debate on a motion to reconsider the action taken on the previous Friday resulted in striking out the amendment of General Shields.

In the Forty sixth Congress the petition was again presented and received the endorsement of the committee of both houses of Congress, but failed of enactment into law.

In the Forty-seventh Congress the subject was again presented to both houses of Congress and received the endorsement of the House Committee. A bill was reported by the committee, and on a motion to fix a day for its consideration, received more than a two-thirds vote, but was not reached before the close of the session.

In the Forty-eighth Congress our petition was renewed, and on March 3, 1884, a bill passed the House by a vote of 227 ayes to 46 noes. When it came up for consideration in the Senate the bill was so amended that the House would not concur in the judgment of the Senate, and all efforts to refer the subject to a conference committee were thwarted by the minority.

The history of the case, in brief, thus shows that measures of relief have passed both houses of Congress at different times during the past twelve years and that the proposition has been formally endorsed and recommended by twenty-eight State governments.

Your petitioners therefore humbly pray, in behalf of their old comrades of 1846–'48, that the accompanying draft of a bill to provide for an act extending the provisions of the law approved March 9, 1878, to the surviving soldiers and sailors of the Mexican war, and widows of veterans, since deceased, be now passed, to take effect from March 9, 1878.

And your petitioners will ever pray, as in duty bound.

J. W. DENVER,
President,
A. M. KENADAY,
Secretary,
National Association of Veterans of the Mexican War.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 7, 1885.

Be it enacted, &c., That the law granting service pensions to the soldiers and sailors of the war of 1812 and their widows, approved March 9, 1878, together with the various amendments thereto, is hereby made applicable to the officers and enlisted men of the Army and Navy employed in the prosecution of the war of 1846 with Mexico.

[Substantially the amendment to the arrears of pension appropriation bill agreed to by the Senate on the motion of General Shields February 28, 1879, by a vote of 36 ayes to 22 noes.]

Amendment offered by Hon. Robert Klotz.

Mr. KLOTZ offered the following amendment to section 10 of the Army appropriation bill:

Provided, That the act of Congress approved March 9, 1878, be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

AN ACT amending the laws granting pensions to the soldiers and sailors of the war of 1812, and their widows, and the soldiers, sailors, and marines employed in the war with Mexico, which commenced April 24, 1846, and their widows.

Be it enacted, &c., That the Secretary of the Interior be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to place on the pension-roll the names of the surviving officers and enlisted and drafted men, without regard to color, including militia and volunteers, of the military and naval service of the United States who served for fourteen days in the war with Great Britain of 1812, and were honorably discharged, and the surviving widows of such officers and enlisted and drafted men, and the officers, soldiers, sailors and marines who actually served with the Army and the Navy employed in the war with Mexico for fourteen days between April 24, 1846, and July 4, 1848, and were honorably discharged, and the surviving widows of such officers, soldiers, sailors, and marines.

SEC. 2. That this act shall not apply to any person who is receiving a pension at the rate of $8 per month or more, nor to any person receiving a pension of less than $8 per month, except for the difference between the pension now received (if less than $8 per month) and $8 per month. Pensions under this act shall be at the rate of $8 per month, except as herein provided, and shall be paid to the persons entitled thereto, from and after the passage of this act, for and during their natural lives: Provided, That the pensions to widows provided for in this act shall cease when they shall marry again.

SEC. 3. That before the name of any person shall be placed upon the pension-rolls under this act, proof shall be made under such rules and regulations as the Commissioner of Pensions, with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, shall prescribe, that the applicant is entitled to a pension under this act; and any person who shall falsely take any oath required to be taken under the provisions of this act shall be guilty of perjury; and the Secretary of the Interior shall cause to be stricken from the rolls the name of any person when it shall appear, by proof satisfactory to him, that such name was put on said rolls by or through false or fraudulent representations, or by mistake as to the right of such person to a pension under this act. The loss or lack of a certificate of discharge shall not deprive the applicant of the benefit of this act, but other proof of the service performed and of an honorable discharge, if satisfactory, shall be deemed sufficient; and when there is no record evidence of such service and such discharge, the applicant may establish the same by other satisfactory testimony: Provided, That when any person has been granted a land warrant under any act of Congress for and on account of service in the said wars of 1812, and 1846 with Mexico, such grant shall be prima facie evidence of his service and honorable discharge, so as to entitle him, if living, or his widow, if he be dead, to a pension under this act; but such evidence shall not be conclusive, and may be rebutted by evidence that such land warrant was improperly granted.

SEC. 4. That all applications for pensions of the classes provided for in this act heretofore or which may hereafter be made shall be considered and decided as though made under this act; and all laws now in force in regard to the manner of paying pensions, and in reference to the punishment of frauds, shall be applicable to all claims under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 5. That the Secretary of the Interior be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to restore to the pension-rolls the names of all persons now surviving heretofore pensioned on account of service in the war of 1812 against Great Britain, or for service in any of the Indian wars, or for service in the aforesaid war with Mexico, and whose names were stricken from the rolls in pursuance of the act entitled "An act authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to strike from the pension-rolls the names of such persons as have taken up arms against the Government, or who have in any manner encouraged the rebels, approved February 4, 1872, whose disabilities have been removed, or who have made application for such removal; and that the joint resolution entitled "Joint resolution prohibiting payment by any officer of the Government to any person not known to have been opposed to the rebellion and in favor of its suppression," approved March 2, 1867, and section 4716 of the Revised Statutes at Large of the United States shall not apply to the persons provided for by this act: Provided, That no money shall be paid to any one on account of pensions for the time during which his name remained stricken from the rolls.

SEC. 6. That the surviving widow of any pensioner of the war of 1812, or the surviving widow of any pensioner of the war of 1846 with Mexico, where the name of said pensioner was stricken from the pension-rolls in pursuance of an act entitled "An act authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to strike from the pension-rolls the names of such persons as have taken up arms against the Government, or who have in any manner encouraged the rebels," approved February 4, 1862, and where, under the existing provisions of law, said pensioner died without his name being restored to the rolls, shall be entitled to make claim for a pension as such widow after the passage of this act: Provided, That no such arrearages shall be paid for any period prior to the time of the removal of the disability of the pensioner, or the date at which application was made for removal, as provided in section 5.

SEC. 7. That the provisions of sections 4745, 4746, 4747, 4748, 4766, 4768, 4769, 4785, and 4786 of the Revised Statutes of the United States are hereby made a part of this act so far as the same are applicable; and no law or laws now in force which in any way conflict with the provisions of this act shall be applicable to the survivors of the wars above mentioned, or be so construed as to deprive them of the benefits of this act: Provided, That no agent shall charge a fee greater than $10 to a claimant under this act.

SEC. 8. That the provisions of this act shall not apply to any person while under the political disabilities imposed by the fourteenth amendment of the Constitution of the United States.

SEC. 9. That all laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this act be, and they are hereby, repealed.

RESOLUTION:

Whereas by act of Congress approved June 3, 1856, there were granted to the State of Michigan certain lands to aid in the construction of railroads mentioned therein, among others for a line from Marquette to Ontonagon and from the two last named places to the Wisconsin State line; and

Whereas the State of Michigan conferred said grant from said points to the State line upon two companies, known as the Ontonagon and State Line Railroad Company and the Marquette and State Line Railroad Company, which said companies, or their successor, so located their respective lines as to leave common or overlapping limits near the State line at the Brulé River; and

Whereas by joint resolution of Congress approved July 2, 1862, the grantees of the State were authorized to construct and build the said road to the State line upon another and different route, and said State was authorized to receive and was granted a like quantity of land upon said new line upon consideration of a surrender and release to the United States of the lands previously granted and certified to her upon said original lines, which surrender and release was duly made by said State and other lands along the new line certified to her in lieu thereof; and

Whereas the United States is largely interested, pecuniarily, in its right, under the law, to the benefit of competition in the sale of such of said lands as may not be covered by lawful claims of pre-emption or homestead settlers, which lands, so subject to public sale, are said to aggregate several millions of dollars in value: Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Interior be, and is hereby, requested to inform the Senate what is the exact present status of said lands, both odd and even sections, as shown by the records of his Department; whether, since the passage of the joint resolution of 1862, any of said lands, either odd or even sections, within the so-called common limits, have been reoffered at public sale or in any manner restored to private entry by Executive order; also what, if any, sales of said lands have been made at private entry, when, and to whom, and whether patents have issued upon any of the same, and when and to whom so issued; also what, if any, pre-emption or homestead settlers' claims are now shown to be in conflict with such private entries, together with the names of such settlers and description of the land claimed, and whether any of such claims have been prosecuted to final proof and payment, and if so, for what land and by whom; also what, if any, action has been had or taken in cases of such conflicts, or is now being taken therein, by the General Land Office or Department of the Interior; also whether any of these claims have ever been examined upon the ground and reported upon by any special agent or agents of the Land Office, and if so, to transmit copies of said reports to the Senate; also whether any of such lands are being stripped of timber, and if so, by whom, and what, if any, measures have been taken to stop such waste, pending the final disposition of the question of title.

JANUARY 7, 1886.—Referred to the Committee on Finance and ordered to be printed.

Mr. EVARTS presented the following petition of the American artists in Rome for the abolition of the duty on works of art:

ROME, December 15, 1885.

To the honorable the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled:

This petition showeth:

That we, the undersigned, artists and students of art in Rome, beg to recall to the attention and consideration of Congress the petition hereto appended, and addressed by them to the late Congress during the past year, and earnestly to renew their petition that the duty of 30 per cent. imposed upon works by foreign artists should be repealed.

If this duty be levied for the purpose of revenue, we submit that it is not required by our country nor justified by any necessity.

If it be levied for the purpose of protection of American artists, we submit that they are opposed to such protection. They neither need it nor desire it. On the contrary, they consider it to be at variance with their personal interests, as well as with the general interests of American art, and to be as injurious to the public at home as it is irritating and offensive to artists and Governments abroad.

The published statistics plainly prove that since the enactment of this duty the sales of works of art by American as well as foreign artists have seriously declined. This diminution, though induced by other and various causes, is, we submit, in considerable measure to be attributed to the almost prohibitive duty of 30 per cent., which, by abating in our country the general interest in art and turning its expenditures into other channels, has seriously affected not only foreign artists and countries but also American artists and the American public.

The application of the principle of protection to products of art is, in our opinion, a serious mistake, if not an absurdity. The protection of American manufactures may enable us finally to produce at home work of an equal or even of a superior merit to that executed by foreign nations, and so similar as to scarcely be distinguished from it; but no amount of protection will enable an American artist to produce works similar to those of any foreign artist or undistinguishable from them. Manufactures are one thing, art is another. The character and value of a work of art depend upon the individual genius and ability of the artist himself, and this can neither be transferred to another nor can he be deprived of it by any law or any prohibition. By weighting with heavy duties the works of the great masters of the past, such as Titian or Tintoretto, or by virtually prohibiting the works of modern masters, such as Fortuny or Miller, Meissonier or De Nittis, we make no step toward creating in our own country new Titians, Tintorettos, Fortunys, Millets, or Meissoniers. On the contrary, by preventing the free introduction of their works, we deprive our artists at home of opportunities of study, comparison, and training; we force them to go abroad for their education, and under the pretense of helping them we burden them with difficulties. And not only the artist is thus injured, but the public also suffers, and art is handicapped. As well might we seek to develop the literature of America by prohibiting the works of all foreign authors.

The works of foreign authors published abroad are indeed subject to duties on importation into our country, but we submit that these duties are levied not for the protection of authors nor of the public, to whom they are anything but a benefit, but rather for the protection of publishers, paper-makers, printers, type-founders, and other artisans employed solely in the manufacture, not the creation, of books. It is the hands of the artisan, not the brains of the author, that are protected. In the case of works of art there are no such subsidiary hands to protect. The artist's own brain and hand acting together alone create and produce his work.

Besides, the duty on any book, large though it may be, relatively amounts in each case to but a small sum, while on works of art by eminent artists it amounts to so large a sum as to be practically prohibitive.

And still again, a foreign book can be reproduced in America and reprinted without loss of its essential value. Thackeray's and Macauley's works we can reproduce, but not so any modern master's, no more than we can Titian's and Raffaelle's.

The discrimination in favor of American artists by a duty almost amounting to prohibition on works of foreign artists is not only injurious to American art, but peculiarly impolitic and improper. While foreign countries open freely to us their galleries and schools, giving us equal opportunities with their own artists for study and exhibition—nay, more, admit us on a footing of equality to contend for their prizes and honors—it is not only wanting in common courtesy and comity to exclude them from equal rights in our own country, but such a course directly tends to induce foreign Governments to retaliate and exclude American artists from the privileges now so generously accorded to them. What, then, becomes of our proteetion at home?

Besides, even should a few exceptional artists, from narrow views of their individual interests and of this great question, desire the practical exclusion of the works of foreign artists—nay, more, even supposing, contrary as it is to the facts, that all the American artists should unite in claiming the protection of this grievous tax—are the great interests of the public to be thus compromised? Are the millions to be sacrificed to the hundreds? Art is in itself an education, a benefit, a delight, and a refining influence that no great nation can forego. It may be said of art as Cicero said of literature: "It nourishes us in youth, delights us in age, adorns us in prosperity, is a refuge and a solace in adversity, is a joy at home, hinders us not abroad, abides with us at night, journeys with us, and rusticates with us."

It is claimed as an excuse for this duty that art is a luxury and therefore should be taxed. Is it not rather a necessity for every great nation? What great nation ever existed without it? It was the pride and glory of Assyria, Egypt, Greece, and Rome in ancient days, and has survived their civilization, their dynasties, and their religion. It was the crowning splendor of the republics and cities of Italy during the period of the Renaissance, and it is cherished, nurtured, and fostered by all the great nations of to-day in Europe as essential to the highest civilization of every country. It is circumscribed nowhere by the narrow limits and burdened nowhere by the taxes which weigh upon trade and manufacture. It is excepted from all restrictions, its freedom is guaranteed everywhere, and its presence hailed and welcomed. We alone have oppressed it with taxes. If art be a luxury, where does it begin and where does it end? It is not only in the houses of the rich that it finds a home; the humblest cottage has its coarse print on the walls, and by the poorest as well as the richest, through every grade and condition of life, it is welcomed and greeted and desired; for the craving for something artistic and ideal, the desire for beauty, the necessity for some influence to lift the heart, gladden the home, and change the current of merely worldly thought is everywhere felt. There must be a window to every house, and a picture is a window into an ideal world. There may be only a colored chromo, or there may be a Raffaelle on the walls, but everywhere there is something. This universality proves, then, that art is a necessity for human life, and not merely a luxury for the rich.

Where, then, draw the line; where lay the tax? Only on the best and highest, because they are costly and therefore a luxury? But this would simply vitiate the public by degrading its taste, injure the artist by depriving him of the means of study, and shut out a world of enjoyment from all. For, after all, what the rich buy the poor enjoy in art. No man can consume his picture or statue. Hundreds and thousands must see it, many in his home, more when it is publicly exhibited, as it is sure to be, and gain from it stimulation, delight, and instruction. If art be a luxury, so is education; but what nation ever dreamed of laying a tax on education?

This tax strikes at the best works of the best artists abroad, even more fatally than at the commonest and cheapest, whereas our policy should be especially to encourage the importation of the best. The less we have of the best the worse for us all. Will excluding the works of the ablest foreign artists induce any one of knowledge and taste to content himself with poorer work, simply because it is cheaper or executed at home? No, it will prevent him from buying at all. If so, too, our education in art must be through second, third, and fourth rate works, and our knowledge and taste must suffer, the general interest in art decline, and the artist and the public alike be degraded.

Again, art ramifies everywhere into industry. It opens a field for labor in a hundred directions. It finds its way into manufactures and tissues and designs. Where shall we put our hands on it and say, thus far and no farther shall art be free? Rather, in the spirit of a great people, let us welcome it, however and from wherever it comes; not grudgingly and with weights and taxes, but gladly and with outstretched arms, and so shall we afford a larger field for the genius of our people to work in and glorify the commonest products of our industry and manufactures by the element of beauty.

We, as American artists, proud of our country, confident of its future, and jealous of its honor and credit, are opposed to all special privileges and discriminations in our behalf. We ask no protection, deeming it worse than useless. Art is a universal republic, of which all artists are citizens, whatever be their country or clime. All that we ask is that there should be a free field and no favor, and the prize adjudged to the best.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES.

JANUARY 7, 1886.—Ordered to be printed.

Mr. VOORHEES submitted the following

RESOLUTION

[As a substitute for resolution of Mr. Harrison relating to the report of the Commissioner of Pensions, to which is appended the amendment intended to be proposed by Mr. Logan thereto]:

Whereas the Commissioner of Pensions, in his Annual Report dated November 18, 1885, has stated and alleged as follows:

"At one time the Pension Bureau was all but avowedly a political machine," intending thereby that the said Pension Bureau was methodically employed for partisan purposes; and has, in support of said allegation, stated in said report that the said Bureau was at such time (meaning a period prior to the 4th of March, 1885) filled from border to border with uncompromising adherents of a single organization (meaning the Republican party), who had for the claimants other tests than those of the law, and who often required, in addition to service in the field (that is to say, in the military or naval service of the United States), that applicants for pension should submit to and and support said party, as a consideration in addition to the considerations required by law, before said pensions should issue;

And whereas said Commissioner has stated that such tests and requirements were applied secretly, if not openly;

And whereas said Commissioner has further stated in support of said allegation that the medical boards attached to said Pension Bureau and a part thereof, were composed almost wholly of surgeons of one political faith—that is to say, Republican;

And whereas, in further support of said allegation, said Commissioner has stated that all of the eighteen pension agents were Republican;

And whereas, in further support of said allegation, said Commissioner has stated that the special examiners attached to and forming part of said Bureau were actively engaged in partisan work in behalf of the Republican party;

And whereas, in further support of said allegation, said Commissioner has stated that almost the entire force of said Pension Office, from messenger boys to chiefs of divisions, were members of the Republican party;

And whereas, in further support of said allegation, said Commissioner of Pensions has stated that discharges from office were made in spite of long service at the demand of partisans of the Republican party outside of said Pension Bureau, and that the places of such employés were filled by partisans of said Republican party;

And whereas, in further support of said allegation, said Commissioner has stated that leaves of absence were granted to the employés of said Pension Office to enable them to take active part in elections;

And whereas, in further support of said allegation, said Commissioner has stated that large numbers of men and large sums of money were used by the said Bureau during the pendency of political struggle preliminary to election;

And whereas, in further support of said allegation, said Commissioner has stated that it was declared and publicly proclaimed (meaning thereby that said declaration and proclamation were made by the employés, or some of them, of said Bureau) "that the pension system of the United States depended for its continuance upon the success of the Republican party, and that the same would cease if the Democratic party succeeded to power:" Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Expenditures of Public Money is hereby directed to inquire into the truth of said allegation and of each specification thereunder, and to report the facts and testimony presented before them to the Senate. Said committee is authorized to send for persons and papers and to employ a stenographer, and is hereby directed to advance the witness fees and the expenses incident upon such investigation from the contingent fund of the Senate.

Amendment intended to be proposed by Mr. Logan to the amendment:

Resolved, further, That said committee be also directed to inquire into the manner in which the Pension Office has been conducted and administered by the present Commissioner of Pensions, and to report the facts to the Senate.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES.

JANUARY 8, 1886.—Ordered to be printed.

Amendment proposed by Mr. Harrison to the amendment of Mr. Voorhees to the resolution submitted by Mr. Harrison December 21, 1885.

Whereas the Commissioner of Pensions, in his annual report, dated November 18, 1885, has stated that—

At one time the Pension Bureau was all but avowedly a political machine, filled from border to border with the uncompromising adherents of a single organization, who had for the claimant other tests than those of the law, and who required, in addition to service in the field, submission to and support of a party before pensions were granted. Not always, but often was this true; not openly, but surely were the tests applied; and the vast machinery of a professed governmental office became a party power. The enormous array of the medical boards established in every quarter was almost solidly partisan; made so not openly, but surely. People of one faith filled every one of the great agencies. Examiners, trained in unscrupulous schools, traversed the land as recruiting sergeants for a party. Chiefs of divisions, assistants, clerks, messengers, messenger boys, watchmen, and laborers were all but entirely from the one school. Veteran service could not secure continuance in office, and at the behest and demand of partisans beyond the office old employés were cut adrift and zealous rufflers placed in their stead; leaves of absence were granted that the active men of the party might dominate over the elections. Wholesale discharges were made for partisan ends, and a careful study of the Tables 21 and 21 A of this report will show how a tide of men and money was poured by this office into the sections where political struggle was progressing:

Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Expenditures of Public Money is hereby directed to inquire into the truth of said allegation, and to report the facts and testimony presented before them to the Senate. Said committee is authorized to send for persons and papers and to employ a stenographer. The expenses incident upon such investigation shall be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate.

Resolved, further, That said committee be also directed to inquire into the manner in which the Pension Office has been conducted and administered by the present Commissioner of Pensions in the matter of appointments to or removals from office, and to report the facts to the Senate.

49TH CONGRESS, 1st Session. } SENATE. { MIS. DOC. No. 25.

JANUARY 8, 1886.—Referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs and ordered to be printed.

Mr. HOAR presented the following communication from the governor and chief justice of Washington Territory, the mayor of Seattle, and the president of the Chamber of Commerce of Seattle, Wash.; also a letter from General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., calling attention to the undefended condition of Washington Territory:

SEATTLE, June 25, 1885.

SIR: The undersigned, the governor and chief justice of Washington Territory, the mayor and other citizens of Seattle, respectfully represent to the Secretary of the Navy—

(1) That the towns of Port Townsend, of Seattle, of Tacoma, and of Olympia, and other settlements on Puget Sound and Admiralty Inlet, lie within a few hours' sail of Victoria and Esquimalt, which are in the colony of British Columbia and in the Dominion of Canada.

(2) That at Esquimalt the British Government is now establishing a naval station capable of repairing its men-of-war, and that a fleet of vessels is usually maintained by Great Britain in these waters.

(3) That the channels of Admiralty Inlet and Puget Sound are commodious and without hidden danger, and are therefore favorable to an enemy strong upon the seas.

(4) That these channels are now not defended by fixed or floating batteries, torpedoes, or any means of defense, and that in consequence the considerable communities residing upon these waters will be exposed, upon outbreak of hostilities with Great Britain, to a sudden and formidable attack, which there is at present no means of resisting.

(5) That the United States do not maintain a fleet upon the Pacific coast capable of meeting the English squadron on anything like equal terms; that the nearest naval establishment of the United States is in the Bay of San Francisco, nearly 1,000 miles distant.

(6) That the waters of Puget Sound offer one or more sites which we believe to be conveniently fitted for a great naval establishment, and that such an establishment is essential for the defense of these waters.

(7) That we believe that the lakes situated near the city of Seattle, known as Lakes Union and Washington, are peculiarly fitted for the purpose, our belief being based upon the facts that they are fresh water, with depths of many fathoms; that they can be made accessible from Admiralty Inlet by a canal about one mile in length, the construction of which promises no engineering difficulties; that these lakes are never frozen; that they are bordered by extensive forests of fir, which is the best timber in the country for ship-building purposes; that good coal is extensively mined on the banks of Lake Washington, and that iron ore is found in abundance in the vicinity.

The climate is mild and salubrious, and remarkably even throughout the year, and especially mild in winter, when we consider the latitude.

The country is rapidly increasing in population, and it appears to us that if our Government is ever to construct a naval station in our waters, it will be in the interest of economy and to its great advantage to select the sites and acquire the necessary lands at an early day.

In view of the defenselessness of our waters and the advantages which we believe to belong to Puget Sound, we respectfully ask that the Navy Department will cause the circumstances herein presented to be examined by one or more naval officers, or by a board of Navy and Army officers, or in such other way as may be approved by the good judgment of the Department.

WATSON C. SQUIRE,

Washington, D. C.

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE COLUMBIA,
Vancouver Barracks, Wash., July 7, 1885.

SIR: I desire again to call attention to the importance of the fortifications at the entrance of Puget Sound.

In company with Colonel Mendell, Major Jones, and Captain Powell of the Engineer Corps, I have recently visited the principal points that have heretofore been mentioned in several communications from these headquarters, and am fully impressed with the necessity of the Government taking such action as will secure proper defense to the great commercial interests of Puget Sound. These are constantly increasing every year, and have now reached such magnitude as to become of national interest. Many reports have been forwarded and are now on file in the War Department, and particularly in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Army.

Last year I detailed a board of experienced officers, consisting of Major Rodgers, Captain Taylor, and Captain McMurray, to examine the subject, and their report was forwarded to division headquarters.

Many valuable points have been reserved, but I regard the two main entrances to Puget Sound as of the first importance for present consideration, viz, Admiralty Inlet and Deception Pass.

Suitable ground, commanding the entrance to Deception Pass, has been reserved by the Government.

That at Admiralty Head, Point Wilson, and Marrowstone Point has been reserved only in part, and a sufficient sum should be appropriated, in addition to that required for defensive works, to secure a permanent title to the Government.

One objection to any action being taken towards the defense of this inlet has been the distance between Point Wilson and Admiralty Head, about 4 miles, but this it is believed can be greatly overcome now by the use of modern appliances.

I recommend that the attention of Congress be called to this subject in time for action during the coming season. The British Government is now expending a large amount of money in completing its navy-yard and dry-docks at Esquimalt, near Victoria, British Columbia, and has kept during the past ten years from a single ship of war to a small fleet in these waters, and I think it advisable that our Government should take an equal interest in the establishment of a naval station in this part of the United States.

Several reservations have been made on the Straits of Fuca and Puget Sound for naval purposes.

What point is best suited for all the requirements of the Navy could probably be best determined by a board composed of naval officers.

Lake Washington, near Seattle, has many advantages for such a purpose, it being a lake of fresh water, of great depth, and in close proximity to the deep water of the sound. I request this communication be referred to Colonel Mendell for remark.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

NELSON A. MILES,
Brigadier-General, Commanding.

49TH CONGRESS, 1st Session. } SENATE. { MIS. DOC. No. 33.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES.

JANUARY 14, 1886.—Referred to the Select Committee on Additional Accommodations for the Library of Congress and ordered to be printed.

Mr. SEWELL presented the following letter from George Ticknor Curtis, on the proposed building for the Congressional Library:

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 12, 1885.

Hon. WILLIAM J. SEWELL,
Chairman of Committee on Library, Senate of the United States:

DEAR SIR: I have thought, since the brief conversation I had with you on the subject of the Congressional Library, in which you invited me to make any suggestions that might occur to me, that I could best make them in writing. My interest in this matter is that of every citizen of the United States, and it arises also out of the fact that in a small degree I have contributed something, both in and out of my profession, to the literature of the country.

The subject of a new and appropriate building for the National Library divides itself into the following heads: The necessity for immediate action, the acquisition of a suitable site, the character of the building, and the internal arrangements, including separate provision for the general mass of books and for the copies of new publications, which are required by law to be deposited as evidence of copyright.

In regard to the urgency for immediate action, it is not necessary to say much. There seems to be an almost unanimous conviction that Congress should at once take steps for the accomplishment of this most desirable object. Now that the President has in his annual message so forcibly stated the case, it is to be presumed that Congress will no longer postpone action. Whether its action should be in one law or in separate laws, it is manifest that the first step to be taken is the acquisition of a suitable site for the new building.

Obstacles have heretofore arisen, or are supposed to have arisen, from the rival efforts of property owners to effect a sale of their property to the Government. All such difficulties or embarrassments, if they exist, are very easily obviated. Congress, by the exercise of the power of the eminent domain, can take any property in this District that it determines to be necessary for the use of the Government, making at the same time suitable provision for its valuation, and for payment of the amount found to be justly due. The best way to do this would be to appoint a commission, with authority to select the site, and to value the property proposed to be taken. The members of this commission should be persons who are not property owners in the District of Columbia, and they should be required to give some guarantee that they will not become property owners within a certain distance from the new building before the expiration of a certain time after the Government has acquired the site for the new Library. There is an obvious reason for not having the valuation made by a jury drawn from the District, or by commissioners who are property owners in the city of Washington.

The site having been selected and paid for, and the title to the land acquired, the determination of the character of the building and its internal arrangements, should be, I respectfully suggest, vested in a separate commission, whose functions should continue until the work is completed and the books have been transferred to the new building. When this has been done, the care of the building would appropriately pass into the hands of whatever public officer has charge of the other public buildings. It would manifestly be inconvenient to have the work of erecting the building and determining its internal arrangements kept in the hands of Congress, or of committees of Congress, because membership in that body is continually changing, and this is to be a work of several years. A permanent commission, with suitable provision for filling vacancies, would be far the most advantageous.

In regard to the character of the building, I have some ideas which may not be in accordance with the wishes or tastes of those who are to legislate on this important subject, but I will venture to express them. I would not, if I could govern this matter, aim for one moment at making the new Library a distinguished architectural ornament to this city. No private individual who owned a considerable library and meant to increase it so as to make it commensurate will all the uses of a great library, and then to throw it open to the public, would be willing to incur the risk of sacrificing its internal arrangements to external magnificence or imposing architectural effects, whatever his pecuniary resources might be. Yet this is a risk that is always incurred in the erection of public buildings, unless the architect is a very exceptional person, or is restrained by those who are charged with responsibility for the plan. The power, dignity, and resources of this Government are sufficiently manifested now in the external aspect of our beautiful Capitol, and in a few of the other public buildings. In a Library, the power, dignity, and resources of our Government will be best manifested, so far as they should be exhibited at all, in the completeness and adaptation of the internal structure, and in the number, character, and arrangement of the books upon its shelves.

Persons who are not in the habit of using public libraries are not generally aware how much the facilities for ready and accurate research depend upon arrangements that are largely mechanical. But to effectuate such arrangements in the best manner requires the most extensive knowledge of books and their uses, and no small amount of intellectual labor. This is the work of a librarian. When the library is, or is intended to become, a very large and complete one, the internal structure is a point of the utmost importance, and if this is not properly attended to no librarian can do his work successfully. If I had the whole Treasury at my command for this purpose I would build nothing but a brick structure, with very thick walls, with the least possible amount of wood-work, and with only so much attention to the outside architecture as to give the building a respectable appearance. Granite, or marble, or stone of any kind, as the chief material, I would eschew, for the reason that brick, when well made, is far more capable of resisting fire. If the building is originally isolated as much as it ought to be, and is kept so, the danger arising from any conflagration in the neighborhood will be reduced to the minimum, and will be practically nothing for all time.

In considering and acting upon different plans submitted by different artists, native or foreign—and I would open the competition to the artists of the world—I would not think of adopting any one that did not make security against fire and the internal adaptation of the building to the uses of a great library the paramount considerations.

To enable the commissioners to decide on the internal arrangements, one or more of them should be authorized and empowered to visit the principal public libraries in this country and in Europe, especially the great library of the British Museum, the National Library of France, formerly known as "Bibliotheque du Roi," and some of the larger private libraries in England and on the Continent. The present accomplished Librarian of Congress would, I presume, concur with me in these suggestions. From his official position and his great experience he could render the most valuable aid to the commissioners if Congress should determine to have the Library built under the supervision of such a body. In any mode of action his advice would be, I should think, indispensable to sound and safe conclusions.

The preservation of the copies of all new publications which are required by the copyright laws to be deposited in the Library of Congress is a matter in which the authors and publishers of the country have a deep concern. These copies are the muniments of copyright title. Their preservation, as evidence of what was secured by the original entry, and of what the widow or children of an author is or are entitled to re-enter for a renewal of the copyright term, together with the record of transfers of titles and of contracts made by the author when such contracts have been recorded, is, in the aggregate, of vast consequence. Authors and publishers are taxed by the Government through the requisition of such deposit of copies. Oftentimes this tax, in the case of expensive works, is an onerous one, and in all works, from the most to the least expensive, these copies are the proofs of what is embraced in the copyright. In the course of my professional experience I have often had occasion to know how critically important to the rights and interests of authors and their representatives these evidences of their copyright title are. Our literature has now reached a condition in which enormous pecuniary interests are involved in the execution and administration of the copyright laws. The system, so far as our native literature is concerned, is not likely to undergo any material change. That literature has grown to its great present proportions since the generation to which I belong first learned to read, and no one needs to be told how important it is to the education of the people, or how much it has done to raise the country in the estimation of the world.

Experience has shown that wherever there exists a public library under proper regulations, and affording reasonable guarantees for the preservation and use of large collections of books, it may to a considerable extent rely for accretions on donations from private individuals, and is not wholly dependent for its enlargement on the funds appropriated for its increase by public authority. Individuals, who have during their lives made important and interesting collections of books, have not unfrequently been induced to make testamentary disposition of them to some public library in which they know that their collections will be carefully treasured, and that their names, as donors, will be perpetuated. There is no reason why a National Library should not be, and there are many reasons why it should be, a favorite object of such donations. But in order to encourage them, the internal arrangements and the management of such a library should be so calculated from its foundation as to afford ample accommodation for special donations. The building should be projected and executed on such a scale that it can wait for such accretions and be fitted to receive and provide for them when they come; and if halls remain for some years unoccupied and unused the knowledge that they exist will have a strong tendency to fill them in the course of time. Let us build for posterity as well as for ourselves.

Let us have a National Library worthy of such a country, and fitted to receive all the additions, for which Congress may from time to time provide the means, and all that individuals may be willing to bestow.

I have ventured, Senator, to make these suggestions because, from long reflection, I am persuaded that there are hazards attending the inception and execution of this very important undertaking which ought to be foreseen and which can be obviated by proper precautions.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

GEO. TICKNOR CURTIS.

Mr. INGALLS submitted the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be directed to inform the Senate what proportion of the $10,000,000 United States bonds called for payment February 1, 1886, are held by national banks as a basis for circulation; and if any are so held, by what banks, and the amount held by each.

49TH CONGRESS, 1st Session. } SENATE. { MIS. DOC. No. 37.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES.

JANUARY 18, 1886.—Ordered to be printed.

Mr. FRYE submitted the following

RESOLUTION:

Whereas the President in his late message recommends "that the Congress provide for the appointment of a commission in which the Governments of the United States and Great Britain shall be respectively represented, charged with the consideration and settlement, upon a just, equitable, and honorable basis, of the entire question of the fishing rights of the two Governments and their respective citizens on the coasts of the United States and British North America"; and whereas "the fishing rights" were settled for ten years by a commission appointed under the treaty of Washington at a cost of $5,500,000, paid in money, and a remission of duties amounting in the ten years to about $6,000,000 more; and whereas the effect of the terms agreed upon by the said commission was, further, an increase in the Canadian fishing fleet of five hundred vessels and of seamen ten thousand, with a corresponding decrease in our own fleet and sailors, without any appreciable benefits to the people of the United States: Therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the United States, That in the opinion of the Senate the appointment of a commission clothed with such powers ought not to be provided for by Congress.

O

49TH CONGRESS, 1st Session. } SENATE. { MIS. DOC. No. 38.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES.

JANUARY 18, 1886.—Referred to the Committee on Commerce and ordered to be printed

Mr. COCKRELL presented the following

STATEMENT OF FACTS:

[To accompany the bill (S. 1135) to provide for the reorganization of the Steamboat-Inspection Service and the consolidation of the office of Supervising Inspector-General of Steamboats with the Bureau of Navigation in the Treasury Department.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 18, 1886.

In the matter of the reorganization of the Steamboat Inspection Service and the consolidation of the office of Supervising Inspector-General of Steamboats with the Bureau of Navigation in the Treasury Department:

First. By abolishing the foreign passenger steamers' inspection service.

Second. By abolishing the office of Supervising Inspector-General of Steamboats.

Third. By reducing the compensation of supervising inspectors of steamboats.

Fourth. By abolishing annual meetings of the Board of Supervising Inspectors of Steamboats.

Fifth. By equalizing the compensation of local inspectors of steamboats.

Sixth. By abolishing the Board of Designators.

Seventh. By providing for the manner of paying officers of the Inspection Service.

Eighth. By providing better security of the lives of passengers upon excursion steamers.

Ninth. By providing for the enforcement of penalties for violating inspection laws.

Tenth. By consolidating the office of Supervising Inspector-General with the Bureau of Navigation.

The following are the facts justifying the same: The Steamboat-Inspection Service was organized under an act of Congress, entitled "An act to amend an act entitled an act to provide for the better security of the lives of passengers on board of vessels propelled in whole or in part by steam, and for other purposes" (see 10th Statutes at Large, page 61). Section 18 of said act provides for the appointment of nine supervising inspectors of steam vessels, with compensation at the rate of fifteen hundred dollars per annum, with actual reasonable traveling expenses.

Section 33 says:

And be it further enacted, That the inspectors in the following districts shall each be allowed annually the following compensation, to be paid under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, in the manner officers of the revenue are paid, to-wit:

For the district of Portland, in Maine, three hundred dollars.
For the district of Boston and Charleston, in the State of Massachusetts, eight hundred dollars.
For the district of New London, in Connecticut, three hundred dollars.
For the district of New York, two thousand dollars.
For the district of Philadelphia, in Pennsylvania, one thousand dollars.
For the district of Baltimore, in Maryland, one thousand dollars.
For the district of Norfolk, in Virginia, three hundred dollars.
For the district of Charleston, in South Carolina, four hundred dollars.
For the district of Savannah, in Georgia, four hundred dollars.
For the district of Mobile, in Alabama, one thousand dollars.
For the district of New Orleans, in Louisiana, two thousand dollars.
For the district of Galveston, in Texas, three hundred dollars.
For the district of Saint Louis, in Missouri, fifteen hundred dollars.
For the district of Nashville, in Tennessee, four hundred dollars.
For the district of Louisville, in Kentucky, twelve hundred dollars.
For the district of Cincinnati, in Ohio, fifteen hundred dollars.
For the district of Wheeling, in Virginia, five hundred dollars.
For the district of Pittsburgh, in Pennsylvania, fifteen hundred dollars.
For the district of Chicago, in Illinois, five hundred dollars.
For the district of Detroit, in Michigan, eight hundred dollars.
For the district of Cleveland, in Ohio, five hundred dollars.
For the district of Buffalo, in New York, twelve hundred dollars.
For the district of Oswego, in New York, three hundred dollars.
For the district of Vermont, two hundred dollars.
For the district of San Francisco, in California, fifteen hundred dollars.

Under the act of Congress approved February 28, 1871, now Title 52, Revised Statutes, this service was reorganized, additional local boards were appointed, compensations were increased, so that the expenses of the steamboat inspection service were extravagantly out of all proportion to the services rendered or the requirements of the service. Additional expenses were incurred by the passage of an act entitled "An act to amend section 4400 of Title 52 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, concerning the regulations of steam-vessels," sixteen special inspectors of foreign steam-vessels were appointed, at a salary of $2,000 per annum each, with clerks, incidental expenses, &c., making a force now employed in the steamboat inspection service of 146 persons, at an annual expense of $288,763.95, and divided up in the several districts as follows, to wit:

	Number of persons.	Salaries.		Number of persons.	Salaries.

REDUCE THE FORCE.

It is a well-known fact to all persons interested in steam-vessels that two persons—one a boiler inspector, the other a hull inspector—can make a thorough examination and inspection of any steam-vessel in two hours' time. The manual labor is all performed by the officers and crew of the vessel to be inspected, the clerical labor can be performed in one hour; consequently, a local board can inspect two vessels each day for 300 days each year.

The following table will show the number of steam-vessels inspected in each district by the local boards of inspectors, as reported by the Board of Supervising Inspectors of Steam-Vessels for 1884; also the number of vessels which can be inspected by the reorganization of the service, computing the inspection of one steamboat per day for 300 days each year.

District.	Vessels inspected during the year 1884.	Persons employed.	Vessels which can be inspected by the force as reorganized.	Persons necessary for each district.

Number of steam vessels which can be inspected by the force as reorganized, 12,000.

Discharge special inspector of life-saving equipment at New York; and by consolidating the positions of supervising inspector-general and commissioner of navigation $3,500 and $2,000 can be added to the above amount, making a total of $124,300 saved.

REDUCE THE COMPENSATION.

When Congress created the positions of supervising inspectors of steam-vessels by the act of 1852 (see 10, Statutes at Large, page 70), the amount of compensation was fixed at $1,500 per year, with all reasonable traveling expenses paid by the Government. "War measures" increased the salaries to the price now paid by the Government, to wit, $3,000 per year.

Attention is respectfully invited to the facts that all salaries of men qualified by education and experience throughout the country to fill the positions of supervising inspectors of steam vessels has decreased since the war to about the same prices received by them when this law was enacted. In other words, there are any number of practical, competent moral men, every way qualified to fill these positions according to law, who would be glad to accept them at the proposed reduced rate of $1,500 per year.

Engineers and ship-carpenters competent to fill the positions of inspectors of hulls and boilers are not receiving at this time the sum of $1,200 per year, the amount proposed to be paid in the reorganization of the steamboat-inspection service; consequently the positions of local inspectors can be filled with first-class skilled mechanics at that amount of compensation.

As the amount of salaries in several instances (authorized to be paid to local inspectors) is below the proposed sum of $1,200 per year, it is recommended to increase the salaries in those cases, so that the same service shall receive the same compensation without regard to location. As supervising inspectors and local inspectors are not eligible to these positions without specified qualifications, implied qualifications to keep the necessary records of their offices, and as a majority of the inspectors are not employed outside of their offices more than one-half of their time, the services of clerks can be dispensed with.

In proof of this statement attention is called to the report of the Board of Supervising Inspectors for the year 1884, showing the number of steam-vessels inspected by local boards on the Northern lakes during the winter months:

Ports.	October.	November.	December.	January.	February.	March.	Total for six months.

Anchor Line steamers (Saint Louis to New Orleans).

Captains, per month (actual time employed)	150
Engineers, per month (actual time employed)	100
Pilots, per month (actual time employed)	125
Mates, per month (actual time employed)	100

The Anchor Line steamers are the largest boats afloat on the Western rivers. A crew will average employment for nine months each year.

Upper Mississippi River steamers (Saint Louis to Saint Paul).

Captain, per month (actual time employed)	125
Pilots, per month (actual time employed)	100
Mates, per month (actual time employed)	80
Engineers:
First, per month (actual time employed)	85
Second, per month (actual time employed)	60

These steamers run about seven months in the year. Ice and low water compel them to lay up five months in the year.

Steamers run between Saint Louis and Keokuk, 200 miles, about ten months each year.

Steamers on the Northern lakes run about six months each year. The compensation is less on the lakes than on Western rivers.

Steamers on the Saint John's River, Florida, and other Southern rivers are laid up usually during the summer months, giving employment to crews on an average of six months each year with salaries about the same as paid upon Western and other Southern rivers, to wit:

	Per month.
Masters	$100 to $125
Pilots	75 100
Mates	60 80
Engineers	80 100

By the foregoing statement it is shown that masters receive per annum about $1,350; pilots, $1,125; engineers, $900; and mates, $900.

These figures are the highest wages paid by steamboat companies throughout the country, for men who are every way qualified to fill the positions of supervising inspectors, and inspectors of hulls and boilers; consequently, there can be no good reason why the Government should pay $3,000 per year to supervising inspectors, and $2,200 per year for hull and boiler inspectors, when men equally competent can be employed at $1,500 and $1,200, respectively, to perform the service as required by law.

THE INSPECTION OF FOREIGN STEAM-VESSELS.

The 22d Statutes at Large, chapter 441, page 346, entitled "An act to amend section 4400 of Title fifty-two of the Revised Statutes of the United States, concerning the regulations of steam-vessels", authorizes the appointment of sixteen special inspectors of foreign steam-vessels, at a salary of $2,000 per annum each, with clerks, incidental expenses, &c., and which has caused an outlay of $37,596.05. (See report of the Secretary of the Treasury for 1884, page LVI, as follows):

Inspection of foreign steam passenger vessels under act of Congress approved August 7, 1882.

At New York (including 21 on the lakes)	148
At Boston (including 8 at Portland)	28
At Philadelphia (including 18 on the lakes)	23

At Baltimore (including 2 at Newport News)	11
At New Orleans	6
At San Francisco	6
Total number of steam-vessels inspected	222

The expenses for this service has been as follows:

For salaries	$34,277 00
For contingent expenses	3,319 05
Total	37,596 05

As above shown, the local boards of inspectors of steam-vessels at the maritime ports of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, and San Francisco could inspect a much larger number of steam-vessels than they are required to inspect, and as they are equally competent under the law to inspect foreign steam-vessels, the special inspectors appointed under the law referred to, should be dismissed, thereby saving the large sum of $37,596.05.

The following amendment is suggested, to wit: Strike out of section one of the act the following: "Provided, That where the term 'local inspector' is used in the foregoing section it shall be construed to mean the special inspectors hereinafter provided for." Also strike out sections 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 of the act. This amendment will give the local inspectors of steam-vessels the same authority over foreign passenger steam-vessels as prescribed by law over all other steam-vessels.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENSES.

The receipts and expenses of the Steamboat Inspection Service, as given in the report of the Secretary of the Treasury for the year 1884 (see page LV), show an excess of expenditures over receipts of $65,348.86.

Total expenditures, including the expense of the special inspectors foreign vessels		$288,763 95
By the proposed "retrenchment and reform" the expenses would be reduced in salaries		124,300 00
Making the annual expenses		164,463 95

BUREAU OF NAVIGATION.

As Congress did on July 5, 1884, enact a law creating the "Bureau of Navigation in the Treasury Department," for the purpose of consolidating all subjects relating to navigation in the Treasury Department, it is believed that the steamboat-inspection service can be added to the Bureau of Navigation without detriment to the steamboat-inspection service, and with advantage to the Bureau of Navigation, thereby reducing the expenses of the steamboat-inspection service the amount of the salary of a supervising inspector-general. The proposed amendment to the Revised Statutes will accomplish that purpose.

UNITED STATES CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

Believing that all appointments of local inspectors should be made after a competitive examination, the proposed amendments to section 4415 of the Revised Statutes repeal so much of said section as requires appointments of hull and boiler inspectors to be made by the judge of the district, collector of the district, and the supervising inspector of the district, acting as a board, and require these appointments to be made by the "United States Civil Service Commission," at the request of the Secretary of the Treasury.

EXCURSION PERMITS.

As section 4466 of the Revised Statutes leaves the number of passengers to be carried on board of steamboats engaged in excursions discretionary with the local board of inspectors of steam-vessels, and as complaints are constantly being made through the "press" and by individuals of the "overcrowded condition of excursion steamboats," the proposed amendment to said section, by adding certain conditions to govern local inspectors and to protect the lives of passengers on board of said boats, is necessary. At the same time the interest of steamboat owners will be fully protected.

PENALTY CLAUSE.

Section 4500 of the Revised Statutes, relating to the penalty, has had the effect of deterring persons from commencing action against steamboats and steamboat officials, as the vessels were not held for the judgment. The proposed amendment to this section will correct this evil.

PERMANENT APPROPRIATIONS.

Section 4461 of the Revised Statutes makes the receipt from the inspection of steam-vessels, and the licensing of the officers of steam-vessels, a permanent appropriation, to meet the expenses of this service. As the receipts from these sources are so much less than the expenses of the service, caused by the reduction of charges for inspection, and a reduction of license fees, the proposed bill repeals this section. The Secretary of the Treasury, in his report, July 1, 1885, page liii, shows a deficit of $138,822.22, which, added to the expense of the inspection of foreign steamers, gives a total deficit for 1885 of $175,463.85.

In conclusion. By the passage of the bill as prepared and presented for your consideration, the following benefit will be derived without in any manner affecting the general efficiency of the steamboat service.

First. The amendment to sec. 4400 R. S. abolishes the force now engaged in inspecting foreign passenger steamers, and requires that service to be performed by the local inspectors, saving the sum of $37,596.05 per annum.

Second. The repeal of sections 4402 and 4403 R. S. abolishes the office of Supervising Inspector-General, thereby saving the sum of $3,500 per annum.

Third. The amendment to sec. 4404 R. S. reduces the compensation of ten supervising inspectors from $3,000 per annum each to $1,500 per annum each, thereby saving the sum of $15,000 per annum.

Fourth. The amendment to sec 4405 R. S. abolishes the annual meeting of the Board of Supervising Inspectors, and authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to convene the board at any time the exigency of the service may demand.

Fifth. The amendment to sec. 4414 R. S. equalizes the compensation of all inspectors and assistant inspectors of hulls and boilers, making the compensation the same for like services without regard to location, also abolishes all clerkships for supervising inspectors and local inspectors, and authorizes the United States Civil Service Commission to appoint to the positions of inspectors or assistant inspectors of hulls or boilers, whenever requested so to do by the Secretary of the Treasury, and at a salary of twelve hundred dollars each.

The amendment to sec. 4415 R. S. authorizes the United States Civil Service Commission to examine and appoint inspectors and assistant inspectors of hulls and boilers, and abolishes the board of designators, consisting of the "collector of customs, judge of the district court, and the supervising inspector of the district."

Seventh. The repeal of sec. 4461 R. S. making the receipts of all revenue from the inspection of steam-vessels, and the licensing of officers of such vessels a permanent appropriation to pay the salaries and expenses of the officers employed in the steamboat inspection service, will cause these expenses to be paid the same as all officers of the revenue are paid, and the revenue received on account of this service covered into the Treasury.

Eighth. The amendment to sec. 4466 R. S. requires the local inspectors to grant excursion permits to steam-vessels, securing to each passenger ten square feet of deck room, and requiring that a passage-way three feet wide shall be kept open from the "stem to the stern" of the boat on each deck passengers are carried, so as to give the crew of the boat an unobstructed passage-way in case of fire or other accident to the boat.

Ninth. The amendment to sec. 4500 R. S. makes the vessel liable for any penalty for the violation of any provision of the steamboat inspection laws.

Tenth. The amendment to sec. 2, chap. 221, entitled "An act to constitute a Bureau of Navigation in the Treasury Department," approved July 5, 1884.

By consolidating the Bureau of Navigation and the office of Supervising Inspector-General of Steamboats, all matters pertaining to navigation will be found in this Bureau. The duties of the Supervising Inspector-General, as prescribed by law, are ministerial (excepting presiding at the meeting of the Board of Supervising Inspectors, which meets once in each year), the duties of the office can (as has always heretofore been the case) be performed by three clerks. The duties of the Commissioner of Navigation, as prescribed by law, requires all matters (excepting the receiving of all reports from inspectors) pertaining to registering, enrolment, and license of vessels, together with a general superintendency of the seamen of the United States, to be referred to him. By requiring the reports from inspectors of steam vessels to be made to him and assigning the three clerks now employed in the office of the Supervising Inspector-General to the Bureau of Navigation, the entire subject of navigation will be consolidated in one bureau, and under the direction of one officer, subject only to the Secretary of the Treasury. The following force is now employed in the Bureau of Navigation, to wit:

1 Commissioner	$3,600
1 Deputy Commissioner	2,000
1 clerk, class 4	1,800
1 clerk, class 3	1,600
4 clerks, class 2	1,400
3 clerks, class 1	1,200
10 clerks	900
1 laborer	660

The foregoing statements are substantially correct. There are some small discrepancies between the statements made by the Board of Supervising Inspectors of Steam-Vessels and the reports of the Secretary of the Treasury, as the Board make their report for the calendar year, while the Secretary makes his report for the fiscal year. As the Board of Supervising Inspectors do not meet until January 20, the report for 1885 will not be made until that date.

49TH CONGRESS, 1st Session. | SENATE. | MIS. DOC. No. 39.

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES.

JANUARY 18, 1886.—Referred to the Committee on Territories and ordered to be printed.

Mr. VOORHEES presented the following:

PREAMBLE.

The object of the institution, maintenance, and administration of government is to secure the existence of the body-politic, to protect it, and to furnish the individuals who compose it with the power of enjoying, in safety and tranquillity, their natural rights and the blessings of life; and whenever these great objects are not obtained, the people have a right to alter or change their form of government, and to take measures necessary for their safety, prosperity, and happiness.

The body-politic is formed by a voluntary association of individuals; it is a social compact by which the whole people covenant with each citizen and each citizen with the whole people, that all should be governed by certain laws for the common good.

It is the duty of the people, therefore, in framing a constitution of government, to provide for an equitable mode of making laws, as well for an impartial interpretation and a faithful execution of them, that every man may at all times find his safety in them. We, therefore, the people of Montana, acknowledging with grateful hearts the goodness of the Great Legislator of the Universe, in affording us, in the course of His Providence, an opportunity, deliberately and peaceably, without fraud, violence, or intimidation, of entering into an original, explicit, and solemn compact with each other, and of forming a constitution of civil government for ourselves and our posterity; and devoutly imploring His direction in so grand and interesting a design, do agree upon, ordain, and establish the following declaration of rights and form of government as the constitution of the State of Montana.

ARTICLE I.—A declaration of the rights of the people of the State of Montana.

In order to assert our rights, acknowledge our duties, and proclaim the principles upon which our Government is founded, we declare:

SECTION 1. That all political power is vested in and derived from the people; that all government, of right, originates from the people, is founded upon their will only, and is instituted solely for the good of the whole.

SEC. 2. That the people of this State have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves, as a free, sovereign, and independent State, and to alter and abolish their constitution and form of government whenever they may deem it necessary to their safety and happiness, provided such change be not repugnant to the Constitution of the United States.

SEC. 3. That all persons are born equally free and have certain natural, essential, and inalienable rights, among which may be reckoned the right of enjoying and defending their lives and liberties; that of acquiring, possessing, and protecting property, and of seeking and obtaining their safety and happiness.

SEC. 4. That the free exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship, without discrimination, shall forever hereafter be guaranteed; and no person shall be denied any civil or political rights, privilege, or capacity on account of his opinions concerning religion, but the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not be construed to dispense with oaths or affirmations, excuse acts of licentiousness, by bigamous or polygamous marriage, or otherwise, or justify practices inconsistent with the good order, peace, or safety of the State, or opposed to the civil authority thereof, or of the United States. No person shall be required to attend or support any ministry or place of worship, religious sect, or denomination against his consent; nor shall any preference be given by law to any religious denomination or mode of worship.

SEC. 5. That all elections shall be free and open; and no power, civil or military, shall at any time interfere to prevent the free exercise of the right of suffrage.

SEC. 6. That courts of justice shall be open to every person, and a speedy remedy afforded for every injury of person, property, or character; and that right and justice should be administered without sale, denial, or delay.

SEC. 7. That the people shall be secure in their person, papers, homes, and effects from unreasonable searches and seizures; and no warrant to search any place or seize any person or thing shall issue without describing the place to be searched or the person or thing to be seized, as near as may be, nor without probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, reduced to writing.

SEC. 8. That until otherwise provided by law, no person shall for felony be proceeded against criminally, otherwise than by indictment, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia when in actual service in the time of war or public danger. In all other cases offenses shall be prosecuted criminally by indictment or information.

SEC. 9. That treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against it, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort; that no person shall be convicted of treason, except on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on his confession in open court; that no person shall be attainted of treason or felony by the legislative assembly; that no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate; that the estates of persons who may destroy their own lives shall descend or vest as in cases of natural death.

SEC. 10. That no law shall be passed impairing the freedom of speech; that every person shall be free to speak, write, or publish whatever he will on any subject, being responsible for all abuse of that liberty; and that in all suits and prosecutions for libel, the truth thereof may be given in evidence, and the jury, under the direction of the court, shall determine the law and the fact.

SEC. 11. That no ex post facto law, nor law impairing the obligation of contracts, or retrospective in its operation, or making any irrevocable grant of special privileges, franchises, or immunities shall be passed by the legislative assembly.

SEC. 12. That no person shall be imprisoned for debt except in such manner as may be prescribed by law, upon refusal to deliver up his estate for the benefit of his creditors, or, in cases of tort, where there is strong presumption of fraud.

SEC. 13. That the right of any person to keep and bear arms in defense of his own home, person, and property, or in aid of the civil power when thereto legally summoned, shall not be called in question, but nothing herein contained shall be construed to justify the practice of carrying concealed weapons.

SEC. 14. That private property shall not be taken for private use, unless by consent of the owner, except for private ways of necessity, and except for reservoirs, drains, flumes, or ditches on or across the lands of others, for agricultural, mining, milling, domestic, or sanitary purposes.

SEC. 15. That private property shall not be taken or damaged for public or private use, without just compensation. Such compensation shall be ascertained by a board of commissioners, of not less than three freeholders, or by a jury, when required by the owner of the property, in such manner as may be prescribed by law; and until the same shall be paid to the owner or into court for the owner, the property shall not be needlessly disturbed, or the proprietary rights of the owner therein divested; and whenever an attempt is made to take private property for a use alleged to be public, the question whether the contemplated use be really public shall be a judicial question, and determined as such without regard to any legislative assertion that the use is public.

SEC. 16. That in criminal prosecutions the accused shall have the right to appear and defend in person and by counsel; to demand the nature and cause of the accusation; to meet the witnesses against him face to face; to have process to compel the attendance of witnesses in his behalf, and a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county or district in which the offense is alleged to have been committed.

SEC. 17. That no person shall be imprisoned for the purpose of securing his testimony in any case longer than may be necessary in order to take his deposition. If he can give security, he shall be discharged; if he cannot give security, his deposition shall be taken by some judge of the supreme, district, or county court at the earliest time he can attend, at some convenient place appointed by him for that purpose, of which time and place the accused and the attorney prosecuting for the people shall have reasonable notice. The accused shall have the right to appear in person and by counsel. If he have no counsel, the judge shall assign him one in that behalf only. On the completion of such examination the witness shall be discharged on his own recognizance, entered into before said judge, but such deposition shall not be used, if in the opinion of the court the personal attendance of the witness might be procured by the prosecution, or is procured by the accused. No exception shall be taken to such deposition as to matters of form.

SEC. 18. That no person shall be compelled to testify against himself in a criminal case, nor shall any person be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense.

SEC. 19. That all persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses when the proof is evident or the presumption great.

SEC. 20. That excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

SEC. 21. That the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall never be suspended, unless in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety require it.

SEC. 22. That the military shall always be in strict subordination to the civil power; that no soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, except in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 23. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate in criminal cases; but a jury in civil cases in all courts, or in criminal cases not of the grade of felony, may consist of less than twelve men, as may be prescribed by law. And the legislative assembly may provide by law that, in civil cases, any number, not less than two-thirds of a jury, may find a verdict, and that such verdict, when so found, shall be taken and held to have the same force and effect as if all of such jury concurred therein.

Hereafter a grand jury shall consist of twelve men, any nine of whom concurring may find an indictment: Provided, The legislative assembly may change, regulate, or abolish the grand-jury system.

SEC. 24. That the people have the right peaceably to assemble for the common good, and to apply to those invested with the powers of government for redress of grievances, by petition or remonstrance.

SEC. 25. That no person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law.

SEC. 26. That there shall never be in this State either slavery or involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

SEC. 27. The provisions of this constitution are mandatory and prohibitory, unless by express words they are declared to be otherwise.

SEC. 28. The enumeration in this constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny, impair, or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE II.—Boundaries.

SECTION 1. The boundaries of the State of Montana shall be the same as the boundaries of the Territory of Montana, at the time of its admission into the Union.

ARTICLE III.—Distribution of powers.

SECTION 1. The powers of the government of this State are divided into three distinct departments: The legislative, executive, and judicial; and no person, or collection of persons, charged with the exercise of powers properly belonging to one of these departments shall exercise any powers properly belonging to either of the others, except as in this constitution expressly directed or permitted.

ARTICLE IV.—Legislative department.

SECTION 1. The legislative power shall be vested in a senate and house of representatives, which shall be designated "The Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana."

SEC. 2. Senators shall be elected for the term of four years, and representatives for the term of two years, except as is otherwise provided in this constitution.

SEC. 3. No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained the age of twenty-one years, or a senator who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years, and who shall not be a citizen of the United States, and who shall not (for at least twelve months next preceding his election) have resided within the county or district in which he shall be elected: Provided, That any person who, at the time of the adoption of this constitution, was a qualified elector under the territorial laws, shall be eligible to the first legislative assembly.

SEC. 4. After the first session of the legislative assembly of the State, and until otherwise provided by law, the senate shall consist of twenty-one members, and the house of representatives of forty-five members. It shall be the duty of the first legislative assembly to divide the State into senatorial and representative districts, but there shall be at least one senator from each county. The senatorial districts shall be numbered from one to twenty-one, if there be so many. The senators shall be divided into two classes: Those elected in districts designated by even numbers shall constitute one class, and those elected in districts designated by odd numbers shall constitute the other class, except that senators elected in each of the districts having more than one senator shall be divided as equally as may be between the two classes. The senators of one class shall hold for two years, those of the other class shall hold for four years, to be decided by lot between the two classes, so that one-half the senators, as nearly as practicable, may be elected biennially thereafter.

SEC. 5. Each member of the first legislative assembly, as a compensation for his services, shall receive $5 for each day's attendance, and 20 cents for each mile necessarily traveled in going to the seat of government from his residence and in returning from the seat of government to his residence by the usually traveled route, and shall receive no other compensation, perquisite, or allowance whatsoever. No session of the legislative assembly after the first, which may be sixty days, shall exceed forty days. After the first session the compensation of the members of the legislative assembly shall be as provided by law: Provided, That no legislative assembly shall fix its own compensation.

SEC. 6. The legislative assembly (except the first), shall meet at 12 o'clock noon, on the second Tuesday after the first Monday of January next succeeding the general election provided by law, and at 12 o'clock noon, on the second Tuesday after the first Monday of January of each alternate year thereafter, and at other times when convened by the governor. The term of service of the members thereof shall begin the next day after their election, until otherwise provided by law.

SEC. 7. No senator or representative shall, during the term for which he shall have been elected, be appointed to any civil office under the State; and no member of Congress, or other person holding an office (except of attorney at law, notary public, or in the militia) under the United States or this State, shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

SEC. 8. No member of either house shall, during the term for which he shall have been elected, receive any increase of salary or mileage, under any law passed during such term.

SEC. 9. The senate shall, at the beginning and close of each regular session, and at such other times as may be necessary, elect one of its members president pro tempore. The house of representatives shall elect one of its members as speaker. Each house shall choose its other officers, and shall judge of the election and qualification of its members.

SEC. 10. A majority of each house shall constitute a quorum, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and compel the attendance of absent members.

SEC. 11. Each house shall have power to determine the rules of its proceedings, and punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence; to protect its members against violence or offers of bribes, or private solicitation, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, to expel a member, and shall have all other powers necessary for the legislative assembly of a free State. A member expelled for corruption shall not thereafter be eligible to either house of the legislative assembly; and punishment for contempt or disorderly behavior shall not bar a criminal prosecution for the same offense.

SEC. 12. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and may, in its discretion, from time to time, publish the same, except such parts as require secrecy, and the ayes and noes on any question shall, at the request of any two members, be entered on the journal.

SEC. 13. The sessions of each house and of the committees of the whole shall be open, unless the business is such as requires secrecy.

SEC. 14. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SEC. 15. The members of the legislative assembly shall, in all cases, except treason, felony, violation of their oath of office, and breach or surety of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the sessions of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

SEC. 16. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment. The concurrence of a majority of all the members shall be necessary to an impeachment. All impeachments shall be tried by the senate, and, when sitting for that purpose, the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation to do justice according to law and evidence. When the governor or lieutenant-governor is on trial, the chief justice of the supreme court shall preside. No person shall be convicted without a concurrence of two-thirds of the senators elected.

SEC. 17. The governor and other State and judicial officers, except county judges and justices of the peace, shall be liable to impeachment for high crimes and misdemeanors, or malfeasance in office; but judgment in such cases shall only extend to removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust, or profit in the State. The party, whether convicted or acquitted, shall, nevertheless, be liable to prosecution, trial, judgment, and punishment according to law.

SEC. 18. All officers not liable to impeachment shall be subject to removal for misconduct or malfeasance in office, in such manner as may be provided by law.

SEC. 19. No law shall be passed except by bill, and no bill shall be so altered or amended on its passage through either house as to change its original purpose.

SEC. 20. The enacting clause of every law shall be as follows: "Be it enacted by the legislative assembly of the State of Montana."

SEC. 21. No act of the legislative assembly shall take effect until sixty days after the close of the session, unless in case of emergency (which shall be expressed in the preamble or body of the act) the legislative assembly shall, by a vote of two-thirds of all the members present in each house, otherwise direct. No bill for the appropriation of money, except for the expenses of the government, shall be introduced after the twenty-fifth day of the session, except by unanimous consent of the house in which it is sought to be introduced.

SEC. 22. No bill shall be considered or become a law unless referred to a committee, returned therefrom, and printed for the use of the members.

SEC. 23. No bill, except appropriation bills, shall be passed containing more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title; but if any subject shall be embraced in any act which shall not be expressed in the title, such act shall be void only as to so much thereof as shall not be so expressed.

SEC. 24. No bill shall become a law, except by a vote of a majority of all the members present in each house, nor unless on its final passage the vote be taken by ayes and noes and the names of those voting be entered on the journal.

SEC. 25. No law shall be revised or amended, or the provisions thereof extended or conferred by reference to its title only, but so much thereof as is revised, amended, extended, or conferred, shall be re-enacted and published at length.

SEC. 26. The legislative assembly shall not pass local or special laws in any of the following enumerated cases, that is to say: For granting divorces, laying out, opening, altering or working roads or highways, vacating roads, town plats, streets, alleys, or public grounds; locating or changing county seats; regulating county or township affairs; regulating the practice in courts of justice; regulating the jurisdiction and duties of justices of the peace, police magistrates, or constables; changing the rules of evidence in any trial or inquiry; providing for changes of venue in civil or criminal cases; declaring any person of age; for limitation of civil actions, or giving effect to informal or invalid deeds; summoning or impanneling grand or petit juries; providing for the management of common schools; regulating the rate of interest on money; the opening or conducting of any election, or designating the place of voting; the sale or mortgage of real estate belonging to minors or others under disability; chartering or licensing ferries of toll bridges or toll roads; remitting fines, penalties, or forfeitures; creating, increasing, or decreasing fees, percentage, or, allowances of public officers; changing the law of descent; granting to any corporation, association, or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks, or any special or exclusive privilege, immunity, or franchise whatever; for the punishment of crimes; changing the names of persons or places; for the assessment or collection of taxes; affecting estates of deceased persons, minors or others under legal disabilities; extending the time for the collection of taxes; refunding money paid into the State treasury; relinquishing or extinguishing, in whole or in part, the indebtedness, liability, or obligation of any corporation or person to this State, or to any municipal corporation therein; legalizing, except as against the State, the unauthorized or invalid act of any officer; exempting property from taxation; restoring to citizenship persons convicted of infamous crimes; authorizing the creation, extension, or impairing of liens; creating offices, or prescribing the powers and duties of officers in counties, cities, townships, election or school districts; or authorizing the adoption or legitimation of children. In all other cases, where a general law can be made applicable, no special law shall be enacted.

SEC. 27. The presiding officer of each house shall, in the presence of the house over which he presides, sign all bills and joint resolutions passed by the legislative assembly immediately after their titles have been publicly read; and the fact of signing shall be at once entered upon the journal.

SEC. 28. The legislative assembly shall prescribe by law the number, duties, and compensation of the officers and employés of each house; and no payment shall be made from the State treasury, or be in any way authorized to any person, except to an acting officer or employé elected or appointed in pursuance of law.

SEC. 29. No bill shall be passed giving any extra compensation to any public officer, servant, or employé, agent or contractor, after services shall have been rendered or contract made, nor providing for the payment of any claim made against the State without previous authority of law.

SEC. 30. All stationery, printing, paper, fuel, and lights used in the legislative and other departments of government shall be furnished, and the printing and binding and distribution of the laws, journals, and department reports and other printing and binding, and the repairing and furnishing the halls and rooms used for the meeting of the legislative assembly and its committees, shall be performed under contract, to be given to the lowest bidder, below such maximum price and under such regulations as may be prescribed by law. No member or officer of any department of the government shall be in any way interested in any such contract; and all such contract shall be subject to the approval of the governor and State treasurer.

SEC. 31. Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, no law shall extend the term of any public officer, or increase or diminish his salary or emoluments after his election or appointment: Provided, That this shall not be construed to forbid the legislative assembly from fixing the salaries or emoluments of those officers first elected or appointed under this constitution, where such salaries or emoluments are not fixed by this constitution.

SEC. 32. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives; but the senate may propose amendments, as in the case of other bills.

SEC. 33. The general appropriation bill shall embrace nothing but appropriations for the ordinary expenses of the executive, legislative, and judicial departments of the State, interest on the public debt, and for public schools. All other appropriations shall be made by separate bills, each embracing but one subject.

SEC. 34. No money shall be paid out of the treasury, except upon appropriations made by law, and on warrant drawn by the proper officer in pursuance thereof.

SEC. 35. No appropriation shall be made for charitable, industrial, educational, or benevolent purposes or to any person, corporation or community not under the absolute control of the State, nor to any denominational or sectarian institution or association.

SEC. 36. The legislative assembly shall not delegate to any special commission, private corporation, or association any power to make, supervise, or interfere with any municipal improvement, money, property, or effects, whether held in trust or otherwise, or to levy taxes, or to perform any municipal function whatever.

SEC. 37. No act of the legislative assembly shall authorize the investment of trust funds by executors, administrators, guardians, or trustees in the bonds or stock of any private corporation.

SEC. 38. The legislative assembly shall have no power to pass any law authorizing the State, or any county in this State, to contract any debt or obligation in the construction of any railroad, nor give or loan its credit to or in aid of the construction of the same.

SEC. 39. No obligation or liability of any person, association, or corporation, held or owned by the State, or any municipal corporation therein, shall ever be exchanged, transferred, remitted, released, or postponed, or in any way diminished by the legislative assembly; nor shall such liability or obligation be extinguished, except by the payment thereof into the proper treasury.

SEC. 40. Every order, resolution, or vote, in which the concurrence of both houses may be necessary, except on the question of adjournment, or relating solely to the transaction of the business of the two houses, shall be presented to the governor, and before it shall take effect be approved by him, or, being disapproved, be repassed by two-thirds of both houses, as prescribed in the case of a bill.

SEC. 41. If any person elected to either house of the legislative assembly shall offer or promise to give his vote or influence in favor of or against any measure or proposition, pending or proposed to be introduced into the legislative assembly, in consideration or upon condition that any other person elected to the same legislative assembly will give or will promise or assent to give, his vote or influence in favor of or against any other measure or proposition, pending or proposed to be introduced into such legislative assembly, the person making such offer or promise shall be deemed guilty of solicitation of bribery. If any member of the legislative assembly shall give his vote or influence for or against any measure or proposition, pending or proposed to be introduced into such legislative assembly, or offer, promise, or assent so to do, upon condition that any other member will give, or will promise or assent to give his vote or influence in favor of or against any other measure or proposition, pending or proposed to be introduced into such legislative assembly, or in consideration that any other member hath given his vote or influence for or against any other measure or proposition in such legislative assembly, he shall be deemed guilty of bribery, and any member of the legislative assembly, or person elected thereto, who shall be guilty of either of such offenses, shall be expelled, and shall not thereafter be eligible to the legislative assembly, and, on the conviction thereof in the civil courts, shall be liable to such further penalty as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 42. Any person who shall, directly or indirectly, offer, give, or promise any money or thing of value, testimonial, privilege, or personal advantage to any executive or judicial officer, or member of the legislative assembly, to influence him in the performance of any of his official or public duties, shall be deemed guilty of bribery, and be punished in such manner as shall be provided by law.

SEC. 43. The offense of corrupt solicitation of members of the legislative assembly, or of public officers of the State, or of any municipal division thereof, and the occupation or practice of solicitation of such members or officers, to influence their official action, shall be defined by law, and shall be punished by fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 44. A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the legislative assembly shall disclose the fact to the house of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon.

APPORTIONMENT AND REPRESENTATION.

SEC. 45. Until otherwise provided by law, the representative of the State of Montana in the Congress of the United States shall be elected by the State at large. When a new apportionment shall be made by Congress, the legislative assembly shall divide the State into Congressional districts accordingly.

SEC. 46. The legislative assembly, at its first session held under this constitution, shall provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of the State, and as often thereafter as in the opinion of the legislative assembly such enumeration shall be necessary, and shall revise and adjust the apportionment for senators and representatives on the basis of such enumeration according to the ratio to be fixed by law.

SEC. 47. The first legislative assembly held under this constitution shall be constituted as follows: The Senate shall consist of the same number of senators, and the house of representatives of the same number of representatives, as the territorial council and the house of representatives at the time of the admission of the State into the Union, and for that purpose the council and representative districts, as then provided by law, shall constitute the senatorial and representative districts for the election of senators and representatives of the first legislative assembly under this constitution.

SEC. 48. The legislative assembly shall not increase the senate and house of representatives to a number greater, in the aggregate, than one hundred, prior to the year A. D. 1900, and in case of such increase, the ratio of senators to representatives, provided for in section four of this article, shall be preserved as nearly as practicable.

SEC. 49. When a senatorial or representative district shall be composed of two or more counties, they shall be contiguous and the district as compact as may be. No county shall be divided in the formation of a senatorial or representative district.

ARTICLE V.—Executive department.

SECTION 1. The executive department shall consist of a governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, state auditor, state treasurer, attorney-general, and superintendent of public instruction, each of whom shall hold his office for two years, beginning on the first Monday in January next after his election, except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The officers of the executive department, excepting the lieutenant-governor, shall, during their term of offices, reside at the seat of government, where they shall keep the public records, books, and papers. They shall perform such duties as are prescribed by this constitution and as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 2. The officers provided for in section 1 of this article shall be elected by the qualified electors of the State at the time and places of voting for members of the legislative assembly, and the persons, respectively, having the highest number of votes for the office voted for shall be elected; but if two or more shall have an equal and the highest number of votes for any one of said offices, the two houses of the legislative assembly, at its next regular session, shall forthwith, by joint ballot, elect one of such persons for said office. The returns of election for the officers named in section 1 shall be made in such manner as may be prescribed by law, and all contested elections of the same, other than provided for in this section, shall be determined as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 3. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor, lieutenant-governor, or superintendent of public instruction, unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years at the time of his election, nor to the office of secretary of state, state auditor, or state treasurer, unless he shall have attained the age of twenty-five years, nor to the office of attorney-general unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years, and have been admitted to practice in the supreme court of the State or Territory of Montana, and be in good standing at the time of his election. In addition to the qualifications above prescribed, each of the officers named shall be a citizen of the United States, and have resided within the State or Territory two years next preceding his election.

SEC. 4. The governor, secretary of state, state auditor, state treasurer, attorney-general, and superintendent of public instruction, shall, quarterly as due, during their continuance in office, receive for their services compensation, which, for the term next ensuing after the adoption of this constitution, is fixed as follows: Governor, $3,600 per annum; secretary of State, $2,200 per annum; State auditor, State treasurer, attorney-general, and superintendent of public instruction, $2,000 each per annum. The lieutenant-governor shall receive the same per diem as may be provided by law for the speaker of the legislative assembly, to be allowed only during the sessions of the legislative assembly. The compensations enumerated shall be in full for all services by said officers respectively rendered in any official capacity or employment whatever during their respective terms of office. No officer named in this section shall receive, for the performance of any official duty, any fee for his own use; but all fees fixed by law for the performance by either of them of any official duty, shall be collected in advance, and deposited with the state treasurer, quarterly, to the credit of the State. No officer mentioned in this section shall be eligible to, or hold any other public office, except regents of the State university, during his tenure of office. The legislative assembly may by law diminish or increase the compensation of any or all of the officers named in this section, but no such diminution or increase shall effect the salaries of the officers then in office during their term: Provided, however, The legislative assembly may provide for the payment of mileage to the governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, attorney-general, and superintendent of public instruction, while traveling within the State in the performance of official duty.

SEC. 5. The supreme executive power of the State shall be vested in the governor, who shall see that the laws are faithfully executed.

SEC. 6. The governor shall nominate and, by and with the consent of the senate, appoint all officers whose offices are established by this constitution, or which may be created by law, and whose appointment or election is not otherwise provided for. If during the recess of the senate a vacancy occur in any such office, the governor shall appoint some fit person to discharge the duties thereof until the next meeting of the senate, when he shall nominate some person to fill such office. If the office of secretary of state, state auditor, state treasurer, attorney-general, or superintendent of public instruction shall be vacated by death, resignation, or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the governor to fill the same by appointment, and the appointee shall hold his office until his successor shall be elected and qualified in such manner as may be provided by law. The senate in deliberating and acting upon executive nominations may sit with closed doors.

SEC. 7. The governor, secretary of state, and attorney-general shall constitute a board to be known as the board of pardons. Said board, or a majority thereof, shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures, and to grant commutations and pardons after conviction and judgment, either absolutely or upon such conditions as they may impose, in all cases of offenses against the State, except treason or conviction on impeachment. The legislative assembly shall by law prescribe the sessions of said board, and the manner in which application shall be made, and regulate the proceedings thereon; but no fine or forfeiture shall be remitted, and no commutation or pardon granted, except by the decision of a majority of said board, after a full hearing in open session, and until previous notice of the time and place of such hearing and the relief applied for, shall have been given by publication in some newspaper of general circulation at least once a week for two weeks. The proceedings and decision of the board shall be reduced to writing, and with their reasons for their action in each case, and the dissent of any member who may disagree, signed by them, and filed, with all papers used upon the hearing, in the office of the secretary of state. The governor shall have power to grant respites or reprieves in all cases of convictions for offenses against the State, except treason or conviction on impeachment, but such respites or reprieves shall not extend beyond the next session of the board of pardons; and said board shall at such session continue or determine such respite or reprieve, or they may commute or pardon the offense, as herein provided. In cases of conviction for treason the governor shall have the power to suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the legislative assembly at its next regular session, when the legislative assembly shall either pardon or commute the sentence, direct its execution, or grant a further reprieve. He shall communicate to the legislative assembly, at each regular session, each case of remission of fine or forfeiture, reprieve, commutation, or pardon granted since the last previous report, stating the name of the convict, the crime of which he was convicted, the sentence and its date, and the date of remission, commutation, pardon, or reprieve, with the reasons for granting the same, and the objections, if any, of any member of the board made thereto.

SEC. 8. The governor may require information in writing from the officers of the executive department upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, which information shall be given upon oath whenever so required; he may also require information in writing, at any time, under oath, from all officers and managers of State institutions upon any subject relating to the condition, management and expenses of their respective offices and institutions, and may, at any time he deems it necessary, appoint a committee to investigate and report to him upon the condition of any executive office or State institution. The governor shall, at the commencement of each session, and from time to time, by message, give to the legislative assembly information of the condition of the State, and shall recommend such measures as he shall deem expedient. He shall also send to the legislative assembly a statement, with vouchers, of the expenditures of all moneys belonging to the State and paid out by him. He shall also at the commencement of each session present estimates of the amount of money required to be raised by taxation for all purposes of the State.

SEC. 9. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the legislative assembly by proclamation, stating the purposes for which he has convened it, but when so convened it shall have no power to legislate on any subjects other than those specified in the proclamation, but may provide for the expenses of the session and other matters incidental thereto. He may also, by proclamation, convene the senate in extraordinary session for the transaction of executive business.

SEC. 10. Every bill passed by the legislative assembly shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor. If he approve, he shall sign it, and thereupon it shall become a law; but if he do not approve, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, which house shall enter the objections at large upon its journal, and proceed to reconsider the bill. If then two-thirds of the members present agree to pass the same, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by two-thirds of the members present in that house, it shall become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor. In all such cases the vote of each house shall be determined by yeas and noes, to be entered on the journal. Any bill which shall not be returned by the governor to the legislative assembly within ten days, Sundays excepted, after it shall have been presented to him, shall become a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislative assembly shall, by adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall be filed, with his objections, in the office of the secretary of state, within ten days after such adjournment, Sundays excepted, or become a law.

SEC. 11. The governor shall have power to disapprove of any item or items of any bill making appropriations of money, embracing distinct items, and the part or parts approved shall become a law; and the item or items disapproved shall be void, unless enacted in the manner following: If the legislative assembly be in session he shall, within five days, transmit to the house in which the bill originated, a copy of the item or items thereof disapproved, together with his objections thereto, and the items objected to shall be separately reconsidered, and each item shall then take the same course as is prescribed for the passage of bills over the executive veto.

SEC. 12. In case of the failure to qualify, the impeachment or conviction of felony or infamous crime of the governor, or his death, removal from office, resignation, absence from the State, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the powers, duties, and emoluments of the office, for the residue of the term, or until the disability shall cease, shall devolve upon the lieutenant-governor.

SEC. 13. The lieutenant-governor shall be president of the senate, but shall vote only when the senate is equally divided. In case of the absence or disqualification of the lieutenant-governor, from any cause which applies to the governor, or when he shall hold the office of governor, then the president pro tempore of the senate shall perform the duties of the lieutenant governor until the vacancy is filled or the disability removed.

SEC. 14. In case of the failure to qualify in his office, death, resignation, absence from the State, impeachment, conviction of felony or infamous crime, or disqualification from any cause, of both the governor and lieutenant-governor, the duties of the governor shall devolve upon the president of the senate pro tempore, until such disqualification of either the governor or lieutenant-governor be removed, or the vacancy filled; and if the president of the senate, for any of the above named causes, shall become incapable of performing the duties of governor, the same shall devolve upon the speaker of the house.

SEC. 15. There shall be a seal of this State, which shall be kept by the secretary of state, and used by him officially. It shall be known as "The Great Seal of the State of Montana."

SEC. 16. All grants and commissions shall be in the name and by the authority of the state of Montana, sealed with the great seal of the State, signed by the governor, and countersigned by the secretary of state.

SEC. 17. An account shall be kept by the officers of the executive department, and of all public institutions of the State, of all moneys received by them severally from all sources, and for every service performed, and of all moneys disbursed by them severally, and a semi-annual report thereof shall be made to the governor, under oath; they shall also, at least twenty days preceding each regular session of the legislative assembly, make full and complete reports of their official transactions to the governor, who shall transmit the same to the legislative assembly.

SEC. 18. The governor, secretary of state, and attorney-general shall constitute a board of state prison commissioners, which board shall have such supervision of all matters connected with the State prison as may be prescribed by law. They shall also constitute a board of examiners, with power to examine all claims against the State, except salaries or compensation of officers fixed by law, and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law. And no claim against the State, except salaries and compensation of officers fixed by law, shall be passed upon by the legislative assembly without first having been considered and acted upon by said board.

ARTICLE VI.—Judicial department.

SEC. 1. The judicial powers of the State, as to matters of law and equity, except as in this constitution otherwise provided, shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, county courts, justices of the peace, and such other courts as may be created by law for cities and incorporated towns. But the legislative assembly may provide for the abolition of county courts, and the transfer of their probate and other jurisdiction to the district courts, and in such case may provide that such district courts shall be always open for the transaction of business, except on legal holidays and non-judicial days.

SUPREME COURT.

SEC. 2. The supreme court, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, shall have appellate jurisdiction only, which shall be co-extensive with the State, and shall have a general superintending control over all inferior courts, under such regulations and limitations as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 3. Said court, or any judge thereof, shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, quo warranto, certiorari, prohibition, injunction, and other original and remedial writs, with the authority to hear and determine the same; and when a jury may be required by the supreme court to try an issue of fact, the court shall have power to summon a jury to try such question of fact in that court.

SEC. 4. At least two terms of the supreme court shall be held each year at the seat of government.

SEC. 5. The supreme court shall consist of three judges, a majority of whom shall be necessary to form a quorum or pronounce a decision; but one or more of said judges may adjourn the court from day to day, or to a day certain, and the legislative assembly shall have the power to increase the number of such judges to not less nor more than five.

SEC. 6. The judges of the supreme court shall be elected by the electors of the State at large, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 7. The term of office of the judges of the supreme court, except as in this constitution otherwise provided, shall be six years.

SEC. 8. Three judges of the supreme court shall be elected at the first general election which shall be held under this constitution, and they shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified, and the one who shall be chief justice shall be determined among themselves by lot. At the first general election, which shall be provided for by law, three judges of the supreme court, to succeed those first elected, shall be chosen, and immediately after said election the judges elected thereat shall be classified by lot, so that one shall hold his office for two years, one for four years, and one for six years. The lot shall be drawn by the judges, who shall, for that purpose, assemble at the seat of government, and they shall cause the result thereof to be certified to the secretary of state, and filed in his office. The judge having the shortest term to serve, not holding his office by appointment to fill a vacancy, shall be chief justice, and shall preside at all terms of the supreme court, and in case of his absence, the judge having in like manner the next shortest term to serve shall preside in his stead; and thereafter one judge or more, if the legislative assembly shall increase the number to five, shall be chosen every two years, but the term of office of no judge shall be more than six years. And in case there shall be two judges whose term shall expire at the same time, they shall decide who shall be chief justice by lot.

SEC. 9. There shall be a clerk of the supreme court, who shall hold his office, except as herein otherwise provided, for the term of six years. He shall be elected by the electors at large of the State, and his compensation shall be fixed by law, and his duties prescribed by law, and by the rules of the supreme court.

SEC. 10. No person shall be eligible to the office of judge of the supreme court, unless he shall have been admitted to practice law in the supreme court of the Territory or State of Montana, be at least thirty years of age, and a citizen of the United States; nor unless he shall have resided in said Territory or State at least two years next preceding his election.

DISTRICT COURTS.

SEC. 11. The district courts shall have original jurisdiction in all cases in equity, and in all cases at law which involve the title or right of possession of real property, or the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll, or municipal fine, and in all other cases in which the debt, damage, claim, or demand, exclusive of interest, or the value of the property in controversy exceeds $50; and in all criminal cases amounting to felony, and all cases of misdemeanors not otherwise provided for; of actions of forcible entry and detainer; of proceedings in insolvency; of actions to prevent or abate a nuisance; of actions of divorce and for annulment of marriage, and of a llsuch special actions and proceedings as are not otherwise provided for. And said courts shall have the power of naturalization and to issue papers therefor; they shall have appellate jurisdiction in such cases arising in justices' and other inferior courts in their respective districts as may be prescribed by law, and consistent with this constitution. Their process shall extend to all parts of the State, provided that all actions for the recovery of the possession of, quieting the title to, or for the enforcement of liens upon real property shall be commenced in the county in which the real property, or any part thereof affected by such action or actions, is situated. Said courts and the judges thereof shall have power also to issue, hear, and determine writs of mandamus, quo warranto, certiorari, prohibition, injunction, and other original and remedial writs, and also writs of habeas corpus, on petition by, or on behalf of, any person in actual custody in their respective districts. Injunctions, writs of prohibition, and habeas corpus may be issued and served on legal holidays and non-judicial days.

SEC. 12. The State shall be divided into judicial districts, in each of which there shall be elected by the electors thereof one judge of the district court therein, whose term of office shall be four years, except as in this constitution otherwise provided. The judges of the district courts may hold courts for each other, and shall do so when required by law.

SEC. 13. Until otherwise provided by law, said districts shall be four in number, and constituted as follows:

First district—The counties of Beaverhead, Madison, Gallatin, and Jefferson.

Second district—The counties of Missoula, Deer Lodge, and Silver Bow.

Third district—The counties of Lewis and Clarke, Choteau, and Meagher.

Fourth district—The counties of Custer, Dawson, and Yellowstone.

SEC. 14. The legislative assembly may, whenever two-thirds of the members of each house shall concur therein, increase the number of judicial districts and the judges thereof, and divide the State into judicial districts accordingly, taking care that they be formed of compact territory, and be bounded by county lines, but such increase of number or change in the boundaries of districts shall not work the removal of any judge from his office during the term for which he shall have been elected or appointed.

SEC. 15. Writs of error and appeals may be allowed from the decisions of the said district courts to the supreme court, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 16. No person shall be eligible to the office of judge of the district court unless he be at least twenty-five years of age, and a citizen of the United States, and shall have been admitted to practice law in the supreme court of the Territory or State of Montana, nor unless he shall have resided in this State or Territory at least two years next preceding his election, and, at the time of his election, be a resident of the district for which he is elected.

SEC. 17. The time of holding courts within said judicial districts shall be as provided by law, but at least two terms of the district court shall be held annually in each county, except in such counties as may be attached for judicial purposes to another county wherein such courts are held. Special terms of said courts may be held under such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 18. There shall be a clerk of the district court in each county wherein a term is held, who shall be elected by the electors of his county. The clerk shall be elected at the same time and for the same term as herein provided for the judges of the district court. The duties and compensation of the district clerk shall be as provided by law.

STATE'S ATTORNEY.

SEC. 19. The first legislative assembly that shall be held under this constitution shall provide for the election of one State's attorney for each organized county of this State, except in case a county shall be attached to another for judicial purposes. He shall have a salary fixed by law that shall not be increased or diminished during his term of office, and shall receive no other compensation for his services whatsoever: Provided, One-half of such salary shall be paid by the State, and the other by the county or counties in which such attorney may be elected. The State's attorney shall possess all the qualifications required for judges of the district courts, except he need not be more than twenty-one (21) years of age, and the term of such office shall be two years.

COUNTY COURTS.

SEC. 20. There shall be elected in each organized county a county judge, who shall be judge of the county court of said county, whose term of office shall be two years, except as otherwise provided in this constitution; his salaries and duties, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, shall be as provided by law; but nothing in this constitution shall be construed to prevent the legislative assembly from fixing different salaries of county judges for the several counties of the State.

SEC. 21. There shall be a clerk of the county court in each county. The legislative assembly may provide for the election of such clerk by the people, or it may provide that the duties of such office shall be performed by some other county officer. The duties of such clerk and his compensation shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 22. County courts shall have original jurisdiction within their respective counties in all matters of probate, settlement of estates of deceased persons, appointment of guardians, conservators, and administrators, and settlement of their accounts, and such other civil and criminal jurisdiction as may be conferred by law: Provided, That such courts shall have no jurisdiction in any case where the debt, damage, claim, or value of the property involved shall exceed $1,000, exclusive of interest, except in cases relating to the estates of deceased or insane persons or minors.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

SEC. 23. There shall be in each organized township or district of each county in the State at least two justices of the peace, who shall be elected by the electors of the several townships or districts, and who shall hold their offices, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, for the term of two years. Such courts shall have such original jurisdiction within their respective counties as may be prescribed by law, except as in this constitution otherwise provided: Provided, That they shall not have jurisdiction in any case where the debt, damage, claim, or value of the property involved exceeds the sum of $300.

SEC. 24. Neither the county courts nor justices' courts shall have jurisdiction in any case involving the title or right of possession of real property, nor in cases of divorce, nor for annulment of marriage, nor in cases of equity; nor shall they have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, certiorari, quo warranto, injunction, or prohibition, nor the power of naturalization; nor shall they have jurisdiction in cases of felony, except as examining courts, nor shall criminal cases in said courts be prosecuted by indictment; but said courts shall have such jurisdiction in criminal matters, not of the grade of felony, as may be provided by law. Prosecutions may be by information or otherwise, as the law may provide.

SEC. 25. County and justices' courts shall always be open for the transaction of business, except on legal holidays and non-judicial days.

SEC. 26. Appeals shall be allowed from county and justices' courts, in all cases, to the district courts, in such manner and under such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

POLICE AND MUNICIPAL COURTS.

SEC. 27. The legislative assembly shall have power to provide for creating such police and municipal courts and magistrates for cities and towns as may be deemed necessary from time to time, who shall have jurisdiction in all cases arising under the ordinances of such cities and towns respectively; such police magistrates may also be constituted ex-officio justices of the peace for their respective counties.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

SEC. 28. The supreme, district, and county courts shall be courts of record.

SEC. 29. Until otherwise provided by law, the judges of the supreme and district courts shall fix the times of holding the terms of their respective courts.

SEC. 30. All laws relating to courts shall be general and of uniform operation throughout the State, and the organization, jurisdiction, powers, proceedings, and practice of all courts of the same class or grade, so far as regulated by law, and the force and effect of the proceedings, judgments, and decrees of such courts severally shall be uniform.

SEC. 31. The style of all process shall be "The State of Montana," and all prosecutions shall be conducted in the name and by the authority of the same.

SEC. 32. There shall be but one form of civil action, and laws and equity may be administered in the same action.

SEC. 33. The legislative assembly may provide for the election of all judicial officers at a time different from the election of other officers.

SEC. 34. The judges of the supreme, district, and county courts shall severally receive such salary as may be provided by law, consistent with this constitution, and no such judge shall accept or receive any compensation, fee, perquisite, or emolument for or on account of his office, in any form whatever, except such salary: Provided, however, That judges of the county courts may accept and receive such fees as may be allowed by the laws of the United States for services rendered thereunder.

SEC. 35. No judge of the supreme, district, or county courts shall act or practice as an attorney or counselor at law in any of the courts of this State during his continuance in office, nor shall the clerk of any such court during his term of office be retained, employed, or practice as an attorney in the court of which he may be a clerk.

SEC. 36. The supreme court shall appoint one reporter of its decisions, who shall hold his office for four years, subject to removal by the court, and who shall receive for his services such compensation as may be provided by law. The legislative assembly shall provide for the speedy publication of all decisions and opinions of the supreme court.

SEC. 37. Judges of the supreme and district courts shall receive such salaries, payable quarterly by the State, as may be prescribed by law. County judges shall receive such salary, payable quarterly by the several counties, as may be provided by law. But no salary of any judicial officer shall be increased or diminished during his continuance in office. Until otherwise provided by law, the annual salaries of said judges shall be as follows: The judges of the supreme court, $3,600 each; the judges of the district court, $3,000 each; the county judges of Beaverhead, Madison, Missoula, Chotean, Meagher, Yellowstone, Dawson, and Jefferson counties, $1,200 each; Deer Lodge and Custer counties, $1,400 each, and Lewis and Clarke, Silver Bow, and Gallatin counties, $1,800 each.

SEC. 38. All officers provided for in this article, excepting judges of the supreme court, who shall reside within the State, shall respectively reside during their term of office in the district, county, township, precinct, city, or town for which they may be elected or appointed.

SEC. 39. Vacancies in the office of judge of the supreme, district, or county court, or clerk of the supreme court, shall be filled by appointment of the governor of the State, and vacancies in the office of State's attorney, of clerk of the district court, and justices of the peace, shall be filled by appointment of the board of county commissioners of the county where such vacancy occurs. A person appointed to fill any such vacancy shall hold his office until the next regular election for such office, and at such election a person shall be chosen to fill the unexpired term of the person previously elected to such office.

SEC. 40. No supreme, district, or county judge shall hold any other office than the one to which he shall have been elected or appointed, except as provided in this constitution.

SEC. 41. A cause in the district court may be tried by a judge pro tempore, who must be a member of the bar, agreed upon in writing by the parties litigant, or their attorneys of record, approved by the court, and sworn to try the cause; and in such case any order, judgment, or decree, made or rendered therein by such judge pro tempore, shall have the same force and effect as if made or rendered by the court, with the regular judge presiding.

ARTICLE VII.—Suffrage and elections.

SECTION 1. All elections by the people shall be by ballot.

SEC. 2. Every male person, over the age of twenty-one years, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all the general elections: First. He shall be a citizen of the United States, or, not being a citizen of the United States, he shall have declared his intention, according to law, to become such citizen, not less than four months before he offers to vote. Second. He shall have resided in the State six months immediately preceding the election at which he offers to vote, and in the county, town, or precinct such time as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 3. For the purpose of voting, no person shall be deemed to have gained or lost a residence by reason of his presence or absence while employed in the service of the State, or of the United States; nor while engaged in the navigation of the waters of the State, or of the United States; nor while a student of any institution of learning; nor while kept at any almshouse, or other asylum, at the public expense; nor while confined in any public prison.

SEC. 4. Electors shall in all cases, except treason, felony, or breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at elections, and in going to and returning therefrom.

SEC. 5. No elector shall be obliged to perform military duty on the days of election, except in time of war or public danger.

SEC. 6. No soldier, seaman, or marine in the Army or Navy of the United States shall be deemed a resident of this State in consequence of being stationed at any military or naval place within the same.

SEC. 7. No person shall be elected or appointed to any office in this State, civil or military, who is not a citizen of the United States, and who shall not have resided in this State at least one year next before his election or appointment.

SEC. 8. No idiot or insane person shall be entitled to vote at any election in this State.

SEC. 9. The legislative assembly shall have the power to pass laws excluding from the rights of suffrage persons convicted of infamous crimes.

SEC. 10. The legislative assembly shall pass laws to secure the purity of elections, and guard against the abuses of the elective franchise.

SEC. 11. The legislative assembly may pass laws allowing women the right to hold any school district office and vote at any school district election.

SEC. 12. General elections, after the first election, held under this constitution, shall, until otherwise provided by law, be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November in the even-numbered years.

ARTICLE VIII.—State institutions.

SECTION 1. Educational, reformatory, and penal institutions, and those for the benefit of the insane, blind, deaf, and mute, and such other institutions as the public good may require, shall be established and supported by the State, in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 2. The legislative assembly shall have no power to change or locate the seat of government of the State, but shall, at its first session, after the adoption of this constitution, provide by law for submitting the question of the permanent location of the seat of government to the qualified electors of the State, at the general election then next ensuing, and a majority of all the votes upon said question cast at said election shall be necessary to determine the location thereof. Said legislative assembly shall also provide that in case there shall be no choice of location at said election, the question of choice between the two places for which the highest number of votes shall have been cast shall be submitted in like manner to the qualified electors of the State, at the next general election: Provided, That until the seat of government shall have been permanently located, as herein provided, the temporary location thereof shall remain at the city of Helena.

SEC. 3. When the seat of government shall have been located, as herein provided, the location thereof shall not thereafter be changed, except by a vote of a majority of all the qualified electors of the State voting on that question at a general election at which the question of the location of the seat of government shall have been submitted by the legislative assembly. But no proposition for changing the location of the seat of government shall be submitted to the people oftener than once in four years.

SEC. 4. The legislative assembly shall make no appropriations or expenditures for capital buildings or grounds until the seat of government shall have been permanently located, as herein provided, and no such appropriation shall be made prior to the year 1900, unless such proposed appropriations shall have first been submitted at a general election to the qualified electors of the State, and their approval thereof given by a majority of the electors voting at such election.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the legislative assembly to make provision, as soon as may be practicable, for a State university, State asylums, and State penitentiary, and such other State institutions as may be necessary: Provided, That not more than one of such institutions shall be located in any one county in the State, and none of them in the county in which the capitol of the State is located.

SEC. 6. The several counties of the State shall provide, as may be prescribed by law, for those inhabitants, who by reason of age, infirmity, or other misfortune, may have claims upon the sympathy and aid of society.

ARTICLE IX.—Education.

SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of the legislative assembly of Montana to establish and maintain a general, uniform, and thorough system of public, free, common schools.

SEC. 2. The public school fund of the State shall consist of the proceeds of such lands as have heretofore been granted, or may hereafter be granted to the State by the General Government, known as school lands, and those granted in lieu of such; lands acquired by gift or grant from any person or corporation under any law or grant of the General Government; and of all other grants of land or money made to the State from the General Government for general educational purposes, or where no other special purpose is indicated in such grant; all estates or distributive shares of estates that may escheat to the State; all unclaimed shares and dividends of any corporation incorporated under the laws of the State; and all other grants, gifts, devises, or bequests made to the State for general educational purposes.

SEC. 3. Such public school fund shall forever remain inviolate, guaranteed by the State against loss or diversion, to be invested, so far as possible, in public securities within the State, including school district bonds, issued for the erection of school buildings, under the restrictions to be provided by law.

SEC. 4. The governor, superintendent of public instruction, secretary of state, and attorney-general, shall constitute the State board of land commissioners, who shall have the direction, control, and disposition of school lands of the State, under such regulations and restrictions as may be prescribed by law; but no part of such lands shall be disposed of except after appraisal without regard to any improvements thereon, and at public auction to the highest bidder above the appraised value; nor shall more than one-tenth part of such lands be exposed to sale in any one year.

SEC. 5. The interest on all invested school funds of the State shall be apportioned to the several school districts of the State, in proportion to the number of children and youth between the ages of five and twenty-one years; but no district shall be entitled to such distributive share that does not maintain a public free school for at least three months during the year for which distribution shall be made.

SEC. 6. It shall be the duty of the legislative assembly to provide, by taxation or otherwise, sufficient means, in connection with the amount received from the general school fund, to maintain a public, free, common school in each organized district in the State for at least three months in each year.

SEC. 7. The public free schools of the State shall be open to all children and youth between the ages of five and twenty-one years.

SEC. 8. The public-school system shall include primary and grammar schools and such high schools, normal schools, and technical schools as may be established by the legislative assembly or any municipal or district authority; but the entire revenue derived from the State school fund shall be applied exclusively to the support of primary and grammar schools.

SEC. 9. Neither the legislative assembly, nor any county, city, town, or school district, or other public corporation, shall ever make, directly, any appropriation, or pay from any public fund or moneys whatever, or make any grant of lands or other property in aid of any church, or for any sectarian purpose, or to aid in the support of any school, academy, seminary, college, or university, or other literary or scientific institu-

SEC. 10. No religious or partisan test or qualification shall ever be required of any person as a condition of admission into any public educational institution of the State, either as teacher or student; nor shall attendance be required at any religious service whatever, nor shall any sectarian tenets be taught in any public educational institution of the State; nor shall any person be debarred admission to any of the collegiate departments of the university on account of sex.

SEC. 11. The legislative assembly may provide for the election of all school officers, including regents of the university, at separate elections from those at which other State or county officers are voted for.

SEC. 12. At the first general election provided for by law there shall be elected by the qualified electors of the State, nine regents of the university, who shall at their first meeting be so classified by lot that three shall hold office for two years, three for four years, and three for six years; and every two years thereafter there shall be elected three regents, whose term of office shall be six years, except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The regents so elected, and their successors, shall constitute a body corporate to be known by the name and style of "The Regents of the University of Montana." Such regents shall receive no salary, but shall be allowed all actual and necessary expenses incurred in the discharge of their official duties.

SEC. 13. The regents of the university shall, as soon as practicable and they may deem necessary, elect a president of the university, who shall hold his office for the term of four years, unless before that time he be removed for cause. He shall be ex officio a member of the board, with the privilege of speaking but not voting, except in case of a tie. He shall preside at the meetings of the board, and be the principal executive officer of the university, and a member of the faculty thereof.

SEC. 14. The board of regents shall have, under such regulations and restrictions as may be prescribed by law, the general supervision of the university, and the control, direction, and disposition of the lands and moneys granted to the State for university purposes by the General Government, not inconsistent with the terms of the grant; and of all grants, gifts, devises, and bequests or appropriations from the General Government, the State, or from any other source whatever, for the exclusive use and benefit of the University of Montona; and said board shall further provide for the safe and profitable investment of all funds, derived from whatever source, intended for the permanent endowment of said university, under such regulations and restrictions as may be prescribed by law, the State being guarantor against the loss or diversion of any part thereof.

ARTICLE X.—Industrial resources.

SECTION 1. A bureau of industrial resources shall be established, to be located at the capital of the State, which shall be under the management of a commissioner, who shall be elected at the first general election, and hold his office for the term of four years, except as otherwise provided in this constitution.

SEC. 2. The commissioner of industrial resources shall perform such duties and receive such compensation as may be prescribed by law, and it shall be the duty of the legislative assembly, at its first session, to prescribe such duties and compensation and to pass such laws as may be necessary for the government, regulation, and support of such bureau.

ARTICLE XI.—Military affairs.

SECTION 1. The militia of the State of Montana shall consist of all able-bodied male citizens of the State between the age of eighteen (18) and forty-five (45) years, except such persons as may be exempted by the laws of the State or of the United States.

SEC. 2. The legislative assembly shall provide by law for the organization, equipment, and discipline of the militia. The organization shall conform as nearly as practicable, to the regulations for the government of the armies of the United States.

SEC. 3. The legislative assembly shall provide by law for maintaining the militia by appropriations from the treasury of the State.

SEC. 4. The legislative assembly shall provide by law for the safe keeping of the public arms, military records, relics, and banners of the State.

SEC. 5. When the governor shall, with the consent of the legislative assembly, be out of the State in time of war, at the head of any military force thereof, he shall continue commander-in-chief of all the military force of the State.

ARTICLE XII.—Revenue and taxation.

SECTION 1. The legislative assembly shall provide such revenue as may be needful by levying a tax by valuation, so that every person or corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his, her, or its property, except as in this article hereinafter otherwise provided. The legislative assembly may also impose a license tax, both upon natural persons and upon corporations, other than municipal, doing business in this State.

SEC. 2. The specification of the object and subjects of taxation shall not deprive the legislative assembly of the power to require other subjects or objects to be taxed in such manner as may be consistent with the principles of taxation fixed by this constitution.

SEC. 3. The property of the United States, the State, counties, cities, towns, and other municipal corporations, and public libraries, shall be exempt from taxation.

SEC. 4. Lots with the buildings thereon, when said buildings are used solely for religious worship or for charitable purposes, also cemeteries not used or held for private or corporate profit, growing crops, live stock under six months old, and all mines and mining claims, both placer and in rock, in place containing or bearing gold, silver, copper, coal, or other valuable mineral deposits, shall be exempt from taxation: Provided, That all machinery used in mining, and all property and surface improvements appurtenant to or upon mining claims, which have a separate and independent value, the value of the surface ground embraced in said claims, and the annual net proceeds of said mining claims shall be taxed as provided by law.

SEC. 5. The legislative assembly may provide that the increase in the value of private lands caused by the planting of hedges, orchards, and forests thereon, shall not, for a limited time, to be fixed by law, be taken into account in assessing such lands for taxation.

SEC. 6. The legislative assembly may, in its discretion, exempt by law from taxation other property in addition to that herein specified.

SEC. 7. The legislative assembly shall not impose taxes for the purpose of any county, city, town, or other municipal corporations, but may by law invest in the corporate authorities thereof, respectively, the power to assess and collect taxes for all purpose of such corporation.

SEC. 8. All taxes levied for State purposes shall be paid into the State treasury, and no county, city, town, or other municipal corporation, the inhabitants thereof, nor the property therein, shall be released or discharged from their or its proportionate share of taxes to be levied for State purposes.

SEC. 9. The power to tax corporations or corporate property, both real and personal, shall never be relinquished or suspended, and all corporations in this State or doing business therein, shall be subject to taxation for State, county, school, municipal, and other purposes, on real and personal property owned or used by them, and not by this constitution exempted from taxation within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax.

SEC. 10. The rate of taxation of real and personal property for State purposes shall never exceed three (3) mills on each dollar of valuation; and whenever the taxable property in the State shall amount to one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) the rate shall not exceed two (2) mills on each dollar of valuation; and whenever the taxable property in the State shall amount to three hundred million dollars ($300,000,000) the rate shall never thereafter exceed one (1) mill on each dollar of valuation, unless a proposition to increase such rate, specifying the rate proposed and the time during which the same shall be levied, shall have been submitted to the people at a general election, and shall have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election.

SEC. 11. The treasurer shall keep a separate account of each fund in his hands, and shall at the end of each quarter of the fiscal year report to the governor in writing, under oath, the amount of all moneys in his hands to the credit of every such fund and the place or places where the same is kept or deposited, and the number and amount of every warrant paid or redeemed by him during the quarter. Swearing falsely to any such report shall be deemed perjury. The governor shall cause every such report to be immediately published in at least one newspaper printed at the seat of government, and otherwise as the legislative assembly may require. The legislative assembly may provide by law further regulations for the safe keeping and management of the public funds in the hands of the treasurer; but, notwithstanding any such regulation, the treasurer and his sureties shall in all cases be held responsible therefor.

SEC. 12. The making of profit, directly or indirectly, out of State, county, city, town, township, or school-district money, or using the same for any purpose not authorized by law, by any public officer shall be deemed a felony, and shall be punished as provided by law.

SEC. 13. No appropriation shall be made, nor any expenditure authorized by the legislative assembly, whereby the expenditure of the State during any fiscal year shall exceed the total tax then provided for by law and applicable to such appropriation or expenditure, unless the legislative assembly making such appropriation shall provide for levying a sufficient tax, not exceeding the rates allowed in sections ten (10) of this article to pay such appropriation or expenditure within such fiscal year. This provision shall not apply to appropriations or expenditure to suppress insurrection, defend the State, or assist in defending the United States in time of war.

SEC. 14. Private property shall not be taken or sold for the corporate debts of municipal corporations.

SEC. 15. There shall be a State board of equalization, consisting of the governor, secretary of state, attorney-general, State auditor, and State treasurer, whose duty it shall be to equalize the valuation of the taxable property of the several counties of the State, for the purposes of taxation. The board of county commissioners for the several counties of the State shall constitute boards of equalization for their respective counties, whose duty it shall be to equalize the valuation of the taxable property in the county for the purposes of taxation. Said State and county boards of equalization are hereby authorized and empowered, under such rules of notice as the county boards may prescribe, as to the county assessments and under such rules of notice as the State board may prescribe, to increase or lower the entire assessment roll or any assessment contained therein, so as to equalize the assessment of the property contained in said assessment roll and make the assessment conform to the true value in money of the property contained in said roll.

SEC. 16. All property, except as hereinafter in this section provided, shall be assessed in the county, city, town, township, or school district in which it is situated in the manner prescribed by law. The franchise, roadway, road-bed, rails, and rolling stock of all railroads operated in more than one county in this State, shall be assessed by the State board of equalization at their actual value, and the same shall be apportioned to the counties, cities, towns, townships, and school districts in which railroads are located in the proportion to the number of miles of railway laid in such counties, cities, towns, townships, and school districts.

SEC. 17. The word property, as used in this article, is hereby declared to include moneys, credits, bonds, stocks, franchises, and all matters and things (real, personal, and mixed) capable of private ownership; but this shall not be construed so as to authorize the taxation of the stocks of any company or corporation when the property of such company or corporation, represented by such stocks, has been taxed.

SEC. 18. The legislative assembly shall pass all laws necessary to carry out the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XIII.—Public indebtedness.

SECTION 1. Neither the State nor any county, city, town, township, or school district shall lend or pledge the credit or faith thereof, directly or indirectly, in any manner to or in aid of any person, company, or corporation, public or private, for any amount, or for any purpose whatever, or become responsible for any debt, contract, or liability of any person, company, or corporation, public or private, in or out of the State, except as otherwise provided in this constitution.

SEC. 2. Neither the State nor any county, city, town, township, or school district shall make any donation, or grant to, by subsidy or otherwise, or in aid of, or become a subscriber to, or a shareholder in, any corporation or company, or a joint owner with any person, company, or corporation, public or private, in or out of the State, except as to such ownership as may accrue to the State by escheat, or by forfeiture, by operation or provision of law, and except as to such ownership as may accrue to the State, or to any county, city, town, township, or school district, or to either or any of them jointly with any person, company, or corporation, by forfeiture or sale of real estate for non-payment of taxes, or by donation or devise for public use, or by purchase by or on behalf of any or either of them, jointly with any or either of them under execution, in cases of fines, penalties, or forfeiture of recognizances, breach of condition of official bonds, or of bond to secure public moneys, or the performance of any contract in which they or any of them may be jointly or severally interested.

SEC. 3. The legislative assembly shall not in any manner create any debt or debts, liability or liabilities, which shall singly, or in the aggregate, with any previous debt or liability, exceed the sum of $100,000, except in case of war, to repel invasion, or suppress insurrection, unless the same shall be authorized by law for some single object or work, to be distinctly specified therein, which law shall provide ways and means, exclusive of loans, for the payment of the interest of such debt or liability as it falls due, and also for the payment and discharge of the principal of such debtor or liability within twenty years of the time of the contracting thereof, and shall be irrepealable until such time as the principal and interest thereon shall be paid and discharged; but no such law shall take effect until at a general election it shall have been submitted to the people, and shall have received a majority of the votes cast for and against it at such election, and all moneys raised by authority of such law shall be applied only to the specific object therein stated, or to the payment of the debt thereby created; and such law shall be published in at least one newspaper in each county, if one be published therein, throughout the State, for three months next preceding the election at which it is submitted to the people. The legislative assembly may at any time after the approval of such law by the people, if no debt shall have been contracted in pursuance thereof, repeal the same.

SEC. 4. No county shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner, or for any purpose, to an amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding 5 per cent. of the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for State and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness, and no county shall incur any indebtedness or liability for any single purpose to an amount exceeding $10,000 without the approval of a majority of the electors thereof, voting at an election to be held for that purpose.

SEC. 5. No city, town, township, or school district shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner, or for any purpose, to an amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding 3 per cent. of the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for State and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness.

ARTICLE XIV.—Municipal corporations and officers.

SECTION 1. The several counties of the Territory of Montana, as they shall exist at the time of the admission of the State into the Union, are hereby declared to be the counties of the State, until otherwise established or changed by law.

SEC. 2. The legislative assembly shall have no power to remove the county seat of any county, but the same shall be provided for by general law; and no county seat shall be removed unless a majority of the qualified electors of the county, voting on a proposition at a general election, vote therefor; but no such proposition shall be submitted oftener than once in four years, and no person shall vote on such proposition who shall not have resided in the county six months, and in the election precinct ninety days, next preceding such election.

SEC. 3. That the legislative assembly shall provide by general law the manner in which a part of any county may be stricken from such county and added to another county, or formed into a new county.

SEC. 4. In all cases of the establishment of a new county, it shall be held to pay its ratable proportion of all then existing liabilities of the county or counties from which it is formed, less the ratable proportion of the value of the county buildings and property of the county or counties from which it is formed.

SEC. 5. When any part of a county is stricken from one or more counties and attached to another, the county to which such part is attached shall be liable to pay the ratable proportion of such part of all then existing liabilites of the county or counties from which such part is taken, less the ratable proportion of the value of the county buildings and property of the county or counties from which such part is taken.

SEC. 6. When any county formed from contiguous territory taken from older counties, or when any county to which territory shall be added taken from an adjoining county, shall fail to pay the proportion of indebtedness of such territory to the county or counties from which it is taken, then it may be lawful for the county from which such territory has been taken to recover from the county so failing to pay, by action at law, the proportion of indebtedness for which it shall be liable, as provided in the two preceding sections.

SEC. 7. The legislative assembly shall provide by law for the subdivision of the several counties of the State into townships, districts, or precincts, of convenient number and size.

SEC. 8. The legislative assembly shall provide by general laws for the organization and classification of cities and towns. The number of such classes shall not exceed four, and the power of each class shall be limited by general laws, so that all such municipal corporations of the same class shall possess the same powers and be subject to the same restrictions. The legislative assembly shall also make provision, by general law, whereby any city, town, or village existing by virtue of any special or local law of the Territory, may elect to become subject to and governed by the general law relating to such corporations.

COUNTY OFFICERS.

SEC. 9. In each county there shall be elected four county commissioners, who shall compose the board of county commissioners, and who with the county judge of the county shall hold sessions for the transaction of county business, as provided by law, any three of whom shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The county judge shall be chairman of the board of county commissioners.

SEC. 10. The term of office of the county judge shall be two years, and of the county commissioners four years, except as otherwise provided for in this constitution; but the legislative assembly shall so arrange the terms of the county commissioners elected at the first general election provided for by law that two county commissioners shall be elected every two years thereafter. A vacancy in the board of county commissioners shall be filled by appointment of the governor.

SEC. 11. The legislative assembly shall provide by law for the election of the following officers: One county clerk, who shall be clerk of the board of county commissioners and ex officio recorder of deeds; one sheriff; one treasurer, who shall be collector of taxes; one county superintendent of schools; one county surveyor; one assessor; one coroner; one public administrator. Persons elected to the different offices named in this section shall hold their respective offices for the term of two years, except as in this constitution otherwise provided. Vacancies in all county, township, and precinct offices, except that of county commissioner, shall be filled by appointment by the board of county commissioners, and the appointee shall hold his office until the next general election.

SEC. 12. No person shall be eligible to any county office unless he be a qualified elector, nor unless he shall have resided in the county one year next preceding his election.

SEC. 13. The legislative assembly shall provide for the election or appointment of such other county, township, precinct, and municipal officers as public convenience may require, and their terms of office shall be as prescribed by law, not in any case to exceed two years, except as in this constitution otherwise provided.

SEC. 14. The compensation of all county, township, and precinct officers, except as in this constitution otherwise provided, shall be as prescribed by law.

ARTICLE XV.—Corporations other than municipal.

SECTION 1. All existing charters or grants of special or exclusive privileges, under which the corporators or grantees shall not have organized or commenced business in good faith at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall thereafter have no validity.

SEC. 2. No charter of incorportions shall be granted, extended, changed, or amended by special law, except for such municipal, charitable, educational, penal, or reformatory corporations as are or may be under the control of the State, but the legislative assembly shall provide by general law for the organization of corporations hereafter to be created: Provided, That any such law shall be subject to future repeal or alteration by the legislative assembly.

SEC. 3. The legislative assembly shall have the power to alter, revoke, or annul any charter of incorporation existing and revokable at the time of the adoption of this constitution, whenever in its opinion it may be injurious to the citizens of the State, in such manner, however, that no injustice shall be done to the corporators.

SEC. 4. The legislative assembly shall provide by law that in all elections for directors or managers of incorporated companies every stockholder shall have the right to vote in person or by proxy for the number of shares of stock owned by him for as many persons as there are directors or managers to be elected, or to cumulate said shares, and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of his shares of stock shall equal, or to distribute them, on the same principle, among as many candidates as he shall think fit, and such directors or managers shall not be elected in any other manner.

SEC. 5. All railroads shall be public highways, and all railroad, transportation, and express companies shall be common carriers, and subject to legislative control, and the legislative assembly shall have power to regulate and control by law the rates of charges for the transportation of passengers and freight by such companies as common carriers from one point to another in the State. Any association or corporation organized for the purpose, shall have the right to construct and operate a railroad between any designated points within this State, and to connect at the State line with railroads of other States and Territories. Every railroad company shall have the right with its road to intersect, connect with, or cross any other railroad.

SEC. 6. No railroad corporation, express, or other transportation company, or the lessees or managers thereof, shall consolidate its stock property or franchises with any other railroad corporation, express, or other transportation company owning or having under its control a parallel or competing line; neither shall it in any manner unite its business or earnings with the business or earnings of any other railroad corporation.

SEC. 7. All individuals, associations, and corporations shall have equal rights to have persons or property transported on and over any railroad, transportation, or express route in this State. No discrimination in charges or facilities for transportation of freight or passengers of the same class, shall be made by any railroad, or transportation, or express company between persons or places within this State; but excursion or commutation tickets may be issued and sold at special rates, provided such rates are the same to all persons. No railroad, or transportation, or express company shall be allowed to charge, collect, or receive, under penalties which the legislative assembly shall prescribe, any greater charge or toll for the transportation of freight or passengers to any place or station upon its route or line than it charges for the transportation of the same class of freight or passengers to any more distant place or station upon its route or line within this State. No railroad, express, or transportation company, nor any lessee, manager, or other employé thereof, shall give any preference to any individual, association, or corporation, in furnishing cars or motive power or for the transportation of money, or other express matter.

SEC. 8. No railroad, express, or other transportation company, in existence at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall have the benefit of any future legislation, without first filing in the office of secretary of state an acceptance of the provisions of this constitution in binding form.

SEC. 9. The right of eminent domain shall never be abridged, nor so construed as to prevent the legislative assembly from taking the property and franchises of incorporated companies, and subjecting them to public use the same as the property of individuals; and the police powers of the State shall never be abridged, or so construed as to permit corporations to conduct their business in such manner as to infringe the equal rights of individuals, or the general well-being of the State.

SEC. 10. No corporation shall issue stocks or bonds, except for labor done, services performed, or money and property actually received, and all fictitious increase of stock or indebtedness shall be void. The stock of corporations shall not be increased except in pursuance of general law, nor without the consent of the persons holding a majority of the stock, first obtained at a meeting held after at least thirty days' notice given in pursuance of law.

SEC. 11. No foreign corporation shall do any business in this State without having one or more known places of business, and an authorized agent or agents in the same, upon whom process may be served. And no company or corporation formed under the laws of any other country, State, or Territory shall have or be allowed to exercise or enjoy within this State any greater rights or privileges than those possessed or enjoyed by corporations of the same or similar character created under the laws of this State.

SEC. 12. No street or other railroad shall be constructed within any city, town, or incorporated village, without the consent of the local authorities having the control of the street or highway proposed to be occupied by such street or other railroad.

SEC. 13. The legislative assembly shall pass no law for the benefit of a railroad or other corporation, or any individual or association of individuals, retrospective in its operation, or which imposes on the people of any county or municipal subdivision of the State a new liability in respect to transactions or considerations already past.

SEC. 14. Any association or corporation, or the lessees or managers thereof, organized for the purpose, or any individual, shall have the right to construct and maintain lines of telegraph or telephone within this State, and connect the same with other lines; and the legislative assembly shall by general law of uniform operation provide reasonable regulations to give full effect to this section. No telegraph or telephone company shall consolidate with or hold a controlling interest in the stock or bonds of any other telegraph or telephone company owning or having the control of a competing line, or acquire by purchase or otherwise any other competing line of telegraph or telephone.

SEC. 15. If any railroad, telegraph, express, or other corporation, organized under any of the laws of this State, shall consolidate, by sale or otherwise, with any railroad, telegraph, express, or other corporation organized under any of the laws of any other State or Territory, or of the United States, the same shall not thereby become a foreign corporation, but the courts of this State shall retain jurisdiction over that part of the corporate property within the limits of the State, in all matters that may arise, if said consolidation had not taken place.

SEC. 16. It shall be unlawful for any person, company, or corporation to require of its servants or employés, as a condition of their employment or otherwise, any contract or agreement whereby such person, company, or corporation shall be released or discharged from liability or responsibility on account of personal injuries received by such servants or employés while in the service of such person, company, or corporation, by reason of the negligence of such person, company, or corporation, or the agents or employés thereof; and such contract shall be absolutely null and void.

SECTION 17. The legislative assembly shall not pass any law permitting the leasing or alienation of any franchise so as to release or relieve the franchise or property held thereunder from any of the liabilities of the lessor or grantor, or lessee or grantee, contracted or incurred in the operation, use, or enjoyment of such franchise, or any of its privileges.

SEC. 18. The term "corporation," as used in this article, shall be held and construed to include all associations and joint-stock companies having or exercising any of the powers or privileges of corporations not possessed by individuals or partnerships; and all corporations shall have the right to sue, and shall be subject to be sued in all courts in like cases as natural persons, subject to such regulations and conditions as may be prescribed by law.

SEC. 19. Dues from private corporations shall be secured by such means as may be prescribed by law, but in no case shall any stockholder be individually liable in any amount over or above the amount of stock owned by him.

ARTICLE XVI.—Miscellaneous subjects and future amendments.

SECTION 1. The legislative assembly shall have no power to authorize lotteries or gift enterprises for any purpose, and shall pass laws to prohibit the sale of lottery or gift enterprise tickets in this State.

SEC. 2. The legislative assembly shall enact suitable laws to prevent the destruction by fire, from locomotives on railroads, or from any other cause, and to keep in good preservation the grasses and forests upon lands of the State or upon lands of the public domain, the control of which may be conferred by Congress upon this State.

SEC. 3. The legislative assembly shall enact liberal homestead and exemption laws.

SEC. 4. Members of the legislative assembly, and all officers, executive, ministerial, or judicial, shall, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe to the following oath or affirmation, to wit: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States and of the State of Montana, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of —— according to law and the best of my abilities." And no other oath, declaration, or test shall be required as a qualification for any office or public trust.

SEC. 5. All officers whose election or appointment is not provided for by the constitution, and all officers whose office and duties may be hereafter created by law, shall be elected or appointed as may be provided by law.

SEC. 6. No perpetuities shall be allowed, except for charitable purposes.

SEC. 7. All county officers shall keep their offices at the county seats of their respective counties.

SEC. 8. All officers shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified. The term of all officers elected, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, shall commence on the first Monday of January next following their election.

SEC. 9. In the disposition of the public lands granted by the United States to this State, preference shall always be given to actual settlers, and the legislative assembly shall provide by law for carrying this section into effect.

SEC. 10. No railroad, or other transportation company, and no agent, officer, or employé thereof, shall issue, or give, or offer, either directly or indirectly, to any member of the legislative assembly, or to any executive, judicial, or ministerial officer of this State, or of any county, district, township, municipality, or other division thereof, any gratuitous transportation over or upon, or any pass or free ticket for passage over or upon any route or line, or part thereof, of such company, or make, or consent to, or direct any contract or arrangement by which such officers, or any of them, shall be transported or conveyed over, or allowed to travel upon such route or line, or any part thereof, at any less rate, or for any less compensation than is charged the public generally; and no member of the legislative assembly, and no such officer as above mentioned, shall accept or receive, or use, while he is a candidate for office, or while he continues in office, or within three months after he ceases to be in office, any pass or free ticket from any railroad or transportation company, or make or consent to any contract or arrangement by which he or any of his family or employés shall be transported or conveyed by such company gratuitously, or at any different or lower rate or charge from that required of the public generally. That any railroad, or other transportation corporation or company, violating any provision hereof, shall forfeit to the State one thousand dollars for each and every violation hereof, to be recovered by an action at law; and any officer herein mentioned, who shall violate any provision hereof, shall forfeit his office and all the emoluments thereof.

SEC. 11. If the legislative assembly shall at any time abolish county courts, it shall at the same session provide what number of persons shall comprise the board of county commissioners of the several counties of this State, and the manner of selecting the chairman thereof.

FUTURE AMENDMENTS.

SEC. 12. The legislative assembly may at any time, by a vote of a majority of the members elected to each house, recommend to the electors of the State to vote at the next general election for or against a convention to revise, alter, and amend this constitution; and if a majority of those voting on the question shall declare in favor of such convention, the legislative assembly shall at its next session provide for the calling thereof. The number of members of the convention shall be twice that of the Senate, and they shall be elected in the same manner, at the same places, and in the same districts. The legislative assembly shall, in the act calling the convention, designate the day, hour, and place of its meeting, fix the pay of its members and officers, and provide for the payment of the same, together with the necessary expenses of the convention. Before proceeding the members shall take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and of the State of Montana, and to faithfully discharge their duties as members of the convention. The qualifications of members shall be the same as of members of the Senate, and vacancies occurring shall be filled in the manner provided for filling vacancies in the legislative assembly. Said convention shall meet within three months after such election, and prepare such revisions, alterations, or amendments to the constitution as may be deemed necessary, which shall be submitted to the electors for their ratification or rejection, at an election appointed by the convention for that purpose not less than two, nor more than six months after the adjournment thereof; and unless so submitted and approved by a majority of the electors voting at the election, no such revision, alteration, or amendment shall take effect.

SEC. 13. Any amendments to this constitution may be proposed in either house of the legislative assembly; and if the same shall be voted for by a majority of the members elected to each house, such proposed amendments, together with the yeas and nays of each house thereon, shall be entered in full on their respective journals; and the secretary of state shall cause the said amendment or amendments to be published in full in at least one newspaper in each county (if such there be) for three months previous to the next general election for members to the legislative assembly; and at said election the said amendment or amendments shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State for their approval or rejection, and such as are approved by a majority of those voting thereon shall become part of the constitution. Should more amendments than one be submitted at the same election, they shall be so prepared and distinguished by numbers or otherwise that each can be voted upon separately.

ARTICLE XVII.—Schedule.

SECTION 1. That no inconvenience may arise from a change of Territorial government to a permanent State government, it is declared that all writs, actions, prosecutions, claims, and rights of individuals and of bodies corporate, shall continue as if no change of government had taken place; and all processes which may, before the organization of the judicial department under this constitution, be issued under the authority of the Territory of Montana, shall be as valid as if issued in the name of the State.

SEC. 2. All laws now in force in the Territory of Montana, which are not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or be altered or repealed by the legislative assembly.

SEC. 3. All fines, penalties, forfeitures, and escheats accruing to the Territory of Montana shall accrue to the use of the State.

SEC. 4. All recognizances, bonds, obligations, or other undertakings heretofore taken, or which may be taken before the organization of the judicial department under this constitution, shall remain valid, and shall pass over to, and may be prosecuted in the name of, the State; all bonds, obligations, or other undertakings executed to this Territory, or to any officer in his official capacity, shall pass over to the proper State authority, and to their successors in office, for the uses therein respectively expressed, and may be sued for and recovered accordingly; all criminal prosecutions and penal actions which have arisen, or may arise before the organization of the judicial department, under this constitution, or which shall then be pending, may be prosecuted to judgment and execution in the name of the State.

SEC. 5. That all property, real and personal, and moneys, credits, claims, and choses in action, belonging to the Territory of Montana, at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be vested in and become the property of the State of Montana. And all outstanding obligations of the Territory at the time of the adoption of this constitution shall be assumed by the State.

SEC. 6. The legislative assembly shall pass all necessary laws to carry into effect the provisions of this constitution.

SEC. 7. Whenever any two of the judges of the supreme court of the State, elected under the provisions of this constitution, shall have qualified in their offices, the causes then pending in the supreme court of the Territory, and the papers, records, and proceedings of said court, and the seal and other property pertaining thereto, shall pass into the jurisdiction and possession of the supreme court of the State; and until so superseded the supreme court of the Territory and the judges thereof shall continue, with like powers and jurisdiction, as if this constitution had not been adopted. Whenever the judge of the district court of any district elected under the provisions of this constitution shall have qualified in his office, the several causes then pending in the district court of the Territory within any county in such district, and the records, papers, and proceedings of said district court, and the seal and other property pertaining thereto, shall pass into the jurisdiction and possession of the district court of the State for such county; and until the district courts of this Territory shall be superseded in the manner aforesaid, the said district courts and the judges thereof shall continue with the same jurisdiction and power to be exercised in the same judicial districts respectively as heretofore constituted under the laws of the Territory.

SEC. 8. Until otherwise provided by law the seals now in use in the supreme and district courts of this Territory are hereby declared to be the seals of the supreme and district courts, respectively, of the State.

SEC. 9. Whenever this constitution shall go into effect, the books, records, and papers, and proceedings of the probate court in each county, and all causes and matters of administration and other matters pending therein, shall pass into the jurisdiction and possession of the county court of the same county, and the said county court shall proceed to final decree or judgment, order or other determination in the said several matters and causes as the said probate court might have done if this constitution had not been adopted. And until the election and qualification of the judges of the county courts provided for in this constitution, the probate judges shall act as the judges of the county courts within their respective counties, and the seal of the probate court in each county shall be the seal of the county court therein until the said court shall have procured a proper seal.

SEC. 10. The terms "probate court" or "probate judge," whenever occurring in the statutes of Montana Territory, shall, after this constitution goes into effect, be held to apply to the county court or county judge.

SEC. 11. All Territorial, county, and precinct officers, who may be in office at the time this constitution takes effect, whether holding their offices under the authority of the United States or of the Territory, shall hold and exercise their respective offices, and perform the duties thereof as prescribed in this constitution, until their successors shall be elected and qualified in accordance with the provisions of this constitution, and official bonds of all such officers shall continue in full force and effect as though this constitution had not been adopted; and such officers for their terms of service, under this constitution, shall receive the same salaries and compensation as is by this constitution or by the laws of the Territory provided for like officers.

SEC. 12. This constitution shall take effect and be in full force immediately upon the admission of the Territory as a State.

SEC. 13. Immediately upon the admission of the Territory as a State, the governor of the Territory, or in case of his absence or failure to act, the secretary of the Territory, or in case of his absence or failure to act, the president of this convention, shall issue a proclamation, which shall be published, and a copy thereof mailed to the chairman of the board of county commissioners of each county, calling an election by the people of all State, district, county, township, and other officers created and made elective by this constitution, and fixing a day for such election, which shall not be less than forty days after the date of such proclamation, nor more than ninety days after the admission of the Territory as a State.

SEC. 14. The board of commissioners of the several counties shall thereupon order such election for said day, and shall cause notice thereof to be given in the manner and for the length of time provided by the laws of the Territory in cases of general elections for Delegates to Congress and county and other officers. Every qualified elector of the Territory, at the date of said election, shall be entitled to vote thereat. Said election shall be conducted in all respects in the same manner as provided by the laws of the Territory for general elections, and the returns thereof shall be made and canvassed in the same manner and by the same authority as provided in cases of such general election; but returns for all State and district officers, and members of the legislative assembly, shall be made to the canvassing board hereinafter provided for.

SEC. 15. The governor, secretary, auditor, and attorney-general of the Territory, and the president of this convention, or a majority of them, shall constitute a board of canvassers to canvass the vote at such elections for all State and district officers and members of the legislative assembly. The said board shall assemble at the seat of government of the Territory on the thirtieth day after the day of such election (or on the following day if such day fall on Sunday), and proceed to canvass the votes for all State and district officers and members of the legislative assembly in the manner provided by the laws of the Territory for canvassing the vote for Delegate to Congress, and they shall issue certificates of election to the persons found to be elected to said offices severally, and shall make and file with the secretary of the Territory an abstract, certified by them, of the number of votes cast for each person for each of said offices and of the total number of votes cast in each county.

SEC. 16. The canvassing boards of the several counties shall issue certificates of election to the several persons found by them to have been elected to the several county and township offices.

SEC. 17. All officers elected at such election shall, within thirty days after they have been declared elected, take the oath required by this constitution, and give the same bond required by the law of the Territory to be given in case of like officers of the Territory, district, or county, and shall thereupon enter upon the duties of their respective offices; but the legislative assembly may require by law all such officers to give other or further bonds as a condition of their continuance in office.

SEC. 18. All officers elected at said election shall hold their offices until the legislative assembly shall provide by law, in accordance with this constitution, for the election of their successors, and until such successors shall be elected and qualified.

SEC. 19. The governor-elect of the State, immediately upon his qualifying and entering upon the duties of his office, shall issue his proclamation convening the legislative assembly of the State at the seat of government, on a day to be named in said proclamation, and which shall not be less than thirty nor more than sixty days after the date of such proclamation.

ORDINANCES.

Be it ordained by the convention assembled to form a constitution for the State of Montana, in behalf of and by the authority of the people of the Territory of Montana:

First. That an election shall be held throughout the Territory of Montana on the day of the general election in November, A. D. 1884, for the ratification or rejection of the constitution framed and adopted by this convention.

Second. At said election the constitution framed and adopted by this convention shall be submitted to the people of the Territory for their ratification or rejection, and all persons who are then qualified electors under the laws of this Territory shall be qualified to vote upon the ratification or rejection thereof.

Third. Said election shall be held at the several places in the several wards and precincts throughout the Territory appointed for the holding of elections under the laws of this Territory, and shall be conducted in the manner prescribed by the laws of this Territory regulating elections. The judges and clerks of such general election, in each of said wards and precincts, shall act as judges and clerks of said election.

Fourth. Each elector voting at said election for delegate to Congress and other territorial, district, county, and precinct officers shall have written or printed upon the ticket he may deposit in the ballot-box the words "for the constitution" or "against the constitution," or other equivalent words.

Fifth. The votes cast at said election for adoption or rejection of the constitution shall be canvassed at the time and in the manner prescribed by the laws of the Territory of Montana for canvassing the votes for the officers voted for at such election, and the returns of said election shall be made to the secretary of the Territory; and the governor, the secretary, auditor, and attorney-general of the Territory, and the president of this convention, or a majority of them, shall constitute a board of canvassers, who shall meet at the office of the secretary of the Territory, on the thirtieth day after the election, and canvass the votes so cast and declare the result.

Sixth. If, when all the votes for or against the adoption of this constitution have been canvassed in the manner aforesaid, it shall appear that this constitution has been adopted by a majority of all the votes cast, such constitution shall then be submitted to the Congress of the United States in the manner following; that is to say, a committee of ten, elected by this convention, and of which the president of this convention shall be one, the governor of the Territory shall be one, and the delegate in Congress another, is hereby directed to present a memorial or petition adopted by this constitutional convention to Congress, setting forth the adoption of this constitution, and praying for the admission of the Territory as a State into the Union; and that said committee shall then present duplicate duly attested copies of this constitution, and of such petition or memorial to the President of the United States in person, at Washington, with the request that he lay the same with such recommendation as may to him seem wise in the premises, before the Congress of the United States.

And be it further ordained:

First. That perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured, and no inhabitant of the State shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his mode of religious worship.

Second. That the people inhabiting the Territory of Montana, by their representatives in said convention assembled, do agree and declare that they forever disclaim all right and title to the unappropriated public lands lying within said Territory, and that the same shall be and remain at the sole and entire disposal of the United States; that the lands belonging to the citizens of the United States, residing without said State, shall never be taxed higher than the lands belonging to residents thereof; and that no taxes shall be imposed by the State on lands or property therein belonging to or which may hereafter be purchased by the United States.

Third. That this ordinance shall be irrevocable, without the consent of the United States and the people of the State of Montana.

Fourth. That in behalf of the people of Montana, we, in convention assembled, do adopt the Constitution of the United States.

MEMORIAL.

To the honorable the President of the United States and the Speaker of the House of Representatives:

Your memorialists, the people of Montana Territory, through their representatives in convention assembled, respectfully represent:

That, since the organization of the Territory of Montana, we have cheerfully yielded obedience to the laws of the United States, and recognize the right of Congress to make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territories;

That we now disclaim any purpose of disloyal action, but, renewing our fealty to the Constitution of the United States, and recalling to mind the right of the people to peacefully assemble and by petition represent their grievances to Congress, do further represent:

That the policy which has so long prevailed of sending strangers to rule over us and fill our offices has become distasteful to us, and is wholly unsuited to our present condition and the growing importance of the diversified interests of our country;

That within the past few years our population and resources have been largely augmented, whereby the proper administration of our laws demands a more perfect and comprehensive system of government than can ever be attained under our Territorial organization;

That in order to enlarge our liberties, secure a closer connection with the American Union, and for the establishment and maintenance of a better government, your memorialists, with the consent of the legislative assembly, have met in convention and formed a constitution, republican in form, for the State of Montana, and herewith present a certified copy thereof for your approval; and if, upon consideration of the same, you find it unobjectionable in substance and form, your memorialists pray that the Territory of Montana be speedily admitted into the Union of the United States thereunder, and your memorialists will ever pray.

TERRITORY OF MONTANA, ss:

I, William B. Webb, secretary of Montana Territory, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a full, true, and correct copy of the proposed constitution for the State of Montana, and the ordinances and memorial adopted by the constitutional convention held at Helena, Montana, at a session thereof begun Monday, January 14, A. D. 1884, and concluded February 9, 1884, as appears from the files and records of my office; and I further certify that said constitution was thereafter, to wit, on the first Tuesday of November, A. D. 1884, duly submitted to the qualified electors of Montana Territory for their ratification or rejection in pursuance of law, and that at said election the same was ratified and adopted.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the Territory of Montana, this 10th day of December, A. D. 1885.

Mr. MITCHELL, of Oregon, submitted the following

RESOLUTION:

Whereas it is alleged by the legislative assembly of the State of Oregon in Senate Joint Memorial No. 6, recently adopted by that body, and now before the Senate, that the companies succeeding to the land grants made by act of Congress approved July 2, 1864, to aid in the construction of a military wagon-road from Eugene City, in the State of Oregon, to the eastern boundary of the State, and by an act of Congress, approved July 5, 1866, in aid of the construction of a military wagon-road from Albany, Oreg., by the way of Canyon City to the eastern boundary of the State, and by subsequent legislation changed to go by way of Camp Harney instead of Canyon City, and by an act of Congress approved February 27, 1867, granting lands to the State of Oregon to aid in the construction of a military wagon-road from Dalles City, Oreg., by way of Camp Watson, Canyon City, and Mormon or Humboldt Basin, to a point on Snake River opposite Fort Boisé, have in no manner complied with the conditions of said grants, but, on the contrary, have failed, neglected, and refused to build or repair any roads along the routes over which they should have constructed them, in accordance with the intent and meaning of the acts of Congress aforesaid, and of the acts of the legislative assembly of the State of Oregon in reference thereto; and

Whereas it is further alleged in such legislative memorial now presented to Congress, that by means of false and fraudulent representation and evidence of such compliance said corporations have already obtained, and are obtaining, patents and lists for large portions of said land, and by means of similar false and fraudulent evidence are about to obtain patents and lists for other large amounts of said lands, and under a claim of privilege and right of selection of lien lands within six miles' limit on either side of the routes of said pretended roads, are withholding other large amounts of land in fraud of the Government and to the great detriment and injury of the State of Oregon and its inhabitants: Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Public Lands be, and it is hereby, instructed to inquire into the truth of each and all of said allegations, and if found to be true, to report to the Senate, by bill or otherwise, what, if any, action can or should rightfully or properly be taken by Congress in the premises.
